Grand Jury Indicts Beach Man For Murder

James Wilson Kuckenbecker, 45, of Virginia Beach, has been indicted by a Princess Anne County grand jury for the murder of his father, a retired General Motors executive.

The indictment was one of 57 returned by the grand jurors Monday after Commonwealth's Attorney Robert S. Wahab, Jr. gave them 99 presentations. One "not true" bill was returned and the grand jurors took no action on another.

Kuckenbecker has been in the county jail since January 28. He was arrested that night after his father died in the lobby of a waterfront hotel where both lived. An autopsy report on the older Kuckenbecker's death attributed the death to the rupture of a sac surrounding the heart. Police believe the rupture was caused by a blow.

Other indictments returned by the grand jurors include:

Rose Lee Wilson and Raleigh McCoy Wilson, 14 counts of burglary each.

Leo Zowacky, grand larceny.

Leonard Joyner, malicious wounding.

Joseph William Oberio, robbery.

Frank Joseph Lynch, robbery.

Jack E. Shewmaker, robbery.

Paul Fulton Snyder, Jr., two counts of grand larceny.

Sheldon Edmonds, two counts of grand larceny.

Melvin Williams, grand larceny.

Leonard W. Wesson, two counts of involuntary manslaughter.

Joe Cephus James, involuntary manslaughter, leaving the scene of an accident, and grand larceny.

Richard Anderson Harris, housebreaking.

John Thomas Edwards, forgery.

Clarence Wood, forgery.

Mary Cook, two counts of grand larceny.

Thomas Joseph Johnson, grand larceny.

Marvin A. McGett, grand larceny.

Perry Lee Etheridge, burglary.

Following the report of the grand jurors, Judge Floyd E. Kellam tried several of those indicted on guilty pleas.

Gilbert Leo Adams, Robert C. Lanning and Charles E. Burgess, three sailors indicted for robbing a Norfolk taxi driver, were found guilty, ordered to make restitution and given eight years' suspended penitentiary terms.

Bobbie Ruth Thomas, who with Bernie Snyder and Leo Zowacky, was charged with robbing a merchant seaman was cleared of complicity in the crime. The charge against her was not proved. The Snider woman was ordered held for Zowacky's trial which is scheduled to be held today.

Norfolk Man Re-Visits Scene Of Early Days in Radio Here

A Norfolk man who got his start in radio with Virginia Beach's first radio station back in 1924 revisited the Beach the past week and went back home to New York amazed at the development and growth of this resort city.

Frank Marx is now an executive at the time he was connected with it was Thomas F. Little, who resides in Virginia Beach at the present time.

Marx is a native of Norfolk where his mother still lives. She is Mrs. Mayme Marx, who formerly conducted a retail women's store in Norfolk.

Marx, New York, is now home to Marx, who commutes daily into New York City. His trip to Virginia Beach brought back many fine memories of the beginning of the road to success in radio which has come to Frank Marx.

S. S. Kellam Will Remain As Head Of Demo Group

Sidney S. Kellam, of Virginia Beach, will remain as chairman of the First District Democratic Committee as a result of action taken by the group last Saturday at Old Point Comfort in refusing to accept Kellam's resignation from the post, which had been tendered several weeks ago.

Kellam, recognized political leader in Princess Anne County and throughout the State, had submitted a formal resignation last September. The committee voted unanimously Saturday to refuse it.

The chairman agree to serve in the post, while, at least, when the committee meeting turned to what to do about a chairman, a resolution was introduced which expressed that the committee would not accept Kellam's resignation as chairman.

The Princess Anne leader, who managed campaigns for former Gov. John S. Battle and the present governor, Thomas B. Stanley, later told reporters that his agreement to keep the chairmanship did not mean he has new political plans.

His letter of resignation last September said he wanted to give up the committee chairmanship but would continue as a committee member. He intimated privately he wanted to give up an active role in politics.

In his resignation, Kellam put it this way: "I have reached this decision quickly, but business interest will not permit me to be active and I feel that someone more active in politics and with more time to devote to this position should hold (the chairmanship)."

Kellam long has been recognized as the head of the Princess Anne Democratic Committee.

When Kellam was a part of the Second Congressional District, he served as chairman of that district committee for several years.

As a result of redistricting in 1953, Princess Anne was tied to the Eastern Shore and Lower Peninsula for congressional representation leaving the First District. Kellam became district chairman at the first meeting after the redistricting.

Record Easter Attendance Set At Scott

The attendance at Scott Memorial Church on Easter Sunday exceeded all former records, with 432 in attendance at Sunday School and 492 in two Easter Morning Worship Services.

Twenty-five new members were received into the Church, including a class of intermediates and young people who have been training for Church membership.

The pastor, the Rev. F. H. Arley, and a group of adults who made the decision to join Scott Memorial Church in the recent "Four Nights for God" Vacation Evangelism program.

The group received into membership Easter Sunday, brings the total number of members received this conference year to ninety-two. All others are to be received on the next two Sundays, who could not be present at the Easter Services.

Due to the overcrowded condition of the Religious Education Building, the Scott Memorial congregation plans to begin building an addition to the building within the next few months.

A brochure describing the proposed pool and its cabins has been sent to members. They are requested to return cards indicating whether they want the pool, what type of membership they would desire and whether they would rent cabins.

It was felt by the club's board of directors that the first step in deciding whether to start the pool was to decide without approval of the membership. If enough members have approved before the April 27 board meeting, some action may be taken at that time.

There is a possibility that the pool might be built in time for use in the summer, but that the remainder of the construction would not be started until next Fall.

Oliver and Smith, architects, have drawn up preliminary designs.

Members of the pool committee with Richardson are William W. McClelland, Jr., W. Peyton May and James H. Waters.

Easter Parade Attracts Many Visitors To Beach

Events Prove Popular
With All Age Groups

A bright sunshine Easter and wide spread publicity told the tale: Virginia Beach traffic recorded at any events in the last twenty years according to a number of old timers.

The Golden Jubilee kick-off event, The Easter Boardwalk Parade, was witnessed by a "guessimate" of around 20,000. Spectators jammed the boardwalk from 32nd Street to 26th Street and regardless of a nippy breeze off the ocean stayed through "The Fifty Years of Fashion in Review" and "The Best Dressed Easter Parade of Today."

The police department reported that traffic for the event was bumper to bumper throughout Virginia Beach and highway leading into Virginia Beach.

The Princess Anne Senior Woman's Club and Junior Woman's Club presidents, Mrs. Aubrey Holmes and Mrs. James Kellam stated the attendance was far greater than anticipated by their co-sponsoring clubs. Speaking for their clubs they wished to express their appreciation to the many who contributed to the success of the parade by loaning or wearing old-fashioned costumes - to Wade Williams of WBOB, master of ceremony with Mrs. W. J. Dickens commentator from "The Princess Anne Senior Woman's Club," to WBOB for their furnishing and handling of the music, to the Atlantic Cleaners who contributed the cleaning of the old fashions, to Mr. James A. Johnson Jr. for the loan of the bleachers.

VEPCO Cited For Safety

Virginia Electric and Power Company has been cited for its Brems Power Station record of eight straight years without a disabling injury.

Vepco President Edwin H. Will announced today that Edison Electric Institute has presented the company with the Safety Award of Merit. The Institute is the trade association of the electric industry. The award recognizes Brems personnel for working more than a million and one-half manhours without a lost-time accident.

Richmond's Twelfth Street Station currently holds the all-time safety record among Vepco's nine major power plants. Personnel there worked 1,697,726 manhours from August 4, 1949, until May 28, 1953, without a lost-time injury.

Brems station personnel will pass the Richmond station's mark some time next fall if they can avoid disabling injuries until then. The electric industry ranks twenty-fifth in the frequency of accidents among the 40 major industries listed by the National Safety Council. Vepco cut its own frequency rate by 27 per cent last year, Will added.

Commission Signs For Chesapeake Ferries

Take it from members of the Chesapeake Bay Ferry Commission, buying a ferry system isn't simple. The Commission has just purchased the properties of the Virginia Ferry Corporation for $13,000,000. Here they go about signing and imprinting seals on 25 copies of the voluminous purchase agreement. The Commission will operate ferries on the Chesapeake Bay. Left to right at the signing in Norfolk are: J. O. Higgins, Secretary-Treasurer, of Newport News; Lucius J. Kellam, Chairman, of Accomack; and Richard S. Holland, Vice Chairman, of Princess Anne.

Ferries across the Chesapeake Bay are expected shortly to be owned by a State created Authority.

Members of the Chesapeake Bay Ferry Commission last Wednesday unanimously agreed on final details for purchase of the properties of the Virginia Ferry Corporation for $13,000,000.

Meeting at the National Bank of Commerce, the Commission received the sale agreement signed by officials of the ferry corporation. Following the adoption of the motion to make the purchase the papers were signed by Lucius

J. Kellam, Chairman, and J. O. Higgins, Secretary-Treasurer.

The agreement calls for the completion of the transfer of the ferries to the Commission after the proposed $20,000,000 bond issue of the Commission is sold. This will be several weeks hence.

Involved in the sale are the five ferry boats of the Corporation and terminal facilities and land at Kiptopeke. These boats now provide service between Little Creek and Kiptopeke Beach.

Additional funds raised will be used to re-establish east-west ferry service across the Chesapeake

Lead Poisoning Studies Are Made in Back Bay

Exhaustive studies of lead poisoning of waterfowl were made at Back Bay in recent weeks. The water level in Back Bay was low over a lengthy period because of northerly winds and lead poisoning was somewhat more prevalent when mud banks were exposed and the birds picked up extra quantities of lead pellets.

A number of swans and Canada geese showing signs of sickness were run down in motor boats and caught. These were held in a pen and some of the birds recovered after their stomachs were pumped out. A considerable number, in advance stages of the illness, died before they could be relieved.

It was shown that principal damage from lead poisoning was due to impairment of the gizzards causing inability of the birds to grind up their foods.

ment of the Ferry Commission by the 1954 session of the General Assembly of Virginia.

Good Publicity Comes Our Way

"Suppose," I said once, "you could live anywhere in this country. Anywhere at all. Which state would you pick?"

"Why, VIRGINIA, of course," said Irene. "It has everything—everything you could want: on one side, mountain country so spectacular it hurts; on the other, an ocean full of fish and sailing room, and beaches straight out of a dream."

This is part of a conversation between Leonard Falkner and his wife, and he is the author of the article "Land of the Cavaliers" in the March issue of American Magazine.

The article is recommended to all. It gives the Old Dominion and Virginia Beach the finest publicity we have seen for many a moon. In the article the author says that Virginia Beach offers superb sunning, swimming and fishing.

Falkner does not overlook a single aspect of Virginia in his article.

Following close on the heels of the Falkner article is another in the National Geographic dealing with Virginia. In the latter article Princess Anne County is prominently mentioned with pictures of oyster fishermen in Lynnhaven Bay, the Adam Thoroughgood House, and the Misses Evelyn Collins Hill and Elizabeth Gregory Hill at their Sea Breeze Farm.

These articles are priceless publicity for Virginia, Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach. They are written by persons who can see and appreciate the beauty and culture of our home town and county. It is gratifying to read publicity of this type especially since there are those in our own midst who, by their actions and words, have brought unwarranted bad publicity to our community.

It is strange that so many can see so much good and so much beauty in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, yet a small few seem to be content only when they can help mar this beauty and good.

It would seem that an individual who consistently sees nothing but evil in his home town must be out of step with the rest of the World when so many agree on that community's beauty and goodness and can see nothing but continued progress ahead. An individual of this type is to be pitied for he is truly missing the true beauty and goodness to be found in Virginia Beach, and therefore is wasting the most precious thing we have—life, itself.

Jubilee Off To Fine Start

The Easter Parade held on the boardwalk here last Sunday sent the round of Golden Jubilee events off to a fine start and brought crowds far in excess of expectations that created a few minor problems that can be corrected in the future. All in all, the event was a tremendous success with Mother Nature giving us a good sunny day although a bit chilly.

The period costumes overshadowed the present day finery and added greatly to the success of the parade. It was easy for many of the older folks to slip back into yesteryear as first one and then another paraded in fashions ranging from 1906 through 1956.

It was a good show and was a great beginning to what promises to be a glorious year for Virginia Beach. The events to follow, if they maintain the same standard as the Easter Parade, will give us a wonderful round of entertainment to celebrate Virginia Beach's golden jubilee anniversary.

Ex-President Harry Truman Wrote Letter Of Advice To His Daughter

Frequently ex-President Harry S. Truman wrote letters to people with whom he disagreed.

But he also wrote letters full of love and affection, especially to his wife and daughter. One to his daughter Margaret is quoted in her life story in Good Housekeeping magazine. Early in 1953 she went down to Washington for the weekend, and it apparently seemed to her father that she was feeling her oats a bit too much.

Governor Gives Cancer Drive Endorsement

Cancer threatens to invade two of every three homes in this state. The 80,000 Americans who recovered from cancer last year were only half the number that could and should have been saved. Our steadily increasing knowledge and understanding of the treatment of cancer is gradually decreasing the death rate among women; and for various types of cancer among men the death rate also is declining. This steady and unremitting fight to get the upper hand of mankind's deadliest enemy, continues to demand the very best talent of medicine and science. This fight cannot be pressed successfully without the all-out support of our people under the leadership of the American Cancer Society. Recognizing this, the President of the United States has proclaimed April as CANCER CONTROL MONTH, and I am glad to join in the observance by urging every one of our citizens to support the American Cancer Society, especially by following its earnest advice: FIGHT CANCER WITH A CHECKUP AND A CHECK.

Thos. B. Stanley

to keep your balance no matter how great you may become in your own time. Great men and women are assayed in future generations. Your Dad will never be reckoned among the great, but you can be sure he did his level best and gave all he had to his country. There is an epitaph in Root Hill Cemetery in Tombstone, Arizona, which reads, "Here lies Jack Williams, he done his damndest." What more can a person do? I hope that will be yours and your Dad's epitaph.

"Love,

The second of ten Forrest Sherman - class destroyers, USS John Paul Jones (DD 821), has been launched. The 418-foot vessel mounts the Navy's largest developments in electronics, gunnery, navigation, engineering and anti-submarine equipment, as well as the newest comfort features for her 350-man crew.

The new miniature gyro-compass, designed for use on small naval craft, occupies less than one-half cubic foot of space, and because of its simplicity can be operated by Navy men without specialized training.

DALE CARNEGIE

Dr. Gordon Harrison who lives in Chicago but who ask that his address be withheld, tells us how he conquered the "can't sleep habit." He ran across a book listing a hundred words for use in memory training. He memorized the words and used them to cure his insomnia. When a night comes when he does not sleep he passes these words through his mind: hat, hen, ham, hare, hill, shoe, cow, hive and so on, forming mental pictures of each word.

In his practical solution for insomnia he also discovered that the reason people cannot sleep is that they take worries and troubles to bed with them. When the list of words is used worries leave, since on cannot think of more than one idea at a time. He says he usually does not get through twenty-five words, rarely fifty and generally when he awakes in the morning he has no idea how far he got down the list. It is much better than counting sheep or any other plan he has ever tried.

During the 1956 season the Camp will accommodate over 450 Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts in 4 camping sessions. With its expanded facilities and lengthened season, Camp Matoaka is the largest camp for girls in Tidewater. The 114 girls attending each session are supervised by a well-trained and qualified staff of approximately 40 counselors. Mrs. George Harris, Executive Director of the Virginia Tidewater Area Council of Girl Scouts, will again direct the camp. The assistant directors will be Miss Christina Krippe and Miss Jean Hodges, District Directors of the Tidewater Area Council. The Tidewater Community has reason to be proud of Camp Matoaka which was the first camp in this area meeting all standards and therefore, eligible to carry the seal of approval of the American Camping Association. This organization sets camping standards and inspects camps across the nation.

Beginning May 1st, applications to attend the camp can be sent to the Girl Scout Office, 267 Granby Street, Norfolk. Dates of the four camping sessions are: June 20 - July 3; July 5 - July 18; July 20 - August 2; August 3 - August 14.

Camp Matoaka is one of the Red Feather services offered by the Community Chests of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Princess Anne. It is sponsored by the Virginia Tidewater Area Council of Girl Scouts cooperating with the Tidewater County Council. Operations of the camp are under the direct supervision of the Camp Committee. Members of this committee include: Mrs. David D. Green, Chairman; Mrs. W. H. Borum, Secretary; Mrs. F. P. Barrow II; Mrs. Hugh L. Dougherty; Mrs. P. B. Dowling; Mrs. J. Floyd French; Mrs. Frank Holliday; Mrs. Edwin MacKethan; Mrs. Ruya North; Mrs. Moody Stallings; Mrs. J. T. Timmons; and Mrs. M. Bailey Walker.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

More than 4,300 seriously disabled veterans have received Federal grants totaling more than $1 million for "wheelchair homes" Veterans Administration announced.

As of January 31, 1956, some 6,050 veterans who cannot get about without the aid of wheelchairs, crutches, braces, or the like had established their eligibility for these special grants.

Of these, 4,327 already have received grants and either have moved into their homes or are in the process of building them. The remainder have not yet put their plans into effect.

VA defrays 50 percent of the cost of "wheelchair homes" for eligible veterans up to a maximum of $10,000 under grants which were first authorized in 1942.

The average grant is $9,482. These "wheelchair homes" incorporate such special features as ramps, instead of steps; doorways wide enough to accommodate a wheelchair; special bathroom features and exercise rooms equipped to meet the needs of the veterans. In order to qualify for these special grants, veterans must be entitled to compensation for permanent and total service-connected disability for the loss, or loss of use, of both legs due to certain specified conditions.

VA also supplies model plans, specifications, and blue-prints of such specially-adapted homes, which the veteran may use if he wishes.

The veteran may use the grant in several ways. He may buy or build a home, remodel his present home to suit his needs or apply the grant against his mortgage if he already has a suitable home.

Of total number of grants paid, 3,774 were for new homes, 326 were for remodeling and 225 went to pay off mortgages on homes already acquired.

1500 Attend Sunrise Service

A crowd estimated at 1,500 persons visited Fort Story to attend the 39th annual Easter Sunrise Service at the Cape Henry Memorial Cross. The weather was clear, but a chilly north wind forced many worshippers to cover new Easter fashions with overcoats.

Some who attended the service wrapped themselves in blankets and sat or stood on the sand dunes surrounding the cross. Shortly before the service began at 8 a.m., the sun rose over the Atlantic Ocean and began to cast its rays over the cross. Despite the sunshine, the temperature was not able to climb to more than 10 degrees above freezing before the crowd dispersed.

The Cape Henry Memorial Cross marks the spot where the Jamestown settlers first landed in North America on April 26, 1607. The large granite marker, located within the boundaries of the Fort Story Army reservation, has become a traditional site for Easter worshippers in the Tidewater area.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Happy Ending With A "Familiar Ring"

Buck Howell says he and his Missus had quite a time at the Stockman's Convention in Chicago. But for a while they had a "breakdown in communications." The phone bell in their hotel room was pitched so low they often didn't answer their calls. "Never knew if it was for us or not," Buck said, "always sounded far off—like it was ringing in someone else's room."

Finally, Buck hit on the obvious solution. He just made a deal with the hotel switchboard operator that whenever she called them she'd use two long rings and a short—their party-line signal back home. From where I sit, our own familiar routines tend to make other ways of doing things seem strange. That's natural. For instance, if you're always hot in water with your meals, you might think it odd that lots of us prefer a bottle of beer at dinner-time. I say you're a right to your own customs... but don't call mine wrong.

BAYSIDE LIONS CLUB NEWS

The Bayside Lions Club met Wednesday, March 21st at Lewis's Restaurant Shore Drive, for their regular meeting. The president, D. J. Wilkins, presided. Thirty-eight members were present. The guest speaker for the evening was Col. R. B. Warren, District Corp. Engineers, Tidewater District. He talked to the club on the proposed new highway for Route 60 and the new bridge which will go over Lynnhaven Inlet.

He told the club members that the Engineers Corp. was going to spend $900,000.00 dredging the Lynnhaven waterways to Lynnhaven Bay. This project will greatly improve the oysters. For the last few years the Lynnhaven Inlet has filled up so with sand that the rise and fall of the water is only 2 1/2 of a foot. This practically stagnation, has harmed the fine Lynnhaven oysters.

Lon J. Hugh Barnes reminded the members of the "Broom Sale" which is coming up May 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

Excitement Of "Picnic" Very True To Life

When William Inge wrote "Picnic," which won a Pulitzer Prize and the Drama Critics Award as the best Broadway play of the year, his dramatic action naturally was confined to the stage itself; off-stage action could only be suggested by his brilliant dialogue.

But when Columbia Pictures produced "Picnic," now starring William Holden with Kim Novak and co-starring Rosalind Russell as Rosemary at the Beach Theatre in CinemaScope and color by Technicolor, it became possible to exploit the camera's mobility, to include actual Kansas locales, to show rather than imply.

Director Joshua Logan, who also directed the triumphant stage version, and Daniel Taradash, who wrote the "Picnic" screen play, made some major additions to the fever-pitched story of the stranger in a small Kansas town and the things he did to its people, especially the women.

There was, for instance, no actual picnic on the Broadway stage; it was only talked about: a mammoth picnic sequence is one of the film's highlights. And it was only natural for Columbia's camera to take advantage of the tremendous Kansas wheatfields, grain elevators, spectacular skyscrapers and colorful Kansas town which is the film's locale.

The local "actors" re-created community sings, pie-eating contests, balloon-blowing bouts and haystack - scrambling games. There were hundreds of specially prepared sandwiches, a ton of frankfurters, cakes and pies by the dozens, handboiled eggs by the bushful, huge cans of potato salad, barrels of fruit, dozens of watermelons, and all of it prepared by local housewives who played themselves in the picture. They, and their families, simply re-created the Kansas community's annual Labor Day picnic.

People came from all over Kansas to watch Hollywood at work, from places like Wichita and as far away as Kansas City. They all brought picnic baskets of their own, and there probably were more cameras in that crowd than in all of Hollywood. They saw Holden carry the dainty Miss Strasberg, in a one-arm lift, to win the "girl carrying contest." They saw Rosalind Russell pour water into a bottle in Arthur O'Connell's hip pocket, during the "old oaken bucket" contest. They saw Kim Novak crowned the town's beauty queen, and Miss Russell help precipitate a minor riot among the pie-eating contestants. They saw Verna Felton blow up a balloon until it burst in her face, in the balloon-blowing test.

Fuel Feed Is Observing IRAH Week

"Fuel Feed joins 23,000 independent retail hardware stores from coast-to-coast in celebrating IRAH Hardware Week, one of the nation's biggest promotions," R. D. Taylor, announced today.

"IRAH Hardware Week will be observed from April 12-21," Mr. Taylor said, "and features merchandise values for our customers from the country's leading hardware and housewares manufacturer."

The letters IRAH stand for Independent Retail Hardware of America. It is part of the symbol that identifies Fuel, Feed of Virginia Beach as a member of the National Retail Hardware Association, and a home-owned seller of standard, quality merchandise.

Supporting IRAH hardware stores in their huge spring selling campaign are 600 hardware wholesalers and 75 manufacturers, whose brand-name goods are displayed in these independent stores.

In anticipation of IRAH Hardware Week, Fuel Feed, has its shelves stocked and is filled with the latest merchandise. Everything, including power and hand tools, do-it-yourself and fix-it-yourself equipment, handyman materials and supplies, sporting goods, housewares and kitchenwares, and lawn and garden supplies, is tagged and ready for Virginia Beach buyers.

As a bonus for Virginia Beach customers, many of the featured items have been marked for terrific savings as an added incentive to buyers during IRAH Hardware Week.

"Springtime is traditionally and naturally the season to start fixing up around the house," Mr. Taylor said, "but this year it is especially important. This is 'Operation Home Improvement' year with the slogan '54... the year to fix and the program is endorsed by President Eisenhower. Everyone is conscious it is economy of the highest order that their home should be kept in tip-top shape, and IRAH Hardware Week is the thrifty-time for Virginia Beach residents who are planning to buy tools and material for home improvements," Mr. Taylor commented.

It will be open house at Fuel Feed during IRAH Hardware

Oceana News

Civilian employees of the Oceana Naval Air Station were presented monetary awards and letters of commendation for Beneficial Suggestions which they submitted, by the Commanding Officer, Capt. Henry H. Hale, USN, in his office today.

Beneficial Suggestions which are submitted by the employees consist of better ways to do things faster and/or safer at a savings to the government. The program has saved American taxpayers millions of dollars on a nationwide level and has contributed greatly to the progress of the station locally and also represents savings in time and money of unestimable but large amounts aboard the Master Jet Base.

Mr. Johnny D. Byrd, automobile mechanic of the Transportation Division, submitted the most suggestions and is somewhat of a champ since seven of eleven suggestions submitted by him have been acted upon. Prizes and subjects follow: Mr. Johnny D. Byrd - "Safe Container for Soiled Wipe Cloths" $10; "Step on Rear of Mobile Canteen" $20; "Passage-way Designation" $10; "Four-cent Bulb Disposal Unit" $10; "Cradle for Liquid Soap Container" $10 and a letter of commendation for his "Safety Railing" suggestion. Mrs. Bettye P. Byrd, Industrial Relations Department - "Defense Data for Noting Wage Changes" $10 and a letter of commendation for her "Elimination of Delay in Advertising Job Opportunities" suggestion. Mr. Chas. Grogan, electrical of Public Works, "Number Letter Set" $15; Mr. J. E. Cason, mechanic at Transportation, "Alteration of Tow Bar" $20 and Mr. Frank J. Wrobel, electrician of Public Works, "Location of Vending Machines for Electrical Safety" $10. Captain Hale urged all employees to participate in the Beneficial Suggestions Program and said they have his assurance that each will be very carefully screened and awards or commendations distributed for all those with merit.

Carrier Air Group Six, commanded by CDR John E. Lacouture, USN, returned to the Oceana Naval Air Station today after a seven month cruise aboard the USS Lake Champlain in the Mediterranean.

The three squadrons of Air Group Six - VA-26, VF-39 and VP-74, commanded by CDR R. P. Gee, CDR K. H. Stefan and CDR Steve G. Kona respectively, staged landing at 2:30 p.m. and were greeted by their families and the Commander Air Force Atlantic Fleet Band at the FASRON - 5 hangar aboard the Master Jet Base.

The Air Group set several "all time" records since leaving last August. During the seven month cruise, planes of the group flew 13,438 hours, 1,142 of which were at night to set a new record. They also fired more than 17,000 rounds of ammunition and dropped 1,550 bombs and rockets while participating in three NATO, three Sixth Fleet and various individual ship exercises.

Disregarding the worst European Winter in fifty years, which cancelled two operations, Fighter Squadron 74 broke all existing records for carrier landings with 1,252 arrested flight deck landings.

During leisure hours the squadrons visited 19 Mediterranean ports in seven countries. A total of 94 scheduled tours carried crew members through the Holy Land, Paris, Rome, Venice, Athens and the French Riviera among other points.

The Oceana Naval Air Station is playing host to the Aircraft Crash Fire and Rescue team from the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tennessee, this week. The team, which is a mobile detachment, visits Navy Marine and Coast Guard Air Stations along the east coast from Jacksonville, Florida to Niagara Falls, N. Y. and then west to Columbus, Ohio and back home to Jacksonville, for the Christmas holidays each year.

The Aircraft Crash Fire and Rescue course is five days - forty hours in duration with a pocket-sized certificate of completion being awarded upon completion. An entry is also made in the students' service record of satisfactory completion of the class "C" school.

The classroom curriculum consists of instruction in organic chemistry of fire, use of hose nozzles and extinguishing agents, fire trucks and other equipment aboard a crash and salvage unit, spotting and approach of a crash, forcible entry (chopping a hole in aircraft to reach the crew), fire hazards which might be aboard an aircraft such as gasoline, lubricating oils and the various metals which are combustible under the terrific heat generated by a crash fire and instruction on the use of protective clothing for the crash crew.

At the close of classroom instruction the men are given a period of familiarization with the equipment they will use on the simulated crash and fire then participate in "dry" and "wet" runs on the old aircraft hulk. The "dry" runs consist of driving the fire equipment up to the aircraft, assembling the equipment and going in on a trial run. The "wet" runs are runs made while the hulk is actually in operation but the fire not lit off. However, no foam is used during this run, only water. After the men have shown enough skill in handling the equipment the hulk is lit off and the run that counts, the simulation of the actual crash and fire, begins. The big MB-1 turret fire truck goes in on the fire and extinguishes enough to allow the "hosemen" to move in on the plane and under cover of a fog of water "rescue" the imaginary crew of the plane. Twenty-five to thirty-five of these live fires are lit off each week by the training team.

The MIXING BOWL...

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and foibles... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Lemon and onion slices are used in combination with an easy-to-mix barbecue sauce for these expertly flavored spareribs. Offer them with a juscious crisp tossed salad and fresh bread, slightly toasted and you'll have a meal that's extra good.

BARBECUED RIBS — A MEAL FOR MEN

For a meal that's certain to win praise from the men in the family, choose barbecued ribs and offer them in the company of other male-approved favorites—cold beer and crusty, heated French bread.

The sauce for the ribs, unlike so many, calls for few ingredients. In combination with onion and lemon slices, it gives the ribs a perfect barbecue flavor and a wonderful glaze.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS

1 lemon, sliced

- 1 large onion, sliced
- 1 cup catsup
- 1/2 cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 drops Tabasco
- 1 1/2 cups water

Have spareribs cut into 3-rib sections. Place ribs meaty side up in shallow roasting pan. Top each section with an onion slice and a lemon slice. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees 30 minutes. Combine remaining ingredients in a saucepan and heat to boiling point. Reduce oven heat to 350 degrees and continue baking until ribs are tender, about 1 hour. Baste ribs with sauce every 15 minutes, adding more water if sauce becomes too thick. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Now — another recipe that will be a cheery supper specialty.

Ground meat, shaped to resemble a chicken drumstick and served with decorative paper frills, will add a gay note to family and guest meals. And, if you're wondering how the men will react to what once was a ladies'-lunch favorite, accompany the drumsticks with a male-approved beverage such as beer.

The following recipe suggests seasoning the drumsticks in the Swedish manner with nutmeg and paprika. To follow the Swedish theme, you might round out the menu with whole boiled potatoes buttered with butter and a relish tray of fresh cucumber sticks and black olives.

MOCK CHICKEN DRUMSTICKS

- Makes 6 to 8 servings
- 1 1/2 pounds ground veal
- 1/2 pound ground fresh pork
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs (about)

Combine veal, pork, salt, pepper, paprika and nutmeg. Mix lightly. Divide mixture into 8 portions and form into the shape of chicken drumsticks. Insert a small wooden skewer into the narrow end of each.

Combine beaten egg and water. Dip drumsticks in egg mixture, then in bread crumbs. Place on a flat cookie sheet or in a shallow baking pan and bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees, 30 minutes or until browned.

Here's one for the men in the family — an idea for a good, old-time supper. Serve smoked pork butt, but give it extra special treatment by stuffing it — closely with even rows of whole cloves and baking it with a thick glaze, which is a combination of apple sauce, browned sugar and the spices.

Like a party finish on a cake in a flash? Simply sprinkle white frosting with multicolored decorations right out of the jar. If you like, place cutter on the frosting, such as a heart or cloverleaf, and sprinkle the decorations into the cutter to give you a design of a diamond cloverleaf or heart.

If you want to cook only the tender stalks of fresh asparagus, chill the stalks first, then break rather than cut off the part to be cooked.

When you're putting meringue on a pie, spoon the meringue around the edges first and "seal" to the crust with a knife. Remaining meringue can be spread toward the center. When baked, the meringue cannot then shrink from the edges.

Making hamburger patties for the freezer? Separate each patty with freezer cellophane. When ready to use, the patties can be separated easily and cooked without thawing if you're in a hurry.

You may have bread cubes in a flash for casseroles or soup by simply spreading a slice of toast with butter, then slicing several times in each direction. For meat, sprinkle butter with onion or garlic salt.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Mushroom Cube Steaks (Serves 5 - 6)

- 8 cube steaks
- 1/2 cup melted cooking fat
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/4 cup melted butter
- 1/2 teaspoon celery salt

Sear steaks on both sides in 1/2 cup hot fat. Sprinkle with salt and remove from skillet. Cook mushrooms slices and green pepper in butter until tender. Place in celery salt and mix. Place 2 tablespoons of mushroom mixture in center of each cube steak, fold over and sear ends. Cook for 15 minutes in skillet until meat is done.

Whole cloves
1 cup applesauce
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Simmer pork in water to cover 45 minutes. Cool in cooking water. Drain. Stud top surfaces with even rows of whole cloves. Mix together applesauce, brown sugar, spices. Spread thickly over tops and sides of meat. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees, 1 hour. Makes 12 hearty slices or enough for 8 hungry people. Serve hot or cold with caraway-seasoned sauerkraut, baked yams and a salad of your choice.

Yummy — yum. Sounds, sooooo good. What do you think? Bye — Now!

Artists & Models Costume Ball At Local Club April 7

If you have no fairy godmother to supply you, magically, with a costume for the First Annual Artists and Models Costume Ball, you still have nothing to worry about, for the theme of the ball is the honoring of the seven arts and offers the greatest possible freedom of costuming. You may come as simply or elaborately dressed as you wish. This will be good news for men who are costume-shy and those who have a limited amount of time to spend on their costumes, as well as those who wish to go all out. There are to be prizes for the most artistic, most original and most humorous costumes. Mrs. John Doyle, Jr., President of the Virginia Beach Art Association, announced that a photographer from New York will help with the judging, and will be accompanied by four lovely models.

The ball, which will be held at the Cavalier Beach Club, Saturday night, April 7th at 9:30, will be enhanced by decorations designed to set a mood of Mardi Gras gaiety. Truly works of art themselves, they will depict the seven arts. The music of Ray Kipper and his fine orchestra will set the dancing mood. Mrs. Wade Williams is planning an excellent floor show for the event.

In addition to providing a gay and fun-filled evening for all who attend, the ball's more serious function is to provide a fund raise.

PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

SAFETY SIGNPOST FOR FARM FAMILIES

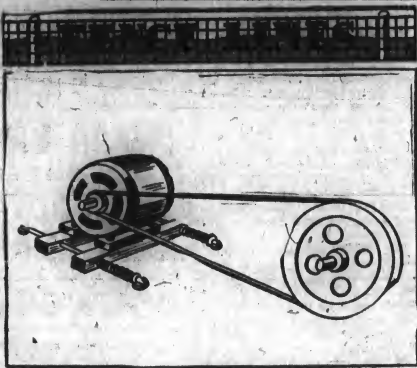

Ladder Safety
Although ladders are simple and commonplace items on the farm, unsafe use of them frequently results in accidents. Commented Mr. E. R. Cockrell, Jr., County Agent, today. A brief moment of carelessness or slight disregard for safe practices can quickly cancel the advantage of the tool's simplicity and the user's experience.

Fortunately, the rules for safety in using ladders are as simple as the tool itself. The National Safety Council recommends the following precautions against ladder accidents:

1. Face the ladder when either ascending or descending.
 2. Don't climb a ladder when shoes are covered with snow, mud, or grease.
 3. Work facing the ladder and hold on with one hand.
 4. Never use in horizontal position. Extension and single ladders are not designed for such loads.
 5. When climbing to roof, top of ladder should extend two feet above edge of roof.
 6. Make sure a step ladder is fully spread and locked, with all four legs resting on level base.
 7. Never stand on top of step ladder.
- Farmers are reminded to inspect ladders periodically for rusted or loose bolts and nails cracked, rotten or loose rungs or supports. If ladders are found defective, repairs or replacements should be made promptly.
- Never leave a ladder where it will fall or be tipped over. Ladders should be stored in readily accessible locations where they can be secured in a hurry in case of fire or other emergency.

OUTSIDE FACTORS SOMETIMES MENACE HOUSE PLANTS

'Outside' factors sometimes are a menace to house plants. For example, chilled plants, those that are set too often, or those that don't get proper ventilation will be subject to trouble. Lack of light and too much humidity also favor leaf diseases.

Avert or check trouble by keeping plants in moderately warm temperatures, watching their light and ventilation, and watering carefully. Don't wet the leaves when watering or at least be sure they dry quickly, and avoid excess watering.

These precautions will usually control foliage diseases. Fungicidal sprays can be used, when necessary, but applications are seldom necessary under ordinary conditions.

Root rot and wilt are not controlled by outside or chemical applications. They are controlled by heat treatment of the soil. Control of insects, on the other hand, often requires spraying or dusting. Most insecticides have little or no effect on fungi or bacteria.

A balanced fertilizer, applied carefully at proper intervals, often can help control systemic diseases. But the safest thing to do, if a plant is virus-infected, is to get rid of it before the virus spreads to other plants.

shocks, and even deaths. An electrical supply of 110 volts, or sometimes less, may kill when humans and livestock accidentally serve as the grounding device for electric water systems.

How do you know if your water system is properly grounded? If the pump is mounted rigidly on a steel well-casing and is not insulated with a gasket, it is well grounded. If you are using steel or copper underground service pipe you can ground to it. If you are using plastic pipe and the well casing is not steel, use a driven ground rod.

Get a 5/8 to 3/4 inch pipe or rod at least 8 foot long. This should be made of copper, copperweld, galvanized iron, or some similar good conductor of electricity. Drive the rod into firm moist ground and leave only enough above the ground to attach a cast iron clamp. Connect a length of No. 6 or No. 8 bare copper wire to this clamp and connect the other end of the wire to a similar clamp on your water pipe near the pump.

If the pump is belt driven and not attached to the motor by any metal, ground both the pump and the motor frame. This will give protection from either defective wiring or static electricity caused by the belt.

If the water system should be "hot" because of defective wiring, when a ground rod is installed, the fuses will blow at the switch box as soon as you turn on the motor. Pull the switch have the defective wiring repaired, and put in new fuses. The system should not be in good operating order. Use porcelain or plastic light. The insulating shell on metal sockets may also be a serious shock hazard.

CHANGE IN COMMERCIAL BEEF GRADE EFFECTIVE JUNE 1st

Both producers and consumers stand to profit from the changes made in the federal beef grading system.

Effective June 1, the Commercial grade of beef will be divided into two new grades - Standard and Commercial.

The division of the present Commercial grades is being made on the basis of maturity. The grade name 'Standard' will be applied to beef from younger animals of the grade. The name 'Commercial' will be retained for beef from mature animals falling in the present commercial grade.

The present Commercial grade includes carcasses from animals within the full range of maturity. It differs in this respect from the Prime, Choice, and Good grades which are restricted to carcasses from relatively young cattle.

It was the opinion of the Cattle and Beef Industry Committee which recommended the change, that it is not practical to sell, under the same grade designation, beef from young animals with only a small amount of fat together with beef from much older animals with much more fat. In some parts of the country where substantial amounts of the younger type of Commercial beef are produced and consumed, it is believed that some of this type of beef is not now being federally associated with beef from older animals.

INCREASE IN COST-SHARE RATE FOR A-3 PRACTICE ANNOUNCED BY ASC

A substantial increase in the cost-share rate for establishing permanent pastures has been announced by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee in Richmond.

The cost-share rate has been increased from 50% to 80% of the estimated average cost of seeded preparation, needed lime, and neded fertilizer and seed. This, he believes, should be quite an inducement to farmers throughout the State to put more land into permanent vegetative cover.

The ASC committee also announced that in 1957 there will be a change in the definition of cropland in connection with both the ACP and acreage allotment programs.

For 1957 programs, cropland will mean farmland which was tilled or was in regular crop rotation in 1954. It will include land which was established in permanent vegetative cover other than trees, since 1953 and which was classified as cropland at the time of seeding.

National Little League News

At last Wednesday's meeting of the operating personnel of the National Little League presided over by President Toni Dalley, it was decided that the player auction involving only those boys who were not in uniform last year will be held on Wednesday 28 April. Boys who are selected by teams will then report to their managers and those boys not selected will go into the Farm System.

Regarding the Farm System, it is truly remarkable to notice the improvement which has taken place in the abilities of those boys who stayed with the Farm Team program last summer. Unlike the bench warmers of the regular teams these boys got the opportunity to play complete games and profited considerably thereby. So if our son is not selected for a team this year by all means encourage him to turn out for the Farm Team. Under the expert tutelage of Cap'n Jim and his assistants he is bound to improve his ability as a ball player, have a lot of fun and stay out of mischief in so doing.

Have you noticed the signs posted in several of the store windows about town. They advertise the Box Social to be held at 7:00 P. M. on the evening of 12 April at the American Legion Hall in behalf of the National Little League. These signs represent the combined artistic talents of Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Dalley, Mrs. Bonney and Velda Dalley. These ladies hope that these signs will encourage you ladies to extend your culinary talents (box lunch style—no peanut butter please) in this fine cause.

Little League Diamonds are replicas in miniature of regulation Big League playing fields. The dimension of the regulation diamond are reduced by one-third in all measurements. This size permits a safer and faster game and would be possible with a regular diamond. As a matter of fact safety is stressed throughout the Little League Program. Players are insured against injury regardless of whether they are in uniform or in the Farm system. Protective helmets must be worn by batters and base runners both in practice and regular games.

LITTLE LEAGUE PERSONALITY:

The fellow with the big smile in the blue and white uniform suit is Mr. James Williamson. He is the Umpire in Chief of the league and along with this high sounding title goes the responsibility of acquiring and training umpires. As you might imagine each of these phases of his job is a tough one but Jimmy is certainly up to the task. As the Dean of Umpires, his work on and off the field carries plenty of authority. His son, young Jimmy is one of the mainstays of the Little Giant's pitching staff and is of course the pride of the Williamson household. Jimmy is a salesman for the William L. Shepherd Company when he can spare the time from his Little League duties.

Paul Hahn To Play At Oceana

Local sports fans are in for a treat Sunday April 15th at 2:30 P. M. with the personal appearance of Paul Hahn, trick shot wizard and the most outstanding personality in golf today. Capt. H. H. Hale, Commanding Officer NAS Oceana announced today that Hahn will appear at Aero-Pines Golf Course, N.S.A. Oceana to launch the club on its new season with its new pro, Bobby Dunn.

Paul Hahn who has been seen in a number of movie sport subjects has a repertoire of more than 40 incredible trick shots. He combines a serious golf clinic (sane) and his trick shot exhibition (insane) with a hilarious series of fast-moving gags in a comedy routine put together for him by Hollywood gag writers.

Hahn has been featured at the Yankee Stadium, national celebrities events, the Augusta Masters, National P. G. A. Championships, International Four Ball, Bing Crosby Tournament, Havana, Cuba, Invitational, Panama Open, Jamaica Open, Western Open and Amateur Championship, The Broadmoor Invitational, Canadian Open and Top Clubs across the Nation, Pinehurst, Oakmont, Oak Hill, Thunderbird, etc.

A former player on the P.G.A. Tour, Hahn discovered that there was more money to be made from entertaining than from playing the game seriously. His 90 pound golf bag is the world's largest and contains the wildest assortment of clubs in captivity. While some are Orthodox, others are not, like the regular driver head with a garden hose shaft. Paul has hit a golf ball 230 yards with this one.

Other shots include hitting 3 balls at once, one goes backward, one goes forward and the other goes straight up. (Paul catches this one before it hits the ground) clinic and trick shots, the entire show lasts one hour.

Camera fans are invited to bring their cameras out and have a field day photographing Hahn's unusual talent. Non-golfers as well as Links addicts will enjoy the show's entertainment and since the entire show is done from one spot, there will be no walking for the gallery.

GARDEN GUIDE

By
BRIDGES, JR.

NATIVE SHRUBS

Many people have commented on the favorable climatic conditions which exist with regard to gardening in our Tidewater Area. It has been said that we live in the northern limit for southern plants and the southern limit for northern plants.

Our native plants are also present in great variety and often can be utilized successfully in gardening and landscaping. If we eliminate the deciduous plants in this article we still have many evergreen shrubs that are desirable.

For example, Bayberry or Myrica, Inkberry, Mountain Laurel and Youpon are beautiful and grow wild in many sections of Princess Anne County. Bayberry (Myrica pennsylvanica) is a good plant because of the following attributes: stands moderate amounts of salt spray and an occasional drenching of the roots by salt water; it will live under conditions of poor drainage better than most plants; it is a slow grower; it has leaves with a most appealing fragrance; the female plant produces attractive gray fruit; and when allowed to grow into a small tree, the bark on the trunk is seen to be beautiful.

Two of these qualities might be elaborated on. Slow rate of growth is desirable because it requires less maintenance in the way of pruning and it indicates a long-lived plant. Slow growers are, in general, the aristocrats of the ornamental tree and shrub kingdom. Fruiting characteristics of the Bayberry are like hollies in that the male flowers and female flowers are produced on separate plants. Pollen forming flower has to fertilize the pistillate or seed forming flower. Then the female flower develops a fertile seed. In the case of bayberry, most hollies and many other plants the seeds are enclosed in attractively colored fruit.

Inkberry (Ilex glabra) is in the holly family. It has small leaves and black berries. It grows well in shady places. In nature it grows rather loosely branched but if a compact, denser type of growth is preferred, it can easily be obtained by pruning back the shrub to cause more side branches to develop instead of a few long limbs. The Inkberry will tolerate some salt spray.

Mountain Laurel (Kalmia latifolia) is the most colorful of our evergreen shrubs. It is not seen throughout the county but exists in more or less isolated areas. The leaf is dark green and glossy and its flowers are pink and very pretty. Each flower is cup shaped and about as big around as a dime but they are grouped in clusters 3" to 6" in diameter and are thus very striking. Mountain Laurel blooms just at the end of the flowering Dogwood season so that for several days there is an overlapping of the blooming periods and a woodland that is blessed with this combination of trees and shrubs is a real thing of beauty.

Another native shrub that is loved by many of our gardeners is the Youpon (Ilex vomitoria). This is a holly just as the Inkberry is but has red berries rather than black. The leaf is small and very slightly notched. Its color is glossy dark green with a reddish cast. Youpon will grow to tree size and may be considered by some to be a tree, but it can be very satisfactorily kept to a shrub by pruning. This plant has good salt spray resistance and has the ability to grow well in very poor sandy soil.

These four shrubs have two things in common. They are beautiful and they are hard to transplant. The best way to enjoy them is in their native habitat. With a lot of care and some luck however they can be satisfactorily transplanted and utilized in our gardens.

Back in the 1800's it was the custom to enroll very young boys in the Navy. David Farragut, for example was appointed a midshipman when he was less than 10 years old.

The nation's trucks move more petroleum than any other single commodity.

Ideas for the Modern Homemaker

By Mrs. Elizabeth D. Deal
County Home Agent

Last week we have had two Tailoring Clinics in the County, approximately 18 women attended but of course, not all at any one time. The garments which were made were very well done and I am sure will be a credit to those folks who worked hard to get them ready for wear. In some instances the garments made were for children and other members of the family as well as the women. As soon as the dates for the slip covers are set up we will announce them.

We are making plans for our Annual Clean-Up Campaign in April. We hope by this to not only improve the looks of our homes and yards but also to lessen the hazards which cause so many home accidents. Though this year our Federation Goal is not Health and Safety, I hope that we have not forgotten the efforts of the past two years to make our County safe place to live. At this time of the year we get outdoors and begin to take stock of what needs doing. It would be a good idea to check porch floors and steps to be sure that they have the rotted or broken sections repaired. If there is painting which needs doing it is more comfortable to paint now before the weather gets hot, however one caution is that we are told it is not good to paint when the air is very damp.

In cleaning up around our yards, let's remember to gather up and to dispose of trash, old limbs and other debris which is not needed around the house or yard. It is a good idea to check the swings and other equipment which will be in more constant use now that the weather is warming up. Be sure that there are no broken or rotten places. The careless laying around of tools as we work in the yard has caused 11 percent of accidents of this type.

Therefore, we want to remind you to be cautious about returning tools to their proper places and to especially arrange so that the handlers are not liable to fall or trip a person. If we are going to be washing and putting up new curtains let's do not forget the fire hazard of having them over the stove in the kitchen and if we are doing painting inside let's remember to check the ladders before we use them and it is also a good idea to check extension cords which have been used and possibly a stair which has never had a handle or hand rail could have a new one before painting time. One other cause of many home accidents is working and hurrying when we are tired and when we are trying to do several things at one time. In so far as possible let's try to be careful here also.

If you do dispose of the trash by burning be especially careful to see that it is not done when the wind is high and that it is put out before the family goes to bed.

"PREPARED" FROZEN FOODS

New evidence of the increasing trend toward built-in convenience in commercially prepared foods is revealed in preliminary data on the rapid rise of "prepared" frozen food. In one year from 1954 to 1955 production of "prepared" frozen foods increased 87 percent and now account for about 8 percent of the total frozen food production. This is about equal to the current production of frozen fruit. "Prepared" frozen foods are the items which have wholly or partially cooked before freezing or have had other pre-freeze preparation which is usually done in the home kitchen. This is the most rapidly growing part of the frozen food industry.

Of 12 classes of "prepared" frozen foods, frozen potato products lead in the number of pounds produced. Production has more than doubled from 1954 to 1955. Other items that increased more than 100 percent during the same year were side dishes and hors d'oeuvres.

This data is based on replies from the industry in a recently conducted survey.

In the 86-year history of the oil industry in the United States, only 150 wells have ever been drilled below the level of 15,000 feet. Over one-third of these were drilled last year.

Some 45,000 Oklahomans are directly engaged in the production of oil and natural gas, and many thousands more are employed indirectly as a result of oil and gas production.

KEMPSVILLE GARDEN CLUB:

In making a floral arrangement, "first decide where the arrangement is to be placed. Then form a mental picture of it, before you select the materials to be used."

Mrs. J. L. Weller gave that advice at the first session of the Floral Arts School conducted at the meeting of the Kempsville Garden Club Monday at the Kempsville Community Center. Mrs. Weller told the members how to select proper containers and materials and demonstrated the making of floral arrangement.

It was announced that over two hundred dogwood trees have been sold by the club to be planted in the Kempsville area. The members also voted to sponsor the Senior Girl Scout Troop in Kempsville, whose leader is Mrs. R. M. Nelson.

Members discussed plans for a Pot Luck Supper to be held in April. It was announced that Mrs. C. W. Odeman of Amherly Road would be sent by the club to the Flower Judging School to be held soon.

Floral arrangements will be made by members of the club for the dining room tables at the Municipal Hospital. Mrs. B. R.

Middleton is to be the chairman of this project.

Mrs. H. F. Tyler, president again urged the membership to support the Federation of Garden Clubs magazine. Mrs. Chester Bamforth and Mrs. Lee Fanning were announced to serve on the nominating committee.

Mrs. Weller judged the corsages and awarded gold ribbons to Mrs. M. B. Jones, Mrs. C. A. Bamforth and Mrs. B. R. Middleton. Other ribbon winners were Mrs. N. T. Heath, Mrs. W. H. Crews, Mrs. J. C. Lilley, Mrs. C. W. Odeman, Mrs. R. H. Elyck, Mrs. J. P. Fox, Mrs. C. E. Fanning, Mrs. H. C. Hendon, Mrs. J. P. Goodwin, Mrs. R. M. Nelson and Mrs. G. O. Pascoe.

Imperial Wins Auto Race in Colorado

A 1954 Imperial automobile has just been announced in Colorado Springs, Colorado, as the overall Sweepstakes winner of the 1954 Mobilgas Economy Run. It was driven by Mel Alsbury, Jr., of Hollywood, California.

In topping the performance of all 22 other U. S. autos entered, the Imperial set a record average of 21.042 miles per gallon on the four-day, 1468.4-mile run from Los Angeles to Colorado Springs.

As it swept over the finish line in front of the Broadmoor Hotel, the Imperial established itself as the most economical car in America, with a ton-mile average of 61.3. Its closest competitor, which took second place, had a ton-mile average of 51.7. This was the largest margin of victory in the history of the event. The Imperial won first-place honors in its price, displacement and weight classes, as well as the Sweepstakes honors.

The Imperial's actual time on the highway was 36 hours, according to officials of the United States Automobile Club, which sanctioned the event.

In the course of the race from Los Angeles to Colorado Springs the competitors traveled at elevations ranging from 203 feet below sea level to 11,312 feet above sea level.

By the year 2,000 nearly all the power used in transportation and agriculture is expected to be derived from internal-combustion engines burning petroleum fuels.

Marines were placed as guards in federal buildings for the first time May 8th, 1902.

The East Texas oil field produced more than 75 million barrels last year, three times as much as in 1902.

Because petroleum has mechanical American farms 70 million acres which formerly raised fodder for animals can now be used to grow crops.

The Scene Is Changing

Mr. American Tourist will find a brighter and finer Virginia Beach this year. The welcome mat is out and we feel Virginia Beach is prepared for a full and wonderful tourist season.

Then Dr. Cockett offered an important suggestion—that, to make rural practice attractive, the community should use its local doctor's services rather than bypass him on the way to the city doctor's office. As he put it, "Using him just for night calls and bad weather is not satisfactory professional relationship."

The 6,800-acre Naval Air Test center at Patuxent River, Md., is located on Cedar Point, a peninsula bounded by nine miles of shoreline.

There will be Clinic on Monday, April 23rd at the Public Health Department, 10th St. and Arctc Ave. Virginia Beach from 12 Noon to 5 p. m. where the necessary shots will be given those children entering school in September. Dr. Cora Z. Corpening will be the attending physician.

1. Leave your car in the garage until the weather abates.
2. If you must go out, drive slowly.
3. In skidding, turn the wheels in the direction of the skid and accelerate the motor by stepping on the gas.
4. When applying your brakes do it with an up and down action, slowly, being careful not to lock your wheels.

Following these instructions will nearly always prevent dangerous skidding.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

Brigadier General Frederick T. Voorhees, commandant of the Transportation School at Fort Eustis, visited Fort Story April 4. Accompanying Gen. Voorhees was Col. Robert A. Cliffe, who will replace Col. Edward W. Sawyer as chief of staff of the Transportation Training Command.

Gen. Voorhees and his party were greeted by an honor guard and an 11-gun salute upon arrival at Fort Story. After being briefed on the operation of the post, the visitors were taken on an all-day tour to 26 different sites and activities at Story.

The 12-man ceremonial saluting battery which fired for Gen. Voorhees traveled to Headquarters, Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic (SACLANT) in Norfolk April 4 to participate in the celebration of the seventh anniversary of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The battery, composed of members of the 565th Transportation Company and commanded by First Lieutenant Joseph O. Farrell, honored eight NATO ambassadors to SACLANT with a 19-gun salute. The same battery fired a 21-gun salute for Italian President Giovanni Gronchi when he visited SACLANT March 2.

Concentrated training of Transportation Corps units slated to conduct resupply operations in the Arctic this summer will begin

April 8, when 15 units of the Transportation Training Command at Fort Eustis and Fort Story start a five-day exercise in the movement of cargo over unimproved beaches at this Cape Henry post.

Units participating in the exercise will carry supplies to isolated air fields and distant Early Warning sites near the Arctic Circle this summer in an operation known as "Support Units Northeast Command" (SUNEC) 46.

Purpose of the training problem, known officially as "Logistics Over-The-Shore Problem Eight" (LOTS 8) is to enable units scheduled to go north to work together moving supplies over beaches with amphibious craft and vehicles. The same men and equipment will discharge cargo across beaches in the Arctic, where established ports are practically nonexistent.

Director of the current training exercise is Col. Charles F. Tank, commanding officer of the 4th Transportation Terminal Command "C" at Fort Eustis. Lt. Col. Kayser E. Austin, commanding officer of the 567th Movement Control Battalion, is deputy exercise director. The problem will end April 18.

An officer and two enlisted men from the 568th Transportation Company recently returned from the LeTourneau factory in Longview, Tex., after completing a three-week course on the diesel-electric systems of LeTourneau equipment. The three are Second Lieutenant Gary Meredith, Master Sergeant John H. Webb and Sergeant First Class William L. Gies. Courses at LeTourneau emphasized the Transportation Corps' unique landing craft retrieval, which was built by the Texas firm and is now at Fort Story.

If there is such a thing as conformity in the design of women's hats, the Fort Story Officers' Wives' Club didn't adhere to it when they held their annual spring hat show Wednesday, April 4.

The ladies struck a blow against conformity by appearing in their own creations. Hats were fashioned from kitchen utensils, seashells and vegetables. One masterpiece featured a small live duck!

Three male judges chose the most original, the prettiest and the funniest of the ingenious creations. Winner of the award for the prettiest hat was Mrs. Martin W. Ramsey. The funniest hat was worn by Mrs. Stanley G. Gold and Mrs. John C. Redmon modeled the most original creation.

Judges of the show at the Fort Story Officers' Club were Col. George E. Woods, Jr., post commander; Lt. Col. Virgil H. Thornton, commanding officer of the 37th Transportation Battalion and First Lieutenant Robert Kimura, assistant post adjutant. Mrs. Harold Maltz, president of the Fort Eustis Officers' Wives Club, and Mrs. Edward W. Sawyer, wife of the chief of staff of the Transportation Training Command, were guests at the hat show.

The Fort Story Ducks made their 1956 baseball debut an impressive one as they scored a 13-2 win over Colonial Chevrolet of Norfolk in an abbreviated contest at the Cape Henry post field.

The game, halted at the end of six innings because of rain, featured steady pitching by Duxbury Miller, Cop and Chuck News, who limited the visitors to four hits. Their pitching performance was matched at the plate as the soldiers belted out nine hits, most of them with men on base. Outfielder Bobbie Williams' five hit, one of which was a home run, was the highlight of the game. He batted in a total

The Barraudas of the 461st DUKW Company, Story's intramural basketball runner-ups repeated last week as champions of the entire Transportation Training Command, going undefeated in five games during the championship playoffs at Fort Eustis.

The tourney was highlighted by a showdown between the Barraudas and their Fort Story arch-rivals, Headquarters Company, 6th Transportation Terminal Command B, who noosed them out for the Story title. At Eustis, however, the 461st turned the tables on their antagonists, beating the previously undefeated Headquarters squad, 78-76. The game was the fifth and final in a series of regular and post-season contests between the rivals — a series that made this year's competition the most exciting in recent years.

After that satisfying victory, the final game was almost anticlimactic as the Barraudas whipped Fort Eustis' 1st Student Company, 68-57, for the title. Buddy Key, Barraudas captain, accepted the championship trophy from Col. Gerald Peterson, Fort Eustis CI.

In a pre-game highlight, 461st players finished first and second in a special foul-shooting contest conducted along with the tourney. James Pryor of the Barraudas showed the most accuracy, followed by his teammate, Dean Tyner. Story's intramural softball season begins April 26 and will last until the end of September, when the top four teams in the standings will stage a championship playoff series. Last year's champion, the Navy's Harbor Entrance Control Base, will again field a team in defense of its title, won last October in a thrilling post-season playoff with Headquarters Company.

Cancer Unit

(Continued from Page One) Club, Kellam and Eaton, Ingram Pharmacy, Building Supplies Corporation, Sun-News, Crowder Lithograph Corp., Alexander-Beeble. This outstanding co-operation and understanding of the work being done by the local cancer unit makes all our work easier. We would like to thank the Beach Theater for giving the Cancer Unit tickets to present to those students who won honorable mention. The Public Education Chairman, Mr. A. R. Mailhes and Professor advisor Dr. James Todd in connection with Princess Anne County would like to present the following basic data about cancer. 1. The American Cancer Society is combating cancer through programs of research, education, and service to cancer patients. 2. Cancer can strike anyone at any age. It can affect children as well as men and women. 3. Many cancers can be cured, but only if treated while reasonable local. 4. Early diagnosis and proper treatment are essential in the cure of cancer. 5. All men over 45 should have a chest x-ray every six months. 6. The only approved means of curing cancer today are x-ray, radium, and surgery. However, in the treatment of certain types of cancer, some hormones, chemotherapy, and certain radioactive isotopes have proved successful. 7. No cancer was ever cured by pills, powders or any home remedy, or by any quack or "wonder doctor" using a "secret" method, gadget, or medicine.

Civic League Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Lakeland Civic League was held Tuesday evening, April 3rd at Christ Lutheran Church. The speaker of the evening, L. A. Comdr. I. H. Knudson, a member of the Joint Committee for School Improvement in the Little Creek Area, gave the approximately 70 Civic League members present some alarming information concerning our school situation. He pointed out that the school facilities are adequate for about 800 students, there are in reality about 1950 students now. It was estimated that by the opening date of school next September there would be about 2500 students for this school.

To date, no federal funds have been spent for schools in this area. Federal funds have been reserved for the construction of 20 rooms at the Little Creek Location, but when construction will begin is unknown. The lack of adequate school facilities is such as to create a very significant morale problem to our federally connected personnel as well as other residents. It has been said that the home sales have slowed down in the vicinity of Little Creek School due to the inadequate school situation. The aroused citizenry has given indication that they will not sit idly by waiting while this injustice exists. Legal counsel has been retained by the Joint Committee and a complete investigation will be made of the reasons why federal funds have not been spent for school construction in this area.

Many of our citizens are aware of the problem. It is evident that before long all avenues of approach to the problem will have been explored. If anything is amiss regarding the proper and expeditious application of federal funds to school construction in this area, necessary corrections will be in order at a very early date.

F. A. Aubrey N. Holmes, president of the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County, and Mrs. George Manson, Mrs. Waverly Dickens and Mrs. James Neidinger, delegates, are attending the annual convention of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs in Richmond.

Mrs. Holmes headed a slate of officers inducted by Mrs. Harry Griffin, president - elect of the Tidewater District, Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, at the Pine Tree Inn Tuesday, April 3. Other officers installed include: Mrs. Dickens, first vice president;

The program was arranged by Mrs. Olinde Tilbrook, chairman of the Garden Department of the Club.

P. A. DRAMATIC CLUB

Miss Elizabeth Gregory Hill, long recognized as a horticulturist and gardener, turned dramatic reader yesterday and presented the program at the meeting of the Princess Anne Garden Club.

She read "The Marble Dream," author unknown. Then she presented the dialogue between Henry V and Katherine, of France, from the Shakespearean play: "A Wild Gypsy Girl," anonymous; "Ole Duet Gabe," by Thomas Nelson Page, and "The One-Legged Goose," and by Hopkinson Smith.

Miss Hill studied elocution at Leachwood Seminary and later taught it in the old school which no longer exists. She once read for Thomas Nelson Page and his praise inspired her to continue her interest in drama though life, in business session it was announced that the Garden Club would have a horticultural exhibit at the Virginia Beach centennial event in June, prepared by Miss Evelyn Collins Hill. Mrs. H. Gray Parker will have a conservation exhibit.

The club decided to send two fifth-grade boys, pupils of the Princess Anne Elementary School, to the nature camp of the Garden Club of Virginia at Vesuvius during the summer.

Mrs. James P. Barron, Mrs. Stuart Johns, and Mrs. H. Gray Parker, the three treasurers of the Princess Anne Garden Club since its formation in 1932 attended the meeting.

The meeting was held at Mrs. Parker's home at 38th St. and Ocean Front, Virginia Beach.

In response to a request made at the April meeting of the (Bay Colony) Garden Club, the Cub Scouts of Den 5, (Pack 60), in Bay Colony lead by Explorer Latane Sale worked diligently on Saturday April 7th. Bobb Towle, Bobby Graham, Peter Holland, Jackie Jones, Fred Turner and Judy Burke gathered a trailer load of trash from a section of York Lane and hauled it to the dump.

Cape Henry Club Honors Husband's At Dinner

The Cape Henry Woman's Club held its annual Husband's Night and Birthday Anniversary party at Princess Anne Country Club on Monday night, the ninth of April. Members and guests numbered one hundred and thirty two.

It was recommended and approved that twenty-five dollars be given the Welfare Chairman, Mrs. Roy T. Booker to take care of urgent charity needs.

It was also recommended and approved that the Club donate a hospital bed to the Princess Anne Chapter, American Cancer Society, the purchase to be made by the Cancer Chairman, Mrs. Robert Wahab.

The Club President, Mrs. Robert J. Steinhilber, in behalf of the Club members, presented an engraved silver tray to Mrs. W. W. Connell, Jr., as a token of their deep appreciation for her untiring efforts as first President of the Cape Henry Woman's Club. In addition to this Mrs. Connell was given an honorary Membership to the Club.

An engraved silver tray was also presented to Mrs. Cecil Reid. Mrs. Reid was selected the Woman of the Year by the Club for 1954 and 1955. Later she was chosen the Woman of Accomplishment of Princess Anne County by the Business and Professional Woman's Club. Mrs. Reid was also presented an Honorary Membership to the Club in recognition of her service in conserving the rare American Lotus in Tabernacle Creek.

Members and guests were charmed by the delightful personality of Miss Ray Cambridge who sang three solos. Miss Cambridge is a student at Virginia Beach High School. Her accompanist at the piano was Miss Linda Williamson, also a student at Virginia Beach High School.

Members of the Club and merchants of Virginia Beach were very generous in their donations or gifts to be given out as door prizes. Everyone had a good time.

Unable to attend the dinner was one of the Club's best loved members, Lucille Clark, who is recuperating in Norfolk General Hospital from an operation. The Club's Birthday Cake was given her husband Mr. Wallace Clark to take to Lucille as a token of love.

Mr. W. P. McDowell of Elizabeth City, North Carolina introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Mr. Wade Marr, also of that city.

It was through the friendship and efforts of Lucille Clark that the Club was fortunate enough to have a speaker of Mr. Marr's ability as their guest. Mr. Marr gave one of the most humorous, heart warming and informative speeches that has been the privilege and pleasure of the members and guests to hear. It was an inspiration for all.

National Little League News

The first outdoor trout season of the year was held Saturday afternoon the 31st of March at Camp Pendleton. Weather permitting Capt. Jim Gregory intends to continue trout on Saturdays at Camp Pendleton, and on Tuesday nights in the High School Gym. Several dads turned out to assist in handling the 70 youngsters who were present. The fields at Camp Pendleton are a real help in accommodating this many boys.

Off hand you might think that 70 young fireballs on the loose away from Mom and Dad's restraining influence would produce a spectacle sufficient to make a strong man cry. Not so at all. These boys are interested in winning a uniform on a team and they realize that proper conduct is one of the stepping stones. When Capt. Jim whispers "FROG" you just never saw such jumping. One of the foremost ideals of the Little League is that developing athletic ability is second to developing sportsmanship and the will to do one's best. The operating personnel from Pres. Tom Dalley on down are dedicated to this principle; as along with good baseball you'll see the players deporting themselves like gentlemen when you go to a Little League game.

The erection of the concrete dugouts has started and it looks like if the weather holds they will be most completed by the time that you read this. These dugouts will be a great improvement to the field and a great help to the managers in keeping the boys together during game time.

LITTLE LEAGUE PERSONALITIES

The Manager of "THEM MIGHTY HAWKS" the Junior Chamber of Commerce Little League Team is J. F. Steuckert. Mr. Steuckert is one of the original founders of the Hawks but also was the Secretary of the National Little League last year and assisted in organizing the rest of the team. He has also (until this time) written all the Little League articles for this paper and the National Little League has received many compliments on his articles. Stu as he is called by every one not only taught the boys a Red Hot game of baseball but also taught them sportsmanship, fair play and how to win or lose a game modestly. His team tied for second place in the league last year.

Stu is well liked and respected by his team, his team parents and all members of the National League. When the going gets tough on some decision affecting the league or its personnel Stu can always be depended on to come up with the right answer to please everyone. He not only spent a maximum of time practicing his boys last summer but personally picked up and delivered most of them at their homes before and after practice. Now do you wonder why the parents think so much of Stu. Mr. Steuckert did double duty all last season as his son Jimmy was on the pitching staff of the American League Rotary Club team and therefore he could be seen at the ball park four nights a week last season.

Needless to say Jimmy is the Apple of his Dad's eye and will never lack for instructions in baseball or the fundamentals of sportsmanship and fair play. Jimmy has put on a few pounds this last winter and looks like a coming red hot pitcher for some lucky team.

Commander Steuckert is an ex Navy enlisted man, a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy class of 1940. He came to Virginia Beach in October 1954 and immediately fell right into Little League Ball. When Stu is not managing and coaching the Hawks he is Assistant to the Officer in Charge Project AROWA. Fleet wear her central NAS Norfolk. The National Little League had only one game rained out last year thus testifying to the fact that he not only is an expert in Little League matters but right on the "BALL" in controlling the weather to suit the ball season.

As any wife or Little League mother will know having a son or husband on one team creates quite some problems around the house in the evening what with early suppers, late suppers, and getting ready for the game herself. Just imagine Mrs. Steuckert with a husband in one league and a son in another. She not only is a very gracious and patient lady but a staunch rooter for both leagues. There is also another Steuckert son, Left handed "Tommy", and what a fine player he will be for some Little League manager in about five more years.

The Steuckerts will be leaving soon on an overseas transfer. They will be missed by the Team, Team Parents and all League Officials and tho it may be several years before they return to Virginia Beach they will always be welcomed by the members of "THEM MIGHTY HAWKS". They have helped make Virginia Beach a better City in which to raise a family.

Mr. James Batchelor will manage the J. C. Hawks this summer. Jim is no new comer to Little League having managed a team in Pennsylvania several years ago. He also assisted in managing the Hawks last summer. In addition to his baseball activities he is an assistant scout master for troop 60 of Virginia Beach. Jim is genuinely fond of kids and having three of his own, has definite ideas on how youngsters should behave. He is an excellent disciplinarian as well as a good baseball man. The Hawks will be drilled and well behaved you can bet on that.

Chevrons were worn for the first time by non-commissioned officers of the Marine Corps on March 23, 1836. Prior to that time they were identified by lace ruffles.

Award Winning Artwork

MS Society Lists Volunteers

A large number of groups and individuals have answered the first call for volunteers to help in the MS Hope Chest fund raising campaign conducted by the Tidewater Multiple Sclerosis Society, according to an incomplete report released today by Joseph Milnor Johnson, 1956 MS Fund Director. Mr. Johnson said, "Although the initial response is splendid and gratifying, more and more volunteer workers are necessary if the Chapter goal of $24,000 is to be reached. As soon as other interested groups and individuals come forward, we will assign them to important areas. Official MS identification cards will be issued to persons duly authorized to represent this Chapter during the campaign."

Bell Tidings

Traffic is heavy... it's getting dark... you're late getting home. It's a great temptation to speed up, to take chances, just to get home when you said you would.

Resist that urge to step on the gas - and play it safe. Don't speed up - call up! Step into one of the new airtight Public Telephone Booths. Call home - tell the family you'll be a little late (they'll appreciate the call). Then relax, and take it easy the rest of the way.

Along the streets and highways of Virginia you'll find hundreds of new Public Telephones for your convenience. They're just another reminder that your friends and neighbors at The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia are always trying to make it convenient for you to call whenever you need to, wherever you are.

Remember historic Garden Week, April 21-28.

Wrong numbers are embarrassing when you're dialing... irritating when you're on the receiving end. If you remember the Rule of Three when using the phone you'll get better telephone service: (1) Look up the correct number in your Telephone Directory and write it down. If it's a number you call often, add it to your personal list. A Blue Book just for that purpose can be obtained for the asking at our Business Office. (2) Before you dial, be sure you hear the dial tone. (3) Dial each digit carefully. Let the dial return without interruption after each pull of the dial.

It's as simple as that.

It's odd, in a way, how many Virginia farms have all kinds of work-saving machinery - but just one telephone. For example you'll see electric milking machines, power tools, conveyors, grain mixers. Yet when the telephone rings someone has to run from one of the farm buildings into the house... or from upstairs... to answer it (and that's usually the farmer's wife). When the cost of an extension telephone is so small, the modern farm should have one wherever it's needed.

(Lots of urban Virginians need low-cost complete telephone convenience, too!)

In 1955, The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia spent $31,000,000 for new construction and facilities to expand and improve telephone service in the Old Dominion. During the year, more than 61,000 new telephones were added.

Notes from YOUR COUNTY AGENT

PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

CHANGE IN LINE OF INHERITANCE BENEFITS SURVIVING CONSORT

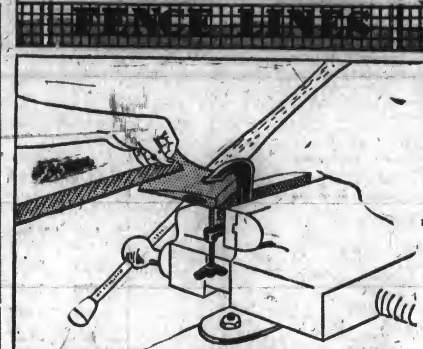

What will become of your property?
The disposition of it, if you die without leaving a will, is likely to be more palatable to your surviving spouse after July 1 than it has ever been before.

House Bill 101, passed by the recent General Assembly, places the surviving wife or husband second only to the children in line to inherit real property in the simple. Until July 1 the surviving spouse can claim fee simple rights to the property only then the deceased leaves no children, parents, brothers or sisters or their offspring.

On July 1, the new bill becomes effective and what many surviving spouses have considered a sorry state of affairs will be changed. Nuckolls points out.

The economist stresses that it's a good idea to write a will, whatever laws of inheritance are on the books. He says you have the right and obligation to designate the future owner or owners of your property. Research has shown, for instance, that farms of many who died intestate were divided into tracts of too small to be operated as economic units.

Bulletin 189, "What Will Become of Your Property?" is available from county agents or from the Agricultural Extension Service, VPI, Blacksburg. A revised edition of the bulletin will be available in July, with changes conforming to new laws, Nuckolls said.

NO CUT FINGERS . . . To use a file effectively to sharpen an ax hatchet, secure blade horizontally by using C-clamp held in vise. File against the edge of the blade to prevent a burr.

able in July, with changes conforming to new laws, Nuckolls said.

RODENT CLEAN-UP SUGGESTED NOW

An early spring clean-up of rats and mice will reduce the number that will reproduce out-of-doors this summer.

It won't be long until warm weather and growing crops lure the rats and mice to their outside quarters. Trapping is effective for catching a few rats or mice that may enter the home where they are likely to die and cause unpleasant odors. Enlarging the trigger of the trap with cardboard and placing the trap at right angles to the rat runway will increase the number caught.

Warfarin-phosphorus paste, poisoned grain, or other rodenticides may be used. Be sure to place the poison in bait stations. Plans and details on how to make and expose baits are available from county agricultural agents, or from the Agricultural Extension Service, VPI, Blacksburg.

Care should always be used in baiting to control rodents to prevent the possible poisoning of other animals.

FROZEN FOODS AWARDS

An increased number of awards is being offered for 4-H club members enrolled in the frozen foods project this year.

State 4-H officials say four medals for winners in each county, twice the number before, are being offered. The state winner will receive an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Instead of the $50 savings bond given in former years. At the Congress, six national winners will be named and presented $300 college scholarships.

Jane Ruffin, 4-H member from Hanover county was national winner last year and received a $300 college scholarship.

State 4-H officials say the frozen foods awards program has become increasingly popular with club members since its beginning in 1954. Through the program club members learn to use freezing equipment efficiently and economically, learn what local foods are best adapted to freezing, and develop skill in preparing, packing and freezing meats, poultry, eggs, fish, fruits, and vegetables. Whirlpool-Sesgar Corporation of St. Joseph, Mo., is the donor. The program is conducted in Virginia by the VPI Agricultural Extension Service through county agricultural and home demonstration agents.

MAKE NEEDED REPAIRS ON FARM EQUIPMENT

There's not such time left to get farm equipment in condition for spring planting.

Timely servicing of all farm machinery will reduce accidents as well as costly field breakdowns, says County Agent E. R. Cockrell, Jr. He points out that poorly-conditioned equipment is irritating, fatiguing, and inefficient.

Begin farm machinery repairs with a thorough inspection. The Virginia Rural Safety Council says to check: hitch, seats, clutches, brakes and other controls as well as unguarded revolving parts, such as gears, chains, shafts. The fuel line and wiring systems should be checked. Leaky fuel lines or hazardous wiring can easily lead to a fire. It is also important to remove dirt, trash, and grease from platforms, pedals, foot rests or steps to assure safe footing.

"Careful operators will also take time to equip tractors with fire extinguishers and get holders for grease guns or other servicing tools carried on the tractor," Mr. Cockrell adds. "Loose accessories may lead to falls or other casualties. A secure step or grab bar may avoid a fall in getting on or off the tractor."

Special care should be taken in checking homemade labor-saving equipment for accident hazards. The operator's safety is often overlooked in building this type of equipment.

News For Veterans

Veterans in rural areas seeking GI home loans who are turned down by local lenders should apply direct to Veterans Administration regional office rather than to Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program (VHMC) regional committees, VA announced.

This suggestion is made, VA said, in order to speed up direct VA loan processing and to set up a priority system for veterans who are unable to secure VA-guaranteed GI loans from private lenders through VHMC.

Previously, veterans seeking GI loans were being referred direct to VHMC regional committees so that these committees might be able to assist in securing private GI mortgage financing for World War II and Korean conflict period veterans living in remote areas and small communities.

Veterans applying to VA will be sent a VHMC home loan application. VA then will put their names on a register so that a follow-up may be made and a priority established for the individual veteran.

Should the VHMC committees be unable to provide regular GI financing for homes from private lenders, the veterans then can apply to VA for direct government loan.

Loans secured from private lenders through the facilities of VHMC regional committees will be guaranteed loans bearing the same interest rate as VA direct loans—4½ percent per annum. Recently, VA took another important step in speeding up the process of getting mortgage financing for veterans living in rural areas by cutting the time for referring direct loans applications to VHMC regional committees. These committees now have 60 working days instead of 45 calendar days, as was the previous procedure, in which to secure loan commitments from private lenders.

QUES. and ANS.

I am in the military service, and I am covered by $10,000 free indemnity. I recently was married, and I want to change my beneficiary. Am I supposed to notify the VA?

No. Service personnel should not notify VA of change in beneficiary. Instead, they should notify their branch of service, since that's where their records are kept. VA handles the records of veterans, and not, generally, of members of the armed forces.

Spring Causes Home Owners To Plan Improvements And Repairs

The coming of spring arouses the home owner to start making plans for the home improvements and repairs needed. In this field the Home Supply Company, 435 South Main Street (Berkley) is well equipped to do whatever is required and needed from the smallest job to the complete construction of both the residential and commercial type of structures.

Mr. Curtis Owen, owner of the firm, has a background of more than 35 years in the building and construction field. He was manager of the building material section for the firm of Killam & Eason, Inc., in the years 1945-1947 and during the war years was structural engineer, coordinator and expediter for the Public Works Department, 8th District, U. S. Navy.

The firm has available experienced mechanics capable of doing any and all of the jobs required in connection with any building, remodeling or repairing for commercial or residential project. A warehouse is maintained in Kempsville to furnish whatever building materials that may be required. The firm is registered with the Virginia State Board of Contractors.

Hospital Ass'n Lists Complaints

Tidewater Hospital Service Association and the 81 other Blue Cross Plans have attacked the proposed "major medical" health insurance coverage for federal employees announced last week by the U. S. Civil Service Commission because the proposal is "based on a faulty analysis of the need," and offers only "illusory benefits."

The Blue Cross Commission of the American Hospital, national coordinating agency for the 81 Blue Cross Plans in the United States, has issued a statement strongly opposing the measure following a joint of its Executive Committee and Government Relations Committee here.

"The proposal of the Civil Service Commission is a poor thing at best, a bad thing at worst, and no real solution to the problem of preparing the true costs of illness," the Blue Cross statement said. It charged that the program "would provide nothing to 99 out of 100 federal employees," and that it "does not fulfill the Administration's pledge to assist federal employees to obtain prepayment benefits."

(The Civil Service Commission's announcement set forth a program that would provide 75% of the costs of care following payment by the employee of $500 for hospital expense, $200 for surgical expense and from $100 to $200 for medical expense, per year by each member of a family. There would be limits of $5,000 benefit per year, per person, and $10,000 for life, with limits reinstatable upon evidence of complete recovery. The coverage would be provided through an amendment to the Act providing group life insurance for federal employees, wholly at government expense, at an estimated annual cost of $32,800,000.)

The Blue Cross statement charged the Civil Service Commission had refused to approve payroll deduction for purchase of basic coverage by federal employees "as private business has done," and rejected the Civil Service claim that "administrative complexities inherent in the problem 'make payroll deduction impractical.' The statement pointed out that Civil Service Commission had supported two legislative proposals in 1954 and 1955 which did provide for payroll deduction, and commented that "it seems rather late in the consideration of this matter for the Civil Service Commission to reverse itself."

"What the average federal employee needs is a program of sound basic coverage for the costs of illness," it was asserted. "That this is true is evidenced by the fact that there are more than 2,000,000 federal employees and dependents who have bought and paid for Blue Cross membership, along with more than 50,000,000 other Americans — despite the fact that the Federal Government has never cooperated with its employees by making arrangements for group coverage, including payroll deduction," the statement maintained.

"While the proposal can bring some relief to those afflicted with the highest and most disastrous costs — chiefly those in the higher income brackets — it will pay nothing toward the cost of most illness to which the large majority of federal employees and their families will be subject," it charged. The statement quoted Civil Service surveys that 94% of federal employees received salaries of less than $6,000 per year, with a "median income of "closer to $3,700" annually, and asserted that "expenditure of $850 per person, per year by such families (the minimum deductible amounts in the proposed program) would be more catastrophic than the occasional high cost of care that might result in benefit from the so-called 'major medical' coverage."

"The nation's voluntary Blue Cross Plans are confident that the Congress and the federal employees will not accept such an illusory program in lieu of real benefit, effective program," the statement concluded.

Tidewater Hospital Service Association, the Blue Cross Plan serving the Tidewater Virginia area, provides hospitalization and medical-surgical services to approximately 76,000 persons, including many thousands of federal employees and their families. As a Plan which operates not for profit, but to fill a very great social need, it is naturally interested in seeing that people receive the coverage they will need the most. Mr. Derwood B. Kelly, Manager, emphasized that Blue Cross is entirely in favor of hospitalization and medical-surgical benefits being available, either wholly or in part at government expense, to federal employees, but that the coverage furnished should be that which will benefit the majority of the employees to the greatest extent. In other words the real need is for the basic benefits rather than major medical expense coverage.

ON THE UNUSAL SIDE

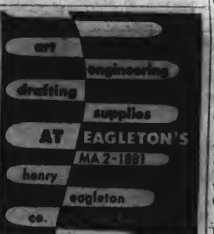

There is a plant that grows well in this area that holds a particular interest and curiosity for us. It is the bamboo that abounds so prolifically in the woodland areas of this section of the country.

Bamboos are native to the Orient but due to the similarity between certain of our climates, these plants grow quite well here. They are evergreen shrubs with strap-like leaves six to ten inches long and about an inch wide. The stems of the plants are like the true Oriental bamboo with the hollow center and regular cross solid sections formed at the leaf nodes.

These plants have several excellent uses in landscaping your home grounds. Their foremost advantage is that they are narrow upright plants and therefore are quite useful for screening off sections of your yard. A row or possibly a double row should be planted six to twelve inches apart in order to give you a relatively dense screen. The roots will soon send up additional shoots and in a season or two, you will be highly pleased with the results. A high nitrogen bearing fertilizer is the perfect solution for fast lush vigorous growth that will rapidly give a desired effect.

The plants are easily moved and are quite indifferent as to soil preference or the presence of lots of sunlight or simply heavy shade. One slight point to be aware of is to not let the bamboo spread too much into your yard. It will readily do this if the roots are not restricted with metal root barrier or the shoots are not kept cut as they appear above the surface of the ground.

An additional feature that makes the plants desirable is its ability to withstand salt spray with a high degree of success. And growing in sand as it does; you should be able to get them started quite easily.

The Yucca is another unusual plant. It is stiff and formal, yet interesting and unusual in its growth characteristics. They are native to the hot dry areas of the United States as well as Mexico. In this area native Yucca are to be found along the outer banks in North Carolina. Several prominent hotels and motels in eastern Virginia and North Carolina utilize the plants to good advantage in their landscaping.

For the average home owner, the Yucca has small advantage except in the Spanish type architecture or where a specific effect is being strived for. Certainly they are useful for those sandy areas where nothing else will grow well, and they should be given consideration from this point of view.

There are two main varieties of Yucca seen in this area. The Yucca filamentosa has dull green leaves and the characteristic creamy white on a tall spike. Yucca gloriosa is a tall growing Yucca reaching heights of fifteen and twenty feet if left alone. It is similar to the former except that the leaves have shiny surface in lieu of a dull surface.

VIRGINIA BEACH HIGH SCHOOL

V.B.H.S. HOLDS TWENTY-NINTH S.C.A. MEETING

The meeting was called to order at 10:00 in the Home Ec. Department on April 9, 1956.

Following the devotion by Muff Waters, the business meeting began. The roll was called by the Secretary. Twenty members were present. Five Juniors were absent because of tests. The minutes of the previous meeting were read. Correction were called for by the President.

Reports were heard from the various committees. The Secretary stated that the blessing leaders for the next three weeks will be Diane McCombs, Brian Zitzman, and Linda Hearne.

David Watts stated that the Bulletin Board Committee had been assembling material for next week's display. Muff Waters stated that signs were made and the student body was aware of Clean-Up week. Bill Everett, in charge of the exam exemption program stated that he had been notified that it will be delayed until after the evaluation of the school. This is due to the larger amount of work on the faculty at this time.

Mr. Parker stated that on April 13, our exchange program will be presented at Deep Creek. Miss Gadduth was contacted about the program by the President.

Our candidates for the Tri-C Federation are: Diane McCombs, President; Betsy Southland, Secretary; and Muff Waters, Parliamentarian. Gray Schaefer reported on last year's method of electing officers. Each school has five votes. A discussion of the candidates and their speakers for office is held.

The session ended at 12:40 and the students reported back to class.

BASEBALL "Seahawk Style"

The Virginia Beach High Baseball team will play Norfolk Catholic in Norfolk on April 10, and Princess Anne at Princess Anne on April 13. Last year P. A. defeated us 6-1 and the Crusaders whipped us 18-1. We bounced back though to beat Catholic 5-4 on our last game of the season.

We will play twelve games this year, six home and six away. We play six teams twice, Norfolk Catholic, Norfolk Academy, Great Bridge, Deep Creek, Princess Anne, and Churchland. In May all home games will be at night (7:00 p. m. or 7:30 p. m.)

Heading the pitching staff is

Leroy McReynolds and Morris Jester. In the infield is Lee Johnson, Jay Smithson, Ronnie Chute, and Bruce Hague. In the outfield there is Al Cross, Jerry Newton, and Harry Moseley.

The Seahawks had a 3-8 record last year but should improve next year. One thing this school hasn't got is school spirit in spring sports. The Baseball team needs your support, and you should get out and route the team on. You will never know how much it helps to hear someone behind you. So get out and back the Seahawks nine.

HAPPENINGS AROUND V.B.H.S.

Virginia Beach had its first Golf Match with Norwex Tuesday. The Stars are Sam Evans, Charles Meschum, Ashley Haycox, and Fuller Moore.

East Carolina College was visited by Keith Wilder, Becky Edwards, Geneva Frazier, Frank Tarrall, Tommy Barnes, Morris Jester, and Charles Meschum.

The Galilee Episcopal Church broke ground for its new church at 40th Street last Sunday April 8.

Mr. Johnson and seven students who visited East Carolina had a fine time.

The Junior-Senior Banquet and Dance is to be held May 26 at the Surf Club.

Quite a few V.B.H.S. students were seen at the Junior Military Assembly Dance Friday night. Prizes were awarded for a walk and a jitterbug contest. Buddy Butters and his orchestra provided excellent music.

Billy Everett, Bill Costenbader, Ashley Haycox, and Mahone Tarrall represented the Alpha Hi-Y at the Model General Assembly.

The Azalea Festival will be this week-end and V.B.H.S. surely has pretty representatives.

Courtney Stormont had a very sentimental party Friday night. Tell us about Linda, Morris, Tommy, Jane, Sam and Cahrlie.

Plans were made for the Evaluation of the school on Tuesday, April 10 which were carried out very well.

The government classes are learning to fill out income tax returns. Each student was given a Student Handbook of a General Course. In this booklet there are various problems to be worked out.

Track meet at Princess Anne High School on Wednesday of this week.

We play Norfolk Catholic High School in Baseball tomorrow.

Bernard Hobson starts driving the school bus soon. Bill Hall is going to work for the police department as dispatcher.

THE ANNUAL CLUB
The Annual club is composed of the Annual Staff. Its duty is to publish the "Hurricane", the annual of Virginia Beach High School.

The school staff has made many plans to make this yearbook the best of any yet published. Many of the plans for the book remain secret. The Annual promises to be a big surprise. It is due for circulation on the 15th of May.

The Staff is headed by Sandra Hood, Editor, Donald Hartley, Associate Editor, and Bill Costenbader, Business Manager. Mrs. Martha W. Thompson is the sponsor.

V.B.H.S. STUDENT'S VISIT

At six fifteen on the very wet morning of April 8, eight sleepy people started on their way to Greenville, N. C. to see East Carolina College. We ate breakfast in Murfreesboro at eight o'clock and then proceeded to Greenville where we arrived around ten thirty.

The first thing we did when we arrived at the campus was to register and then we went to the big auditorium where we heard speeches, listened to their glee club, a beautiful singing duet, and a great jazz band. Afterwards we were given guides to show us all around the campus and through the different buildings.

There are new dorms there and the new library is really something to see. We all enjoyed a great chicken dinner at the college cafeteria and then some went to a fashion show while others looked over more of the college.

As R. O. T. C. program which had been scheduled for us along with a baseball game was postponed because of bad weather.

After much confusion, we finally rounded up everyone up to go home and a tired but happy bunch had enjoyed a wonderful day.

Those who went were Becky Edwards, Geneva Frazier, Keith Wilder, Frank Tarrall, Morris Jester, Tommy Barnes, Charles Meschum and Mr. Johnson.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PLANS BEGUN

Mrs. Cooke and the Junior class have announced that the Junior-Senior Banquet and Dance will be held at the Surf Club on May 26. Bob Melver has been elected head of the planning committee and preparations are under way for the selection of a theme. It was also decided that $3.50 will be charged to any junior or senior bringing a guest from the outside of the two classes.

V.B.H.S. STUDENTS ATTEND

M. G. A.
Thursday morning, eight students from V.B.H.S. left for a week-end in Richmond. The scene was the ninth annual Model General Assembly, sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. of Virginia.

Those attending the convention from the Alpha Hi-Y were: Ashley Haycox, Bill Everett, Bill Costenbader and Mahone Tarrall.

Tremendous Is The Word For New Film Hit, 'The Conqueror'

When Howard Hughes sets out to make a big picture, he not only makes the purse but he throws the proverbial strings away.

"The Conqueror," which RKO Radio Pictures hails as a $6,000, 000 Howard Hughes' presentation, is the latest — and undoubtedly the most costly — example of his lavishness. And it shows every cent of the money that was spent

The girls Tri-Hi-Y clubs were represented by Harriet Durham, Diane McCombs, Ann Price, and Audrey Southard.

Friday morning was devoted to committee meetings where bills were either passed or killed. At nine-thirty the House of Delegates and the Senate convened separately with Ann Minter and Eva Rue presiding respectively. Bills were discussed, voted on, and passed on to the other branch of the legislature.

Bills which were passed by both houses were taken to the Youth Governor Don Miller for his consideration. Those bills which he signed will appear before the regular General Assembly at their next session.

Those students who attended have returned with a better knowledge of our Virginia government.

known as Ghengis Khan, "The perfect Warrior."

It is doubtful if the screen of the Beach Theatre has ever presented a more savage and thrilling spectacle of ancient warfare than is shown in this big CinemaScope Technicolor production when John Wayne leads his Mongol hordes against the charging Tartar horsemen. The screen is filled with thousands of galloping men and hundreds of galloping plunging horses. It is a tremendous tribute to the filmmakers' skill that neither serious accident nor death to men and animals occurred in the studios.

An equally lavish hand was extended to the casting of "The Conqueror." Portraying the Mongol leader, Temu'n, who was to become the mighty Ghengis Khan, John Wayne offers a portrayal which should do much to keep him riding high on what is apparently a prepubertal, ever-well-tide of popularity.

Susan Hayward, who gains in dramatic stature with each succeeding film, is fiery and beautiful as the Tartar daughter of his greatest foe.

A note of decided interest is added in the palace scenes where she dances on the screen for the first time.

SUSAN HAYWARD plays Tartar beauty in Howard Hughes "The Conqueror."

Police Court Upheld In Case Of Ex-Boxer

The contempt of court citation by Virginia Beach Police Justice Eugene V. Gresham against Elias Fletcher, the former Marine Corps boxer, who refused to testify in a case before the city court, was upheld Monday in the Princess Anne County Circuit Court by Associate Judge Henry W. Mackenzie, Jr.

Judge Mackenzie had heard the appeal in the contempt case brought by James E. Heath, who maintained that the beach police judge did not have jurisdiction to hear an assault charge in which Fletcher was a witness.

Fletcher had refused to testify on the advice of his attorney. The case was that in which Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson was accused of having offered to pay Fletcher $500 to "beat up" J. Willcox Dunn, county newspaperman. Johnson was acquitted of the charge.

Heath noted an exception to Judge Mackenzie's ruling, and the case has been continued to May 1.

In his decision, Judge Mackenzie concluded that a Virginia Beach Police Court judge has the authority to hear and determine a common law misdemeanor.

He added that, since Fletcher was called as a witness, his refusal to testify constituted contempt, punishable by the court. Judge Mackenzie levied a $10 fine.

Beach Junior Named Head Of Student Group

Miss Diane McCombs, a junior at the Virginia Beach High School, was elected president of the Tri-C Federation of the District Student Cooperative Association at a meeting Tuesday at Deep Creek High School.

Miss McCombs was elected to serve as head of the district group for the 1956-1957 school year. In addition to Miss McCombs' election, Miss Muff Weaver, a freshman in Virginia Beach High School, was elected parliamentarian for the district.

The new president has been a member of the Student Cooperative Council at the local school for the past three years. She is also president of the school's Spirit Club.

Seven schools are included in the district federation of the Tri-C Federation. The schools are Chesham, Great Bridge, Deep Creek, Princess Anne, Cradock, Cedar Smith, Norview and Virginia Beach.

Miss McCombs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. McCombs, of Virginia Beach.

The ladies only hope there will be no more vandalism of this type.

Fire Chief Bayne Gives Advice On Clean-Up Week

This is Spring Clean-Up Week in Va. Beach sponsored by the Va. Beach Fire Department.

Chief Bayne quoted an estimate by the National Fire Protection Association that nearly half of the country's 2,000,000 fires last year started in rubbish or dried grass and brush. And most of these fires, the Chief said, occurred in cities and towns, not in the country where you might expect grass and brush to be most common.

As you value the safety of your family and property, the Chief pleaded, organize a group in your neighborhood now during Clean-Up Week to go in and eliminate the fire-breeder areas immediately. You can't afford to wait for someone else to do it for you.

A CLEAN HOUSE NEVER BURNS. Most folks have the makings of a real "good" fire in their homes simply because they don't know what rubbish is, warns Fire Chief Bubba Bayne.

In a special Spring Clean-Up Week plea, Chief Bayne urged all householders to immediately learn how to spot junk and other quick burning things around the home, for these are a real fire danger.

"Then," he said, "get into the habit of disposing of it regularly and often, and you'll be contributing more to the fire safety of your family and home than could all the fire departments for miles around."

Here, according to Chief Bayne, are some of the things that firemen classify as "rubbish"—the fuel that fire needs: lamp shades, old mattresses, cast off clothing and furniture, loosely piled newspapers, dirty rags (particularly those that have been used for polishing or painting), old boxes, toys, scrap lumber, old fags.

FIRE CHIEF WARNS AGAINST FOOLISH FUELING

It's Spring. And to you who are about to dust off your power mower or outboard motor, this Clean-Up advice from Fire Chief Bubba Bayne:

Remember that as little as half pint of gasoline, spilled on the floor, vaporized and ignited, can and too frequently does cause fatal results.

Jaycees Plan Annual Road-e-o Next Week

The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce will conduct its annual Teen-age Road-e-o on Friday and Saturday May 18 and 19. This contest is open to all students of Virginia Beach under 20 years of age and will consist of written and skill examinations. The public is invited to view the obstacle exercises on May 19 which in the past have proved to be of much interest. Entry blanks can be obtained from the High School, Barr's Pharmacy or Ingram's Pharmacy. The Road-e-o is an annual education program designed to instill safe driving habits and knowledge in the minds of the teen-ager and in addition to the Jaycees is sponsored by the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, the American Trucking Association, Inc., and the Chrysler Corporation. Prizes will be awarded to the local winners and in addition the top winner will be eligible for competition in the State Finals in Charlottesville on June 16th, for a $500 scholarship and an all-expense trip to Washington, D. C. The Teen-age Road-e-o will award the national winners three scholarships of $1500, $1000 and $500 each. Sam Mason has been named Road-e-o Chairman for the local Jaycee chapter.

A proposed new health center and a pay raise for police and firemen were the major developments at the regular meeting of the Virginia Beach City Council the past Monday.

The new pay scale for members of the police and fire departments will become effective on July 1, the beginning of the city's next fiscal year. Basically it will afford a starting salary of $283 in place of the present $209.

The new pay scale had been sought at the March meeting of Council and was explained to the group Monday by City Manager W. Russell Hatchett, who stated that the new pay scale will follow the pay rates now in effect in the City of Norfolk.

Councilman John W. McCombs proposed the health center project and made the motion to appropriate funds to reserve Federal participation in the project. McCombs noted the need for a new center and urged his fellow councilmen to act on the matter.

An appropriation of $7000 was voted towards the construction of the new health center for the City. The new center will cost approximately $46,000. The appropriation assures reservation of federal funds for the project allowable under the Hill-Burton Act.

Of the total cost of the health center, the City will pay $21,000 and the Federal Government $25,000. It is expected the center will be constructed some time next year.

The City Council heard a representative of a voting machine manufacturer explain the value of using such machines in election after which the Councilman motioned to accept the bid for two Virgin Beach precincts.

Actual wording of the recommendations was that the Electoral Board purchasing the automatic voting machines, subject to City Council approval, and have them available at the earliest possible date.

County To Have Large Delegate Vote At Meeting

Princess Anne County has been authorized 31 delegates and the City of Virginia Beach eight delegates to the State Democratic Convention to be held in Richmond on July 27. It is the party's presidential year state convention.

The number of delegates is determined by the number of one delegate for every 300 votes in the Democratic election of 1952 for the United States Senate. The Princess Anne total is the second largest in the State, topped only by the City of Hampton.

The State's convention date was set at a meeting held last Monday in Richmond by the Virginia Democratic Central Committee. Representatives of all 10 districts were present at the meeting.

Only one clue as to the mood of Democratic leaders was evident. It came with the mention by separate committee members of a desire for former Governor John S. Battle to be the State Convention keynote.

Noted Speakers Congratulated

Mrs. Robert Blumhiller, president of the Cape Henry Woman's Club, is shown congratulating Wade Marr, noted speaker, who recently spoke at the club's annual husbands night dinner party. Looking on is W. P. McDowell, of Elizabeth City, N. C., who introduced Marr, who is also a resident of the North Carolina city. (Boice Photo)

Proceeds from the show are earmarked for the Princess Anne Ruritan Club's charity fund. In the past funds from this source have been used to buy band uniforms at the high school and equipment for the athletic department.

Local talent makes up the cast of the show. For example, a list of end men in the minstrel includes Richard Keilman, Les Lam, John McFall, Frank Malbon, Ivan Mapp, Jack Etheridge, Pat Kelley, Johnny Vaughan, Graham Dalton, and John Madden.

A fashion show is expected to be one of the most interesting parts of the program. Listed as "models" are Frank Cox, R. H. Owen, Les Newman, Col. Edward Garrett, M. P. Strickler, Frank Kellam, Jr. and John Collins. In addition to club members the cast will be augmented with dancers from the Oliver School of Dance. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Ruritan Club and members of the Princess Anne High School band.

Luncheon Set For April 29 At Fort Story

The annual Cape Henry Pilgrimage buffet luncheon will be held at Fort Story Sunday, April 29, from 1 until 2:30 p.m., preceding the memorial religious service at the Cape Henry cross at 3 o'clock.

The luncheon is being sponsored this year by the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, assisted by the Emblem Club, the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Cape Henry-by-the-Sea Garden Club.

Plans for the 350th Jamestown anniversary celebration, which will take place next year, will be discussed at the luncheon and the important part that Cape Henry will play in the celebration will be considered.

Col. George E. Wood, commanding officer at Ft. Story, will be host to the luncheon group, assisted by Lt. T. S. Berry.

Reservations for luncheon tickets may be made by calling Mrs. Sue Currie at JU 7-3451, Mrs. H. M. Schriener at JU 3-1451, or Miss June Brown at JU 4-0125.

The following committee members will work with Col. Wood and Lt. Berry on luncheon plans: Chairman, Mrs. H. M. Schriener; co-chairman, Miss Christine Dunne; ticket chairman, Miss June Brown; co-ticket chairman, Mrs. Sue Currie; other committee members, Mrs. Joyce Caroon, Miss Carolyn Meigs, Mrs. Peggy Henderson, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Miss Jane Cornwell, Mrs. Colleen Hanson, Mrs. Eloya Eubank, Miss Ann Davis, Miss Mildred Baker and Miss Marjorie Thomas.

There may be lipsticks that never smudge, but the women I know don't use the right brand, judging by discolored cigarette butts left in the ashtrays from bath to library.

Music Scholarship Awarded

Mrs. T. H. Caffrey, fine arts chairman of the Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County, is shown presenting a $125 music scholarship to young Mike Marinelli, seventh grade student at Oceana. The scholarship is given by the club and entrance were examined by Edgar Schenkman, director of the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra. Mike plays the clarinet. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Marinelli, of London Bridge. (Boice Photo)

County, Beach Garden Tour To Begin On Sunday

Princess Anne Homes Open On Sunday, Monday

By Katherine Fontaine Syer
Historic Garden Week in Princess Anne County will be observed on Sunday, April 22nd and Monday, April 23rd. The admission charge will be used by The Garden Club of Virginia to further restore the gardens of Woodlawn Plantation. This handsome Potomac River plantation was a wedding gift of George Washington to his adopted daughter, Eleanor Parke (Nelly) Custis, when she married his nephew, Lawrence Lewis.

The Princess Anne Garden Club is sponsoring a tour of some of the oldest landmarks in the County. The Chairman of Historic Garden Week, Mrs. Edward G. Raguet has announced the following program:

Sea Breeze Farm—This remarkable garden, or collection of gardens, has been created by the Misses Hill since 1918 on the site of the Old Globe of Lynnhaven Parish and the site of the first colonial court, which was held in 1637.

Adam Thoroughgood House—This house is a perfect example of early Virginia architecture. It has this year been endowed by a Foundation of the same name and at the present time has been literally taken apart inside and its construction is being studied by specialists in colonial architecture. Much of interest will be exposed at the time of the tour. Those interested in construction and architecture will appreciate this opportunity to see this interesting house during its reconstruction. The proportions of this house and its chimneys are so beautiful, they have been copied by home builders all over the United States. An excellent picture appeared in an article of the April National Geographic Magazine called "History Keeps House in Virginia."

Adam Keeling—This house is of the same period as Thoroughgood and was also included in the National Geographic Magazine article. Admiral and Mrs. Leon Williams, its present owners have furnished their home with a remarkable collection of antique furniture, rugs, glass and china. The exterior brickwork of this house is remarkable. The headers of the Flemish bonding are blue throughout and in the eaves are left to form a series of inverted chevrons following the lines of the roof.

Wild Flower Preserve—This is a natural wild garden, spread around the shores of Lake Lawson, one of the lakes of the watershed of the City of Norfolk. This has been part of the Princess Anne Garden Club's conservation program since 1932, when the Club was organized. This Preserve affords an opportunity for a new experience to a great many people. Members of the Club's Conservation Committee will guide tourists.

OLD AND NEW LIGHTHOUSES AT CAPE HENRY

The first Congress of the new United States Government ordered this old lighthouse built. George Washington, as President of the United States approved the Act, and in 1798 the State of Virginia ceded two acres of land at Cape Henry to the new Government and in 1791 the United States of America built its first lighthouse. The Norfolk Chapter of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, who have had the custody of the old lighthouse since 1930, when they received it from the United States Government.

The "new" Cape Henry Lighthouse was built in 1861 and is the tallest fully enclosed lighthouse in the Lighthouse Service. Those able to climb its many stairs will see a wonderful view as well as the light which marks Hampton Roads.

Old Donation Church (1716) The church of Lynnhaven Parish was founded prior to 1639. The first church building was at Church Point on property owned by Looking back three centuries is young John Taylor, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brook Taylor, as he gazes in awe into the fireplace of the old Adam Keeling home in Princess Anne County. They built them big — and sturdy — three hundred years ago. The Keeling home will be open to the public during Garden Week.

One of the most famous show places of Princess Anne County is the Sea Breeze Farm, owned by the Misses Hill, who are seen here on the rustic steps leading to the Oyster House. This farm is included in the Historic Garden Week Tour.

Fleming represented the Drama, Literary and Poetry Department of the Club. On Wednesday, April 19th Mrs. Frank Klepper, Mrs. Earl DuVal, Mrs. Florence Turner, Mrs. T. C. Berry and Mrs. J. D. Wilson traveled to Richmond to present Mrs. Klepper's play, "Mrs. President" at the luncheon meeting of the Tidewater District. Mrs. Turner appeared in the title role.

Adam Thoroughgood, but this church became unsafe when Lynnhaven Inlet was opened and the water level rose. Several church buildings later in 1736 the present brick church was built. The old Baptistal Point from the Church Point Church was saved and is used today. Information about routes is available at the local Chamber of Commerce.

Beach Homes Open Tuesday To Tourist

A beautiful bay, a magic lake, a scenic golf course and naturally the Atlantic itself compete for the visitor's interest as settings for the homes to be opened at Virginia Beach on April 24 during Historic Garden Week.

Linkhorn Bay has one entry in the delightful pot-pourri of residences—that of Mr. and Mrs. F. Preston Hix in Bay Colony. The Georgian home of the Hix's is formal and features 18th century furniture, especially a Queen Anne chest that was bought by the Williamsburg Restoration when the Governor's Palace was being furnished.

Crystal Lake offers the homes of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lawson Miles Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. George Watts Hill, of Durham, N. C. The Miles place will delight those who admire spaciousness and enjoy the garden side of the tour. But the white columned house with its library containing nationally famous collections of first editions, its enormous glass-roofed porch and general "lived-in" atmosphere is paramount. "Quail Roost," the Summer home of the Hills was once a stable, but only in the pine paneled living room, with the original beamed ceiling, is there a hint of former days. Early American furniture abounds; among which is a Dutch dresser containing a wonderful collection of old French plates. Facing the lake is a magnificent red oak believed to be over 250 years old, the largest in Princess Anne County.

The green fairways of the Princess Anne Golf Club have as their candidate the painted brick home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Oley Miller. The rooms are large and furnished mainly with continental furniture, the drawing room being Louis XVI. Of particular delight is an Italian carved-back bench and two delicate Italian commodes with a portrait by St. Memin hanging over the bench.

The "Ocean's" contribution is the Fielding Jeter home atop a high sand dune on the very shores. The house itself shows a strong Bermudian influence and the interior is tastefully furnished with beautiful antiques, many of them heirlooms. Mrs. Jeter was formerly an interior decorator having studied at the Parsons School in both New York and Paris. The home shows an artist's touch.

The reader will have noticed that no mention has been made of "view." This was only to avoid monotonous repetition, for it is the one thing all these homes have in common. The visitor, with the exception of those especially partial to mountains, will marvel at the scenic loveliness evident in each and every one of the locales of these five homes.

Also open for Garden Week is the Eastern Shore Chapel on the Laskin Road. This church is the fourth Eastern Shore Chapel; the first being built in 1690 a mile northwest of the present city. A second followed in 1724 on what used to be the Salisbury plantation. It in turn gave way to a third in 1755 on the same spot. The present church was moved when the Navy required the land for air fields. It was completed in 1954. The font, pews, lectern, stair rail to the gallery and the flags are from the 1755 church. The lovely Communion service was given by Queen Anne's Bounty in the 18th century.

Luncheon will be served by the women of Eastern Shore Chapel from noon on.

Keeping The Voter Informed

A newspaper article appearing in a Norfolk newspaper several days ago dealt with the relative calm surrounding the Virginia Beach councilmanic election as contrasted to previous elections held here. The article went beyond that point, however, in its news story concerning the forthcoming council election here on June 12th.

A two-candidate slate is now formed called the Greater Virginia Beach Ticket, but both of the candidates first announced as "Independents", then quickly aligned themselves with the Dunn-Heath-Weary-Malbon clique. This alignment was no great surprise and from reports the two men were hand-picked by this group to oppose the incumbent Organization candidates, Mayor Frank A. Dunn and Councilman John W. McCombs, as the anti-organization front men of Dunn-Heath-Malbon and Weary.

The newspaper article reported that Leslie A. Weary and former Sheriff C. Roger Malbon may be campaign leaders for the Dunn-Heath crowd, although it also indicated that Willie Dunn and James E. Heath would like to run the anti-campaign. The article gives the impression that a tug-of-war is being waged by Weary and Malbon on one side and Dunn and Heath on the other as to the conduct of the anti's strategy.

One of the strangest aspects of the article is the fact that Malbon, the former sheriff, of the county is mentioned as a probable co-manager of the anti campaign with Weary. This is an election for City Council of the City of Virginia Beach and here is a resident of Princess Anne County trying to influence the voter of the City of Virginia Beach. It would seem that a city election should be left to the city voter in the selection of its members of the city council.

However, Malbon's participation in the councilmanic campaign is not as strange as it might appear when you consider one of the candidates he is backing along with Dunn and Heath. Kenneth B. Cruser, owns a home in Princess Anne County and only recently rented an apartment in Virginia Beach after he had announced as a candidate for city council. This is indeed a strange setup the anti's have formed. Two Princess Anne County men, one probably to serve as campaign manager, and the other a candidate in a City of Virginia Beach election.

The article further pointed out that the relative calm might be attributed to the efforts of the anti's to resolve just who will direct strategy for their ticket. Will it be Weary and Malbon or will it be Dunn and Heath? The apparent struggle for power by this quartet undoubtedly will result in all four serving as signal callers for the anti-organization candidates.

The coming campaign may appear strange in comparison to past elections here, but as the news story pointed out the anti-organization is without any real issues and the incumbent Organization men have excellent records of service to the public and both men possess fine reputations representing progressive and sound government for all the people.

The Health Center Project

City Councilman John W. McCombs indicated Monday at the City Council meeting that he keeps abreast of the varied city functions when he introduced a project to construct a new health center and explained the need for an immediate appropriation to freeze certain Federal funds available to the city under the Hill-Burton act for such construction.

Councilman McCombs brought the matter before Council and by his action was able to have approved an appropriation which will enable the City of Virginia Beach to receive $25,000 in Federal funds when the project is started.

The health center is a very necessary improvement which is estimated will cost $46,000 to build. By his action on last Monday Councilman McCombs has reduced the ultimate cost to the city by $25,000.

The financial angle is a major point to be considered and Councilman McCombs is to be commended for his work on this project. We feel, also, that he is to be especially commended for recognizing the need for a new health center here and by going to work to get the project underway.

Ruritans To Shine

The forthcoming minstrel and variety show sponsored by the Princess Anne Ruritan Club to be staged at the Princess Anne High School next Friday and Saturday nights looks largely as one of the gayest and funniest shows yet planned in this area.

A list of those scheduled to take part in the show reads like a "Who's Who" and a unique fashion show should be hilarious. The "models" are listed in the program and in the news story this week. We suggest that this list be read.

Very much apart from the entertainment that the Ruritans will offer is the real reason for staging the show in the first place. That is the real meaning of the undertaking. The show is put on to raise funds for the many worthy projects that the Ruritans engage in.

In the past funds from these shows have been put to very good use. The Ruritans are deeply interested in helping the youth of our county and have, practically each year, sponsored youngsters to Girls State and to Boys State.

We commend the Princess Anne Ruritan Club for its fine contribution to our area and we congratulate each and every member for their spirit and determination to make our community a better one now and in the future by their work with the youth of our county.

For a real night of entertainment and fun we recommend the Ruritan minstrel show tomorrow night and Saturday night.

Jurisdiction Upheld

When Associate Judge John W. Mackenzie, Jr., ruled that the Virginia Beach Police Court did have jurisdiction in the trial of Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson and that Silas Fletcher, the former Marine Corp boxer, was in contempt of that court when he refused to testify, it further cleared the air surrounding the "case" against Chief Johnson. Judge Mackenzie handed down his ruling last Monday in the Princess Anne Circuit Court and, at the same time, fined Fletcher for contempt of court.

James E. Heath, the attorney, who advised Fletcher not to testify and who stated in court that Police Justice Gresham and the Police Court did not have jurisdiction to try the case, was soundly rebuked by Judge Mackenzie's ruling.

Upholding the local court's jurisdiction in the case also proved that Commonwealth's Attorney Robert S. Wahab, Jr. was completely versed in the law and was on solid legal grounds in his handling of the matter before Justice Gresham. Wahab pointed out to the court at the time of the trial that it DID have jurisdiction in such matters. Judge Mackenzie's ruling completely proved Wahab's contention.

The whole "case" against Johnson, the trial revealed, was an affair in which Heath and Willie Dunn played prominent roles. Heath appealed the fine of Fletcher by Justice Gresham on the grounds that the Police Court did not have jurisdiction to try the case. The latest development in this week once again proves Heath wrong.

The Editor's Mail Box

(The following letter was written by Frank W. Cox, Superintendent of public schools in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach, to Attorney Archie L. Boswell relative to the controversy concerning school construction in the county.)

April 18, 1956

Mr. Archie L. Boswell
Pruder, Coward & Boswell
Attorneys & Counselors at Law
619-628 Western Union Building
Norfolk 10, Virginia

Dear Mr. Boswell:

This is in reply to your letter of April 5, 1956 advising that you represent the Joint Civic Committee for School Improvement in the Little Creek Area, and requesting certain factual information from this office.

In my recent public announcement, as carried in the press, I stated that the U. S. Office of Education had made a reservation of funds for a primary school to be located on the site of the existing Little Creek School. The official notice from the Office of Education dated March 23, 1956, indicating reservation of funds for this project, is the standard procedure followed by the Office of Education in notifying the applicant concerning the approval of federal grants.

It is true that the Office of Education must have further assurances from the School Board before the first installment of the grant may be made available to the School Board. U. S. Office of Education is that the proposed project must be approved by the School Board. The School Board of the State Board of Education. It should be generally known by your clients that the plans and specifications for this building are now being processed by the Division of School Buildings and this information is being furnished to the U. S. Office of Education. The Office of Education must also be assured that the building can be constructed with the amount of funds requested in the application. This assurance has been given to the effect that should the Federal grant be insufficient to construct the building, the School Board will provide from its own funds any additional amount which may be necessary.

If you had sought information from this office before ignoring an available channel of information, it would not have been necessary for you to seek the desired information from the U. S. Office of Education. In your letter you state, and I quote: "The Office of Education has assured me that any desired information concerning the school situation will be made available to me, and I trust that their action will be correct." I am indeed happy that the U. S. Office of Education, as a result of long dealings with this office, appears to have a confidence in the local School Superintendent and Board of Education, which confidence, apparently is not shared by you.

Under date of March 30, 1956 you received a reply to your letter dated March 23, 1956 to the Commissioner of Education, U. S. Office of Education. I am wondering if you have shared the contents of this letter with your clients. Their reply to your letter documents so well the responsibility of locating school buildings and the use of grants under Public Law 815 by the local Board of Education. You certainly should make this information available to your clients. In the letter from the U. S. Office of Education, it was stated to you in detail, as follows, and I quote:

"It should be pointed out in connection with your study of this material that the local educational agency acting under State law is responsible for determining where school buildings are to be located with funds allotted under this program are to be located. The Office of Education is prohibited from interfering in any manner with the operation of the local school program including the determination of the location of school buildings. Our major responsibility is to determine the eligibility of a school district for Federal assistance and to do everything possible to facilitate construction of the project."

"In submitting its construction application, a school district must set forth the project which it wishes to construct, including a description of the facility and a description of the site. The law requires in Section 205 that the school district give assurances that it has or will have title to the site with the right to construct upon such site school facilities as specified in the application and to maintain such school facilities on such site for a period of not less than 20 years after the completion of the construction. The purpose of this assurance should be apparent. In essence, it means that the project will not be held up after funds are allotted because of questions of title and that the school district must show its legal authority to construct a school on the site and operate that school for school purposes. It does not permit the Federal Government to dictate in any way where the building should be located. Thus, although the application specifies the site on which the building will be constructed, we in the Office of Education are not concerned with the location of this site as such but in obtaining the assurances regarding authority to use the site required by the Act. It follows that we are not directly concerned if the site is changed after the project is submitted so long as we have the required assurances before the project is approved."

"Some applications are submitted indicating in general the location of the school but before negotiations for a specific site have been completed. When the exact site is selected the Housing and Home Finance Agency is notified in order to make the necessary check on the assurances."

A further assurance required by Section 205 is that the school district of the local educational agency shall be available to the children for whose education contributions are provided in this Act on the same terms, in accordance with the laws of the State in which the school district of such agency is situated, as they are available to other children in such school district."

"We are a little bit at a loss to know why this information was requested from this office. It is all available in the records of the School Superintendent of Princess Anne County, and I am quite certain that he would make such information available to you. The school superintendent has the hearing impaired areas have an exceedingly difficult time in keeping school facilities available for the ever-increasing number of federally connected children, and they must plan and locate schools in accordance with the policy set for the school district by the Board of Education and the rules and regulations laid down by the Virginia State Board of Education."

I am submitting herewith on an attached sheet a list of the existing public schools in Princess Anne County, showing the number of classrooms, total number of students, and the number of federally connected students in each. In your letter you state that this information was refused your clients at the various schools. I wish to advise that some of this information is not available in the offices of the respective schools, and it is my thought that even if it were available in the school offices, the proper course of action would be to secure the information from the School Board Office. Several of your clients have been in this office and have received the information they requested."

I am not entirely familiar with the area, which the City of Norfolk seeks to annex. Our interest is to meet the school needs of ALL areas of our county as promptly as possible.

The School Board submits annually to the governing body of the county an estimate of the money necessary to operate the schools of the county for the ensuing fiscal year. The School Board also indicates at that time its needs for capital outlay in order that the appropriate levy may be set. This information is filed with the Board of Supervisors and is available to you for the information which you request. The major request for capital outlay was an amount sufficient to condition for school purposes, barracks at the West Arm of the Naval Amphibious Base. This approximate $40,000.00 and the request for construction of these facilities to school purposes, on a temporary basis, was made to the School Board by petition of a segment of your clients."

I am at a loss to understand your reference to the School Board's failure to accept the site near Little Creek Road and Halperin Drive as a school site. The School Board considers this site suitable for a elementary school and the School Board recommended to the County Board of Supervisors that this site be secured for a school site. You are familiar with the fact that the School Board recommended to the county the conveyance of a small portion of this site to the Catholic Church authorities in exchange for the conveyance of a part of the site to the Little Creek Road. This conveyance will make the school site more suitable for school purposes."

From your letter and statements made in paragraph 8, it would

Pay Raise Deserved

We are convinced that the great majority of the citizens of Virginia Beach were pleased when the City Council voted a raise in pay for members of the city's police and fire departments this week.

Virginia Beach can justifiably be proud of the work of these two departments of her city government. Both are outstanding and bespeak good management and good judgement in the selection of personnel. The pay raise is well deserved, we feel, and each member of these two smooth working departments of our government can accept this raise as a token of the appreciation of a grateful citizenry.

We don't believe any community can boast of finer police and fire departments than Virginia Beach.

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

Bronson Taylor of Atlanta, Georgia, says he doesn't believe in the tapering off process in changing one habit.

Sometimes after graduation from high school he started running around with a "fast" crowd and began to drink. He entered the Service and during his Army career he became a heavy drinker. He kept this up until honorably discharged.

He was married soon after leaving the Army, and without stopping to think about what liquor meant to his marriage he continued to drinking. He discovered before long that he had lost a lot of friends; next he had to give up his job. Not only that, he found that his marriage was about to break up.

Now it was time to face facts: either he had to change or lose everything he valued. He knew that his trouble stemmed from drink, so what did he do. He quit drinking! Right off.

Then he set himself a goal to work toward, a high goal, and he says he hasn't wavered from the path leading to that goal.

He joined the Church for spiritual guidance and learned to control his blessings. That, he says, helped him far more than he can tell.

appear that you are grossly unfamiliar with the concerted efforts of the County School Board to secure school sites in all parts of what may well be considered "Virginia's fastest growing community and one of the fastest in the Nation." If you will take the time to look over our county and see the progress that the county has made in securing these school sites and buildings, I think that ordinary fairness on your part will dictate the conclusion that the county has met most unusual school needs in a large way.

In your letter you state, "that the proposed twenty-room school and the Naval barracks will fall short of meeting the need." It is our thought that with the construction of the proposed twenty classroom building on the existing school site and the conversion of the Naval barracks for school purposes, the school needs of the Little Creek Area will be substantially met and will compare very favorably with other areas of the county.

You may rest assured that the School Board will give its best attention to this important area, seeking and hoping to meet the school needs of the people in that area.

Please rest assured that this office stands ready and willing to discuss this matter with you further should you so desire, if you will arrange for an appointment.

Very truly yours,

Always store gasoline in a standard safety can (look for UL label), never in glass jugs or old oil cans that could easily break, leak, or spill.

Put your cigarette out before pouring gasoline — and always stop the motor and wait until it cools before refilling a gas tank.

Do your fueling outdoors — never fuel or operate gasoline motors in closed garages, indoors, and especially in below-grade basements.

OUTDOOR FIRE A DANGER TO YOUNGSTERS

Keep an eye on your youngsters now that they're outdoors after being cooped up all winter, advises Fire Chief Bubba Bayne, in a special Spring Clean-Up message to mothers.

Children completely unsupervised at outdoors play are often in as much danger from fire as youngsters left home alone.

The Chief points out that this is particularly true in the Springtime because of the numerous rubbish, fires as people burn a winer's accumulation of household trash, yard rubbish, dried grass and brush.

Here are Chief Bayne's recommendations for safeguarding youngsters from outdoor fires:

Keep very young children far away from all bonfires; train older youngsters how to act safely around such fires, how to use available fire fighting equipment; and impressing them with the personal dangers both to themselves and to others that they must avoid; youngsters should be prohibited from starting these fires except when supervised by an older person; all youngsters, too, for their own safety should be taught not to run, but immediately to fall down and roll on the ground if their clothes catch fire; and always remind them to immediately tell their parents or other responsible grown-ups when they see other children starting or playing with a bonfire.

SALVAGE YOUR HOUSEHOLD RUBBISH

Household rubbish is the main target of Spring Clean-Up Week. And while you may be willing to send a truck to pick up your attic and basement, perhaps you're wondering what to do with the stuff after it's been gathered together.

Here's Fire Chief Bayne's suggestion:

The Salvation Army and your local religious and welfare organizations will be only too glad to send a truck to pick up your worthwhile salvage. And by salvage, they are not talking about dirty rags that have been used for cleaning or painting, nor loose newspapers and magazines.

But they can use and are anxious to obtain discarded clothing, rugs, tied and bundled newspapers and magazines, clean linens and rags, and repairable furniture, bedding, electrical equipment and appliances.

Call your local Salvation Army Headquarters or welfare groups today (expect Red Cross — they're interested only in fairly recent magazines).

WIFE OUT FIRE BREEDERS

Vacant lots, alley ways and yards cluttered up with trash and dried weeds and leaves are an ever-present danger to all dwellings and buildings nearby. These dirty places are fire breeders and must be cleaned up. Fire Chief Bayne urged today.

Seconds after birth, infant porpoises must swim to the ocean surface for their first breath. Members of the whistling. Their presence was regarded by old-time sailors as an omen of fair winds.

View Possible Church Site

This is Lynnhaven Colony, a vicinity where there are 1000 homes, many of them are beautiful waterfront residences. It is believed, with the new housing projects, there will be 5000 homes in this area in another year. And as it may seem, there is not a church in this vicinity. However, in a very short time, a church is expected to be erected.

Trio Will Appear Here

The Civic Concert Association which is sponsored by the Virginia Beach Music Club will present the Harp Trio shown above as a bonus concert to its membership on Monday night, April 23, in the Virginia Beach High School auditorium. The trio is made up of Cynthia Otis, harpist; Lorin Bernson, cellist; and Lois Schaefer, flutist.

Three young artists are on the look-out for three strong men whenever they arrive at their concert destination. They are members of the HARP TRIO and in back of their station wagon is a 300 lb. instrument of heavenly sound which must be unloaded and reloaded every time they play a recital. This is a routine occurrence, incidentally, since they compose one of the best trios playing on concert platforms today. Cynthia Otis, harpist; Lorin Bernson, cellist (whose instrument isn't exactly a lightweight either); and Lois Schaefer, flutist, formerly arranged shipping the harp ahead of them, but the over-size station wagon has proved a boon for keeping instruments and musicians together as they tour the country. They will appear Monday night at the Virginia Beach High School.

Miss Otis confides, however, that the bulky instrument does have one rather unique advantage. Rather, its case does. For it is so spacious that she uses it as her wardrobe trunk, and when she is doing a solo concert she can travel lightly with just an overnight bag to carry along. Miss Otis, recently named as the present day perfection of her own instrument, was early accepted as a pupil of the noted Lucile Lawrence at the Mannes College of Music in New York City. Revealing an uncommon talent for music in general and the harp in particular, Cynthia Otis was to achieve academic and music success soon. By the time she had graduated with honors from Meriden High School in her native Connecticut, she had also appeared in many recitals over WNYC in New York, and was selected by Randolph Ganz to be soloist with the New York Philharmonic Young Peoples Series in Carnegie Hall. After this, and despite her youth, Miss Otis was appointed to serve on the faculty of the Hart College of Music in Hartford, and become a member of the Hartford and New Haven Symphonies. All this in addition to her regular concert activities.

New York City-born Lorin Bernson, cellist of the Harp Trio, received his Bachelor of Music degree at the Manhattan School of Music, a studying there on a scholarship basis. Mr. Bernson has been a member of the Buffalo Philharmonic, of the Aeolian Trio, and last summer served on the faculty of San Diego College in California and was also first cellist in the summer symphony conducted there by Robert Shaw.

Flutist, Lois Schaefer, at present playing with the New York City Opera Company, has played with many of the major symphony orchestras in this country, among them the Boston Pops, with which she also appeared as soloist, with the Chicago Symphony, the Sp-

Lutheran Women Are Active In Cancer Work

Although less than a year old, the women's organization of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd of Virginia Beach are operating on the theory that by doing for others they are carrying out the true idea of Christian living.

On the local level, their project is the making of dressings for the Princess Anne Chapter of the Cancer Society. This program in connection with the regular monthly meetings of the two circles was started about two months ago. It has been a success, and more will be made at each meeting. According to Mrs. S. O. Southard who acts as coordinator for the group, one of the most needed materials is word-out, clean sheets. Every housewife is asked not to throw away sheets, either colored or white but to call Mrs. Southard or the Cancer Society and they will pick up and convert into much needed cancer dressings.

Oceana P-TA Meet on Tuesday

The Oceana Parent Teacher Association will meet Tuesday April 24 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mr. Harry B. Davis member of the House of Delegates will be guest speaker.

Delegates will be elected to attend the Tidewater district meeting of the P.T.A. Conference of Parent and Teacher held at Princess Anne High April 26-a banquet; too, open the meeting at 6:30. Babe Ruth League News

Interest in Babe Ruth Baseball for boys 13, 14 and 15 has increased and grown so that original plans for only 4 teams has expanded to 8 teams. There will be two divisions of four teams each, with 15 boys per team, a total of 120 boys. Four teams will comprise the Virginia Beach Division and four teams for the Princess Anne County Division.

Sponsors have already been secured for the eight teams, and these will be announced at a later date.

The Princess Anne Division has already held one Training Practice and both Divisions will hold practice this Saturday, April 21st. The Virginia Beach Division will practice at the Virginia Beach High School Stadium at 2 P. M. Saturday afternoon, and the Princess Anne Division will practice at the Oceana Air Station Baseball Diamond (Enter North Gate) at 1 P. M.

All boys interested in Babe Ruth Baseball are invited to attend these practices. Boys from the Virginia Beach area should go to the High School Stadium, and those from outside the area living in other sections of the county should go to the Oceana Air Station. Those who have not yet registered may do so at these practices. Teams will not be selected until a later date, so there is plenty of time to register. Those eligible to play Babe Ruth Baseball are boys who will be at least 13 years old by August 1st, and who will not be 16 years old until after August 1st.

Parents of boys who expect to play Babe Ruth Baseball are urged to present Birth Certificates to officials at such time as they may be called for. If you do not have a Birth Certificate, then write promptly to the Bureau of Vital Statistics at the capital city of the State in which the boy was born. If his birth was not recorded at the time, then a Delayed Registration should be secured. According to the Rules and Regulations of the National Babe Ruth League, it is absolutely necessary that a Birth Certificate be shown to local officials. Baptismal

Vets Officer Here On April 26th

The Area Representative of the Virginia Division of War Veterans' Claims from Norfolk, Thomas A. Moore, announces his next service trip to this locality for the next week, at which time he will interview veterans or their survivors as usual. Moore assists such clients with their applications forms, and Government papers, and any other necessary services toward obtaining for them their lawful benefits, based on service in the Armed Forces. His schedule is below:

At The Community House, 18th & Arctic Ave., Virginia Beach, from 11:00 A.M. to 3:00 P.M. on Thursday, April 26, 1956.

Division, at his office, phone 3870, or his residence, phone 1993 J. Experience has shown that those men who work with boys in this way make a real contribution to the community, and in fact, get as much pleasure out of the activities as the boys themselves.

26, 1956. Moore visits this same location on every second and fourth Thursdays, each month. On other days he can be reached in the office at 305-6 McKeitt Bldg., 203 E. City Hall Avenue, in Norfolk. His telephone there is MADison 2-9671.

The only husband-wife Chief Warrant Officer combination in the U. S. Navy is stationed at the Naval Air Station, Patuxent River, Md. They are Mr. and Mrs. Harry

One out of three non-smokers carries book matches, presumably for the convenience of smoking friends. Assuming only 50 per cent recovery, there is enough coal in the ground in the United States (1,900,000,000 tons) to meet the thermal energy requirements for 692 years.

An average of over 5,000 persons visit the White House each week.

Commute By Helibus? Routine Says One Official

You'll really live differently when helibuses arrive! Commuting 50 miles to the city by heli-bus will be as routine as it is to drive today, say the editors of "Changing Times." The Kiplinger Magazine.

It is expected to be a real experience for some people in Chicago this year. And within ten years, 1,500,000 passengers will be carried annually and 288 helibus flights will be made daily over the 200 miles between New York and Washington.

You will catch your helibus at a "port" about 200 feet long by 400 feet wide. Inside the helibus you will find seats for 30 or 40 riders. Your bus will be oblong, completely enclosed with glass, and heavily insulated to muffle
the noise of the motor and rotor above. Your helibus will rise slowly, angling slightly, to 1,000 or 2,-

TOP ECONOMY WINNER

Mel Alsbury, Jr., 28, of Hollywood, flashes a winner's smile in Colorado Springs after driving a 1956 Imperial Southampton to the overall top Sweepstakes award in the 1956 Mobilgas Economy Run.
The Imperial averaged 61.3 ton-miles to beat all 20 other cars by the greatest margin in history.

000 feet, and you will have the same sensation as foing up in an elevator. In the air it will move along at a lazy speed of around 100 miles per hour.

The landing will be made at the city airport, located in a clearing in midtown or on a reinforced roof top or a platform floating on a river or a lake.

Bad weather isn't likely to stop the helibus. And safety will be an advertised feature. If the engine should fail, the copter would float gently to earth because the rotor would continue to spin until the machine landed.

No matter how the operators pare it, the price of a helicopter ride, mile for mile, is more expensive today than that of an airplane ride. But operators are already reducing the cost by making the machines bigger, more efficient, more economical to operate.

Even though the helicopter can travel 100 miles per hour, it is not as fast as might be desired. Speed will have to be stepped up to compete, and the use of turbojet engines may pay off.

Bright Colors Favored For Roofs This Year

Light, bright colors with blends of gray and green, and solid white, are the roofing colors most popular with homeowners in 1956.

This was reported today by Fred W. Lagerquist, who, as Manager of Roofing and Allied Products for The Celotex Corporation, keeps close tab on consumer preferences.

"Homeowners show great enthusiasm for these colors, locally as well as nationally," he said.
"These color combinations are most effective on low slope roofs, where so much of the roof area is visible, and are a definite part of the overall color treatment of the home."

The roof can no longer be just any color, and the proper selection is of prime importance in considering the type of material to be used for exterior walls and in choice of either complementing or contrasting trim colors, according to Lagerquist.

Enthusiasm for bright hues is not an isolated phenomenon. It is part of the overall trend to a more exotic treatment of exteriors of modern homes.

Use of sparkling new decorator colors on doors is an example of this. Until recently, doors were not generally considered to have any particular value, design-wise.

Now, they provide color accents that brighten the whole front of the house.

Lagerquist himself has had a part in the vying toward colorful roofs. His company pioneered with the introduction of pastel blends for shingles several years ago.

Another element in the trend to lighter colors for roofs is that they keep a house cooler in hot weather by reflecting the sun's heat rays.

Marine History

During the 1920s and '30s, China was kept in continual turmoil by civil war and hostilities with Japan. Marines with the Asiatic Fl-et, with units stationed in China, or with forces sent from the United States, were frequently called upon to protect American lives and property when they were endangered by the fighting.

The oldest Leatherneck unit stationed in China was the Legation Guard at Peking, maintained since 1905. This force which included a colorful detachment of "Horse Marines," helped protect American interest in northern China during several critical periods.

"China Regiment," landed at Shanghai in March, 1927, and remained there for almost 15 years.

They helped guard the International Settlement when the Chinese Nationalists took Shanghai in 1927. Chinese were fighting in the area in 1933 and 1937.

About a week before the attack on Pearl Harbor most of the 4th Marines sailed for the Philippine Islands, where they were captured after fighting at Bataan and Corregidor. A few custodial and communications personnel left in Shanghai were also taken prisoner, as was the Legation Detachment at Peking.

They Travel "In Class"

Our high school correspondent says that Economics and Geography students are going in for "grass roots" studying.

They're going to charter buses and take off on Operation See-For-Yourself—have a ten-day look at some of the things they've been studying about.

As I remember, it was hard to keep your mind on schoolbooks at this time of year. Today's kids can give in to that old urge to bust out of the classroom—with a clear conscience. Wish they'd take me along.

From where I sit, it doesn't hurt us adults, either, to get out and see how the rest of the country lives. We find the "typical American" doing everything from herding cattle to flying planes... with everything from steak to chowder for his favorite dish... everything from beer to buttermilk for his favorite beverage.
And the more we study our differences the more we learn how alike everyone is underneath.

Kitchen Aids

Braising for cakes and breads will be plump and juicy if soaked in warm water before being added to the batter or dough.

Give a new flavor to dried prunes by adding a few whole cloves while cooking, or cook them in orange or grape juice.

Cold, hard butter is easy to measure if you fill a measuring cup with water to the desired level, then add pieces of butter until the water level is twice that height.

An unused half of lemon can be covered with a small plastic bowl cover or foil paper to keep it from drying out. Don't wait too long before using it. It molds quickly.

Cream cheese to which a small amount of orange juice has been added, is an excellent topping for gingerbread.

A rubber plate-scraper will remove all batter from a bowl much more easily than a spatula or a spoon.

Uncooked oatmeal, if toasted to a delicate brown and used in cookie making, will give a delicious, nutty flavor.

Clean Piano Keys

Water and not enough sunlight will turn ivory piano keys yellow. To clean these yellowed keys use a soft flannel dampened with wood or denatured alcohol. Then be sure your piano keyboard is uncovered part of the time. On some new pianos, plastic keys are being used. These may be cleaned with a damp cloth.

Whoever comes first — the chicken or the barbecue, the bird that deserves most credit for the recent boom in chicken barbecue is the young tender, broiler or fryer.

Supplies will continue to be plentiful on markets during April and prices should be excellent for the buyers. So the barbecue season is underway. Though the big "broiler barbecues", often attended by hundreds or thousands of people, get the headlines, home barbecues are just as popular. The increasing supplies of young chicken on the market have coincided with the trend toward informal cooking and entertaining. Very often it's the man of the family who's the barbecue artist making a specialty of chicken barbecued on a terrace, or patio grill, or over the glowing coals of a backyard barbecue pit. But if March winds or April showers interfere with outdoor cooking, it's easy to barbecue these young chickens in the oven.

To barbecue is to roast slowly by direct heat — over coals or with electric heat or low gas flame occasionally turning and basting the meat with a savory sauce. Slow even cooking develops the most flavor and prevents scorching before the meat is done. Young chickens, 1-1/4 to 3 pounds (ready-to-cook weight) generally are preferred for barbecuing. Split chicken in half or cut in serving pieces, dip in barbecue sauce, place skin side up on grill over hot coals or in pan under direct heat, turn frequently and baste with barbecue sauce using a brush. Chicken should be nicely barbecued in 1 to 1-1/2 hours depending on the heat and the size of the pieces. Most people like it crisp on the outside and well done but juicy underneath.

Much of the success of the barbecue depends on the sauce. Usually this is a tart-sweet-salty mixture with cooking oil added to give rich flavor to lean meat such as that of young chicken. Then, for red color, use catsup, paprika, chili powder and, if you like it hot, a dash of red pepper. Here is the best recipe I know for the sauce!

FORT STORY TELLINGS

The Fort Story Dukwa kept their unbeaten record intact last week, downing two baseball foes at the Cape Henry post diamond.

The Norfolk Naval Retraining Center, Story's opponent in its official 1956 home opener, dropped a 15-0 contest to the Dukwa. Engineering the shutout were a pair of veterans from last year's mound crops, Carl Buniva and Bill Schilling, who held the sailors to three hits. Winning pitcher Buniva hurled the first five innings, fanning 11 batters in succession after allowing singles to the first two sailors at bat. Schilling limited the losers to one safety during the remainder of the game.

Outfielder Robah Hicks led Story's hit parade with two hits to five times at bat, driving across four runs.

Story's next game afforded a bit more suspense but saw the Dukwa come out on top of a 6-5 score against the Chesapeake Athletic Club of Norfolk. Hank McQueney, Story catcher, hit what turned out to be the deciding blow in the second inning when he poled an inside-the-park homer with the bases empty.

Milan Cop started on the mound for the sailors allowing three runs on eight hits and four walks. He was relieved in the sixth frame by Charley News who gave up one hit during the rest of the game, that being a two-run homer by the Norfolkians catcher, Russell.

Three Chesapeake pitchers saw action, giving up 11 hits and five passes. Lenny Keith started for the losers and was replaced in the fourth by Herb Land, who was in turn replaced by Jonny Maddox in the eighth.

Headquarters Company, 5th Transportation Terminal Command B, won Story's intramural bowling championship, edging Headquarters Detachment, 376th Transportation Battalion, in a nine-game series. Total pinfall was 7,444 to 6,640.

Headquarters Company also led in separate nights, copping the high three-game series with 2,488 pins, and high single game with 1,000 pins. Lester Sehnrich led the team in individual three-game series with a pinfall of 613 and teammate John Gore rolled the highest single game, 235.

Leake-Slingluff Wedding Vows Spoken At Eastern Shore Chapel

The marriage of Miss Hampton Slingluff daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haines Slingluff of Annapolis to Edward Archer Leake Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Archer Leake of Richmond, took place last Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Eastern Shore Chapel.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Causey Barton Jr., rector of the church, in a setting of Easter lilies, white stork, magnolia leaves and lighted candles. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Spencer R. Matthews, church organist and Carroll E. Trapp, church violinist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding dress of antique ivory organza taffeta and a full length veil of Tuscany lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Craig Lee Slingluff, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Mary Susan Comer, of North Worth, Texas; Miss Carol Shanklin Campbell, of Raleigh, N. C.; Miss Mary Anne Harrison Saunders, of Richmond; Miss Sally Anne Ringle, of New Orleans, La.; Miss Julia Wellborn Digges, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Miss Stuart Temple Foreberg, of Virginia Beach and Miss Margaret Cotton Bayne, of Norfolk. All the attendants were dressed of down blue taffeta and carried bouquets of yellow carnations and blue delphinium.

GARDEN GUIDE

By
J. WILTON
ANDERSON

In our area where hot summers are a detriment to the best interest of gardens, it is nice to have a lot of color where little work is required. Gladiolus bulbs will do just that. They bloom two to three months after planting and each bulb is colorful for about two weeks. A continuation of flowering can be obtained by planting several groups of bulbs at two week intervals from April through June.

Gladiolus are good as cut flowers or just left in the yard. They are good from the landscape point of view because their vertical habit of growth provides a nice accent, particularly when planted in groups of five or more. The upward growth permits planting close to shrubs and flowers.

The soil requirements of gladiolus are not at all stringent; they will do well in good loam, almost pure sand, or almost pure clay. However, the clay and sand extremes should be modified by chopping in humus in the form of peat moss, Michigan peat, decayed leaves etc. The bulbs are further desirable from the summer gardener's point of view in that they do not require much in the way of water except that during the first six weeks when the bulbs are sending out roots, they do need to be well watered. Of course, spring showers ordinarily take care of this requirement.

Bulbs planted at the end of spring for late summer blooming may suffer from lack of rain and should be watered.

Many gardeners dig their gladiolus each fall and store them throughout the winter. This has several advantages. Since the bulbs multiply by dividing, they can be kept from becoming too crowded for their own good by digging and repacking the following spring. In heavy, poorly-drained soils the bulbs could not do this during winter. Plants left in the ground over winter will all start growing at the same time thus preventing a long succession of blooms as when they are planted at two week intervals.

Golds have an interesting way of dividing; each bulb forms two rather large bulbs (or more properly called corms) plus a lot of smaller cormlets. The cormlets can be balled into growth to flowering size, but for most gardeners, the two for one stock split should be sufficient.

The size of a gladiolus is important when purchasing. The larger the corm, the more expensive it is and the more satisfactory will be the flowers produced. Bargains are available, but often will not even bloom the first year or if they do bloom, the flowers are apt to be very small and weak.

Plant the bulbs about four inches apart and six inches deep. The depth is from the bottom of the corm to the ground level. Fertilizer at the time of planting will not be nearly as satisfactory as applying it later when the plant is growing and forming flowers and new corms. In other words, work in small amounts of garden fertilizer about every two weeks after the corms have been in the ground a month.

Mulching is beneficial to gladiolus as to most of our garden plants. Gladiolus cast very little shade and consequently the soil gets hot and dry. Weed, too, can grow better without mulch.

All in all, gladiolus give a lot of show in return for just a very little effort.

FT. STORY SPORTS

The Fort Story Dukes officially opened their 1956 baseball season April 13 with a 15-0 win over Norfolk's Naval Re-training Command.

The shutout contest was marked by the pitching performance of two veterans of last year's Dukes squad, Carl Buniva and Bill Schilling. Winner Buniva, after yielding singles to the first two men at bat, struck out six in a row and held the sailors hitless for the remainder of his five-inning stint. He fanned 11 batters altogether. Schilling entered the game in the sixth and hurled the remaining frames, allowing one hit.

Outfielder Robah Hicks, another of last year's veterans, led Duke hitting with two safeties in five times at bat, driving in four runs. He's mates joined him in out-hitting the losers, nine to three.

The sailors' fruit was the losing pitcher, allowing seven runs on six hits.

Opening day ceremonies were highlighted by an innobation in the tradition of throwing out the first ball. Col. George E. Woods,

Shirley Jones' True Story Suggests Fantasy Quality Of 'Carousel' Role

Shirley Jones, who co-stars with Gordon MacRae in Twentieth Century-Fox's Cinemascope, 65 film version of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" to be premiered on April 25 at the Beach Theatre, is probably the rarest Hollywood star extant. Although the sole work while theatrical credit she possesses is a second lead in a road company of "Me and Juliet," the petite, 21-year-old blonde is already the star of two motion pictures with an aggregate cost of $1,000,000— Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma" and "Carousel." Furthermore she was given best roles in the two pictures without ever having seen either production in their long runs on Broadway or on the road.

As betis the subject of such an extraordinary experience, Shirley is an enigma. She was no star from Broadway, having been in the chorus of "South Pacific" and in "Me and Juliet," but her luminous quality was immediately recognized wherever seen. Here's her fantastic story:

She walked into an agent's office in New York with a letter from her vocal coach. He listened and after talking it over a few minutes, they agreed her. After 10-weeks' seasoning they put her in the role of "Laurie" in the 1946-AO screen version of "Oklahoma," which so far has been exhibited only in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Darryl F. Zanuck and Twentieth Century-Fox officials saw her in this and signed her for "Carousel" without even giving her a test. This has been done only with established stars, but is unheard of in the case of a player of brief experience.

Shirley was born Shirley Jones, March 21, in Smiths, Pa. (Pop. 400), to Paul Jones, proprietor of a brewery owned by his family for generations, and Mrs. Marjorie Williams Jones. She is an only child.

She showed talent for singing as a child. At the age of six she did a solo, "Froggy Went A-wooing," and never looked back. Her parents were able and willing to give her voice lessons with Ken Welch in Pittsburgh, 26 miles away. For this and many, many other reasons she has always maintained the closest relations

Jr. Fort Story's commanding officer, took to the mound in an attempt to hurl his fast ball past Lt. Col. Frederick G. Ward, Story's deputy commander, who was batting, and into the catcher's mitt of Col. Howard Smigelow, commander of Norfolk's 1st Anti-Aircraft Artillery Group. After a few tries, the deputy commander laced a clean liner into left field. Maj. William B. Bennett, Story's executive officer, called the balls and strikes.

Scott Memorial Church News

A large percentage of the people who attended the Family Fellowship Supper at Scott Memorial Methodist Church on Sunday, April 15, were new members who were received into the fellowship of the Church recently through pastor's Church Membership Class and the "Four Nights for God" enterprise by the Commission on Membership and Evangelism.

After a period of fellowship at the covered-dish supper the group went to the Church Sanctuary and were joined by the members of the M. Y. F. and others for the showing of the Cathedral technique film, "I Beheld His Glory." The attendance of eighty-eight was a record attendance at the Sunday Evening Fellowship.

The Official Board met on Wednesday night under the direction of Mr. John B. Senter, Chairman, to approve the advance budget of Church finance for the next Conference year. The Scott Memorial Church, which has received one hundred, eight members this year is advancing its budget appreciably to provide the needs of serving a growing community in the vicinity of Oceana.

W.S.C.S. News:

McHar and Daughter Night was observed on Tuesday, April 10th at Scott Memorial. Dessert was served at 7:00 p.m. by the ladies of the Sallie Carroll Circle. During this time recorded music by the choir from India was played.

Ford goes First!

In Performance

At NASCAR's Speed and Safety Event at Daytona, Ford won the Manufacturer's Trophy for best all-around performance. And Ford's 225-hp. Thunderbird Special V-8, in one day, smashed 30 world speed records at Kingman. No wonder Ford is the world's largest-selling eight.

In Safety

When the editors of "Motor Trend" unanimously voted Ford's safety program "the top car advance" of 1955, they had in mind Ford's Lifeguard Design... a whole family of safety features, including a deep-center steering wheel and double-door door latches, to help protect you in case of accident.

In Economy

In this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Customline V-8 with Fordomatic won over all cars in its class. The studies, heavier Ford carried more weight with greater gasoline economy per pound than any competitive car... sizes as well as "miles" Ford proved itself a regular gas saver.

The way a Ford performs, the way it saves, the way it protects you, go hand-in-hand with the way it looks and lasts. Ford's look was inspired by America's most exciting car, the Thunderbird. Its rugged K-bar frame and carefully-built body give it the endurance and reliability traditional with Ford. These are the facts behind Ford's reputation as the car that's worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it, too! Come in and let us show you!

These skilled Venezuelan oil men commute to work by boat. Their jobs take them far out on Lake Maracaibo where they are helping to produce the petroleum that lies deep beneath its tropical waters. More than 2,000 oil rigs, each mounted on a pile-supported platform, stretch across the surface of this important South American lake. With its revenues from oil, Venezuela has been able to improve the living standards of her people, who buy more than $1,000,000,000 worth of goods and services from the United States each year. The story of Venezuela's amazing growth during the past few decades is dramatically told in a recently released film which is available free of charge to civic, business and service groups as well as public service television programs. National Little League News

The first annual Little League Box Social has come and gone and has resulted in sufficient augmentation to the League treasury that "Packing the Hat," its regularly scheduled game will be unnecessary. The foregoing statement in no way applies to the National Little League Father's game which is after all, productions apart and beyond anything that Hollywood, even in its Keystone Kop heyday, would dare. These stupendous spectacles have been compared to the Battle of Bull Run and Colosseum of Rome at its bloody best-combined! Naturally any price of admission which might be asked to spectate at such a calamitous catastrophe would be a downright steal. Mrs. Mary Michaels and her red-hot committee have asked that Thanks be expressed to the American Legion for gratuitous use of the hall in an excellent cause. Every one in the National Little League echoes this expression of appreciation.

Jim Perdue and Bill Jones, Bricklayers par excellence without benefit of union cards have labored long and hard but with remarkable success in construction of the d.g.-outs at the official Little League Diamond. The recent 70 miles an hour winds were unable to damage these stout structures.

Wonder whether Dicky Mumford will permit his "Golden Jubilee Whiskers" to protrude through his Umvires mask or will he modestly tuck them back under his chin. We are sure Dicky will welcome suggestions in this matter.

Cap'n Jim Gregory, bout with arthritis hasn't slowed him up a bit with his Little League activities and it's likely that with warm weather in the offing that he'll be running the bases with his Farm Team shortly.

The Allen boys have really been looking the new prospects over and their canny eyes are sure to uncover several sleepers in this young crop of "Rookies".

The League is happy to welcome Bill Tudor and Curt Webber who will manage the Emurra Mo-or "Thunderbirds" this season. These fellows know baseball and have really been putting the returning T-Birds through their paces in practice sessions. The Thunderbirds will be a hard team to stop this year since they will fall heir to some of the 12 year old boys who are trying out. Added to that is the fact that they were the youngest team in the league last year and therefore the T-Birds will be tough for a couple of years to come.

Little League Personality. Referring to Mrs. Mary Michaels as a personality is a rather pallid approach toward a sketch of the dynamic head of the Financial Committee. Mary is the kind of a person who idles at the speed of roughly 90 miles an hour. It is doubtful that there was a more rapid fan last year. She and her husband Paul operate the Excellent Restaurant and are the parents of two Little Leaguers. Son Paul plays on the Little Giant team and son Andrew plays on the Piner team. It wasn't uncommon last year to hear Mary's voice above that of the crowd rooting "Come on Paul smack it on-2 but you Andrew catch it". Mary doesn't root just for her boys, she puts plenty of body-english out for every boy on the field as well as plenty of vocal encouragement. This year Mary's committee, along with those of her committee have been responsible for the healthy pre-season state of the league treasury. Mary

C & P Reports On Construction

The 1955 Annual Report of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia released today revealed a record construction program during the year to improve and expand service in order to meet the public's demand.

J. Rhodes Mitchell, Vice President of the Company, in commenting on the year's performance indicated that the Company spent $31,000,000 last year for new facilities. 219,000 telephones were installed for a net increase of 61,000 bringing to 784,000 the number of Company-owned telephones at the end of the year. Better grades of service for over 18,000 customers and speedier handling of long distance calls were also accomplished during the year.

Mitchell said additions to C. and P. facilities were completed in all exchanges varying in scope from large construction projects and new buildings housing modern dial central offices to small line extensions. Three new rural dial offices were placed in service. The report noted that another record for volume of calls was set during the year. The average number of calls per business day reached over 3,862,000 and 97% of all out-of-town calls were handled while the customer held the line.

Mitchell said operating taxes of $16,825,000 were the highest in the Company's history. It was noted that direct taxes and excise taxes together totaled $24,600,000 for the year and averaged $47.85 per telephone customer.

C. and P.'s operating revenues totaled $82,230,000 and operating expenses and taxes amounted to $70,840,000. Mitchell said that although the Company can now give customers in most localities all the service they want, there are some localities where the tremendous demand causes shortage of facilities. This is just unstoppable and quite unforgettable.

TRIP TO WASHINGTON.

The Princess Anne High School government classes plan a week-end trip to Washington starting on April 13. They will leave Friday morning for a tour of the nation's capitol. As well as being a sight seeing tour the trip will also serve to acquaint the students with the functions of our national government.

BASEBALL

During the coming week the Princess Anne diamonders have two baseball games scheduled. The first is a home game with Virginia Beach immediately after school on April 12. On Tuesday the 17th the Cavaliers travel to Deep Creek to play their second conference game.

TRACK

The track team will meet Deep Creek on Wednesday, the 18th, of April at home.

Shrine Feast

Another Khedive Temple Shrine Feast, the second of 1956, this one to be served by members of the Suffolk Shrine Club at their club rooms.

Bob Harrell and Harry Taylor, Co-Chairmen have arranged to serve plank shad to a large group of Tidewater Shriners. Each year the number in attendance grows so plans for a bigger and better shad bake have been completed.

The feast will be served from 4:00 to 7:00 P.M. April 21st.

condition results from the excellent economic situation we are enjoying, the increase rate of family formation, and the continued movement of the population from cities to the suburbs.

More convenience and variety of service was introduced during the year through the Company's merchandising program. Attractive a-lit outdoor telephone booths are now operating in nearly 1,000 locations throughout the area served by the Company. Wider use of colored telephones, extension telephones, speakerphones, automatic answering devices, additional telephone listings, shoulder rests, and spring cords in homes and offices made the service more useful and convenient.

During 1955 work goes forward on a number of major projects throughout Virginia. Construction programs to change Danville, Williamsburg, Oronoco, Leesburg and Virginia Beach to dial operation are under way and major additions to central office equipment and outside plant will be made in most of the exchanges in Virginia.

FORT STORY NEWS

A request for emergency aid from the Norfolk City Police sent 34 Dukes and 100 officers and men from Fort Story April 12 to assist in evacuating persons from Willoughby Spit, which was partially flooded by abnormally high tides caused by a storm that generated winds up to 69 miles an hour.

The call for aid at 8:10 p.m. April 12. An hour later the Dukes, readied for the journey in total darkness because of a power failure at 8:07, began the 20-mile journey to the scene. They were escorted by two patrol cars from the Virginia Beach Police Department and one car from the Princess Anne police force.

On arrival the amphibious vehicles retreated the streets and traveled from house to house. They removed 23 persons from homes and marooned automobiles before the water receded about midnight and Civilian Defense officials declared inhabitants of the area out of danger.

A completely remodeled Fort Story Post Exchange, boasting $20,000 worth of improvements, including air conditioning, roomier shopping conditions and new departments in phonograph records and hobbycraft, will open for a premiere showing Thursday, April 26.

The Fort Story Officer's Club was the scene of a surprise farewell party April 14 for two staff officers of the Transportation Training Command.

Guests of honor at the formal dinner and dance were Col. Edward W. Sawyer, former chief of staff and Col. Gerald Peterson, O-1 (personnel officer), who will retire May 30. Col. Sawyer was succeeded April 16 by Col. Robert A. Cliffe. Col. Ronald Meidt will become G-1.

The 10th Transportation Battalion's 459th Transportation Company become the second unit on post to win Fort Story's "Best Supply" award. Three successive times by capturing the winner's plaque for the month of March.

The win was slightly marred by news that the unit's supply sergeant, Sergeant Robert Taylor, will leave in May for an assignment in Europe.

Taylor was supply sergeant for the 458th for nearly two years. He has been replaced by Sergeant Oscar C. Rice.

The only unit to win the "Best Supply" plaque three times in a row, the 604th Transportation Company, scored a victory in a different field by winning the post "Best Mess" award for March. Mess sergeant for the 604th is Sergeant First Class Hugh D. Puckett.

Story's First Lieutenant, Whitman Cross who recently returned from Fort Benning and Florida after firing with the All-Army Pistol Team there, will depart April 23 to coach the Fort Eustis Pistol Team which will fire in the Second Army pistol matches at Eustis May 13.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

An important step towards stricter compliance with Minimum Property Requirements in the GI home loan program was taken last week by the Veterans Administration.

VA said it has instructed each regional office manager to appoint a qualified VA construction analyst to make sure fee compliance inspectors are carrying out their assignments of assuring that builders are conforming to plans and specifications and VA minimum property requirements.

These supervising construction analysts will have the primary duties of:

1. Making on-site inspections of properties constructed or in the process of construction for which VA has received appraisal requests and which are or have been subject to either VA inspections or Federal Housing Administration supervision.

2. Reporting on the timeliness, effectiveness, accuracy and completeness and all other aspects of performance by each VA compliance inspector, including any irregular relationships with builders, sponsors, or other and any evidence of improper conduct bearing on performance.

3. Determining and reporting adequacy and quality of the exhibits against which each compliance inspector measures the degree of compliance and the quality of as-built construction at the various stages.

4. Evaluating and reporting on the adequacy and effectiveness of supervision by the builder in each particular case.

VA emphasized that, under the law, compliance with its Minimum Property Requirements is mandatory. VA's minimum requirements are the same as those of FHLA.

VA's fee compliance inspectors are not Government employees. They are private contractors who inspect construction under the GI home loan program.

tol Team there, will depart April 23 to coach the Fort Eustis Pistol Team which will fire in the Second Army pistol matches at Eustis May 13.

Following that assignment, Cross will train with the Second Army Pistol Team before firing in the All-Army Matches at Fort Benning June 14 to 20. He expects to return to Fort Story late in June.

Marine History

From the attack on Pearl Harbor until the occupation of Japan 44 months later, U. S. Marines were in the thick of World War II in fighting in the Pacific.

In the first few days of the war, a stunned America received inspiration from the heroic defense of Wake Island by a handful of Leathernecks. At Batavia and Corregidor, a Marine regiment fought with the Army, striving to give the United States as much time as possible to build its forces.

In June, 1942, Marine flyers helped turn back the Japanese fleet in the Battle of Midway. Japan's first decisive naval defeat in 350 years and a turning point of the war.

That August, the United States' counter-offensive began with the Leatherneck landing at Guadalcanal. After six months of nip-and-tuck fighting there, the Marines commenced moving up the ladder of islands pointing toward Rabaul, Japan's nerve center in the Southwest Pacific. They landed in the New Georgia group in June, 1943, at Bougainville in November, 1943, Cape Gloucester, New Britain, in December, 1943, and in the Green Islands in February, 1944, driving the enemy from one jungle island after another.

In the Central Pacific they slugged their way onto the bloody beaches of Tarawa in November, 1943; Kwajalein and Majuro in January, 1944; Eniwetok in February, 1944; Saipan in June, 1944; and Guam and Tinian in July, 1944. Then in September, 1944, the Leathernecks hit Peleliu in the Western Carolines, and the following month Marine artillerymen landed with the Army in the Philippines.

PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Increased Income in Rural Areas Aim of New Program

What can be done about increasing farm family incomes? That's the puzzle in Virginia's rural areas these days, and a long-range rural development program now in the formative stage aims at providing at least some of the answers, says W. H. Daugherty, associate director of the VPI Agricultural Extension Service.

Daugherty is chairman of a newly formed Rural Development Committee which has representatives from the Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, State Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, Farm Credit Administration, Virginia Farmers Union, Virginia Farm Bureau, Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs, State Chamber of Commerce, State Employment Service, Small Business Administration, and the State Association of Division Superintendents of schools.

The Committee has selected two counties — Carroll and Cumberland — for pilot studies. Both counties have many farm families in the low-income groups, Daugherty said. "The big question is what can be done to improve the economy in all of our low-income counties," he added. "It is up to the state committee working with the people in these areas to develop sound programs."

He stressed that low income cannot be cured solely through agriculture. The potential in agriculture in some of the critical counties in Virginia is very small, and business and educational agencies have a responsibility in the program.

The first step in the pilot study will be to go into Carroll and Cumberland counties and enlist the aid of their community leaders in solving their economic problems. "They will have to decide what is the most important problem facing them, and then what should be done to meet it," Daugherty said.

WEED BURNER . . . Burning a discarded auto tire will make fire hot enough to kill brush and patches of weeds. Length of wire handle allows burning tire without getting too close to flames. Stuff tire with old rags and paper dipped in kerosene to ignite the rubber.

He emphasized that the decisions will have to be made by the community leaders. Backing them will be an array of state, federal and private agencies, which will offer technical advice as well as farm loans.

Emphasis will be placed on self-help in improving farm incomes. In some counties it might mean attracting more industry and in others improving the land or producing different crops.

The program stems from President Eisenhower's concern over the problems peculiar to low-income farms, and is being spearheaded by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Southeast Sheep Producers to Pool Lamb and Wool
The sheep business is booming

in Southeastern Virginia, and a lamb and wool pool program started in several counties in the area last year is being expanded to include two "lamb pool sales this year."

The lamb sales will be held at the Smithfield Livestock Market on May 9 and the second sale on June 6. Lambs will be officially graded and sold in uniform lots according to grade.

Approximately 1,000 lambs from Greenville, Nansemond, Surry, Norfolk, Southampton, Princess Anne, Isle of Wight, and Sussex Counties will be in the sales this year.

Wool marketing will be done, as it was last year, through the United Wool Growers Association. Wool will be collected at Roger's Warehouse on June 7. At the time of collection the producer will be paid an advance close to market price. Later he will receive a second payment to meet the amount for which the wool is actually sold. In addition to the wool and lamb sales, a purchased ram sale will be held at Suffolk on June 26.

County agents can give complete details concerning all these events.

Judges Named For Contest In Soil Conservation
Judges who will select Virginia's outstanding soil conservation district and champion farmer-conservationist for the year ending March 31, have been named by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., sponsor of an annual national program of conservation awards.

The Virginia judges are: W. H. Daugherty, associate director, VPI Agricultural Extension Service, chairman; E. W. Mundie, VPI soil conservationist; S. W. Bondurant, Richmond, state conservationist; U. S. Soil Conservation Service; and T. V. Downing, associate state director of vocational agriculture, Richmond.

The outstanding district of the state selected by the judges will receive a bronze plaque and the right to name one member of its board of supervisors and the outstanding farmer-cooperator for an all-expense vacation trip to Goodyear Farms, Litchfield Park, Arizona, next November or December.

Score sheets of Virginia's entries should be sent to Mundie, at Box 179, Blacksburg, postmarked not later than April 15.

Short Course In Conservation Planned at VPI 66-66

A short course in conservation of Virginia's natural resources will be held for the first time at VPI this summer.

Officials at VPI say a limited number of $100 scholarships for the short course, scheduled for June 13-20, are available to public school teachers from funds provided by several interested organizations. All public school teachers are eligible to apply.

Applications for scholarships must be made by May 1 to be considered. Blanks are available from Dr. I. D. Wilson, head, Biology Department, VPI, Blacksburg.

The general purpose of the short course is to provide additional training for teachers thereby increasing the effectiveness of conservation and resource-use teaching in Virginia's public schools.

Anyone interested can attend the short course, but scholarships are available only to public school teachers.

Subjects to be taught include geology, soils, forestry, and wildlife. Three college-quarter-hour credits will be given for satisfactory completion of the short course.

New Officers Elected by Swine Association

A. M. Tiller of Rockville has been named the new president of the Virginia Purebred Swine Producers Association.

Other officers elected at a recent meeting are: George A. Shirley, at VPI, Spout Spring, vice president; and R. M. Godsey, associate animal husbandman at VPI, secretary.

Directors elected were: Gene Runsey, Post Oak; J. R. Crabbe, Morattco; W. M. Terrell, Orange; W. T. Hawthorne, Hylos; Carl Grove, Waynesboro; C. S. Patterson, New Hope; and Nelson Carpenter, Winchester.

The sale committee also scheduled three summer sales: Suffolk, August 1; Staunton, August 3; and Tappahannock, August 7.

Egg Production Tips Listed

Want more money from your poultry laying flock?

VPI poultry specialist has some tips on management which will help you.

Produce clean eggs—they always bring more money than dirty eggs. Gather your eggs often and cool them quickly. Gathering in a wire basket will help.

Store the eggs in a cool place. Candle your eggs.

Most eggs when laid are of high quality. It is up to you to maintain this quality.

4-H Members Ease Cost-Price Squeeze

The cost-price squeeze on the nation's farms is being eased by the 450,000 4-H club members taking part in three popular 4-H agricultural programs: field crop, soil and water conservation, and tractor.

State 4-H officials at VPI say club members are learning through the programs to produce crops efficiently, conserve natural resources, and maintain farm equipment at the peak of operation.

The 1955 Virginia winners in these programs were: field crops, Kenneth Smith, Augusta; soil conservation, Frederick Dearing, Bedford; and tractor, George Comer, Page.

In addition to increasing financial returns and learning latest approved methods, 4-Hers who do outstanding work are eligible for honors and recognition in the national 4-H award programs.

Gold-filled medals are made available for four county winners in each program. State champion in each receive all-expense trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. At the Congress, national awards of $300 college scholarships will be presented to 6 field crop winners, 8 soil and water conservation winners, and 12 tractor winners.

Incentives in the field crop program are provided by the M. A. Rosen Division of Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation; in soil and water conservation by the First-one Tire & Rubber Company, and in tractor by the American Oil Company.

Several Movies Produced By Film Unit At VPI

Several movies of interest to rural people have been produced by the motion picture unit of the VPI Department of Agricultural Information.

Department Head R. D. Michael says the unit, which is now entering its second year of operation, has prepared movies on a variety of subjects ranging from alfalfa insects to treating fence posts.

The productions are available for use in meetings. Requests should be routed through county Extension Service agents.

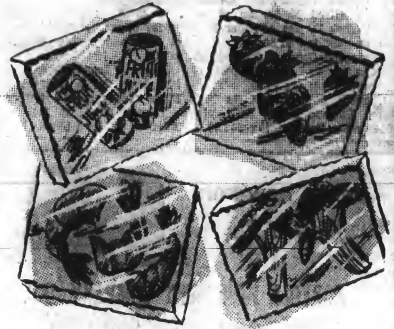

Specifically, the motion pictures, all filmed in Virginia, are:

Alert - Alfalfa Enemy - A review of the damage caused in Virginia by the alfalfa weevil, which is known to be present in 86 counties. Shows how the pest is spread and outlines control measures.

Artificial Insemination - Tells the complete story of artificial breeding and its use in dairy herd improvement.

LIFE'S SECOND BEST

Rheobeam, the King of old testament days, was proud of his shining gold shields, they were the display of his troops, the pride of his army that guarded the temple treasury. Coming from the south was the army of Egypt. Shishak, her king, sent an army up to Jerusalem that overran the holy city and among the prized possessions that were lost were these shining shields. The pride of Jerusalem was gone, her glory and honor trampled on as this symbol was taken away. What could she do? What new direction would she take? Could they be replaced? In the mountainous region to the north had come a very hard metal known as brass, not of the beautiful finish nor of the fine texture of gold. "And he made shields of brass to take their place." Brass was there all the time but it only emerged as worthwhile for this particular purpose when that which was considered first was taken away.

Values emerge that are given an opportunity to prove themselves. Sometimes worth is not pronounced until circumstances call it to the forefront. Life's second best becomes worthwhile as it is called to attention by the absence of our first desire.

Substitutes are not rare today. They are on sale but only remain there if they can fill the need of the occasion in a lasting way. We must not be willing to take life's second best for a substitute to the way of life set forth by our Lord. "He is the way the truth and the life."

Commissioned a Marine Second Lieutenant March 24 at the Marine Corps School, Quantico, Va., was Robert B. Throm, son of Mrs. Jean M. Throm of Virginia Beach, Va., and husband of the former Miss Patricia M. Shea of Philadelphia, Pa.

Having completed a ten-week Officers Candidate Course, he is now undergoing five months training in the Officers Basic School, also at Quantico.

The basic course will acquaint him with tactics and supporting weapons used in a Marine rifle company and battalion and qualify him for duty as a rifle platoon leader and staff officer.

Lt. Cdr. C. O. Fluke, USN, now a pilot with the U. S. Antarctic expedition, has landed firsthand with polar bears, dropped into icy crevasses in polar glaciers, fallen overboard in arctic waters, and has been involved in eight "crash" mishaps in the Arctic and Antarctic.

Marines are called "Leathernecks" because of the black leather stocks which were part of their uniforms in the early 19th Century.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and foibles... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Fresher Than Spring-Time

Line Apricot Surprise Molds
1 package lime - flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
1 package (3oz.) cream cheese
6 drained canned apricot halves
Pecan halves

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Shape cheese into six balls. Place in bottom of 6 individual molds. Top with apricots, cut side down. Arrange 2 or 3 pecan halves around side of molds. Fill molds with slightly thickened gelatin. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise. Make 6 molds.

With the advent of budding leaves and blossoming bulbs, comes a time for something new in the spring food fashion. What better choice can there be than the salad above or a Blossoming Pear dessert?

Tender, ripe fresh Anjou Pears are the perfect fruit for such an outstanding dessert. Beautifully shaped, they make a picture dessert to enchant your guests. Anjou pears are the pears plump and graty in shape.

They have a skin which is characteristically light green, smooth and tender. Inside, the flesh of the pear is snowy white, delicious and delicately flavored and juicy. You will need for this dessert fresh ripe pears, cream cheese, orange juice, a bit of food coloring and toasted coconut. Wash and dry pears.

Cream (2 3-oz. pks) cheese with enough orange juice to give a light fluffy spreading consistency for color tones, add a couple drops of food coloring using color you desire.

Now "frost" the pears with the cream cheese mixture, use of a small spatula with make this very easy. Spread over surface of the pears. Don't mind the roughness of the cream cheese, it adds to the interest of the pears.

Now, sprinkle pears with toasted coconut. I like the new tender flakes, "Angel Flake". Place coconut in oven at 350° F. for about 5 minutes, stirring to get evenly toasted.

The base of the pear can be set in the coconut and the pears sprinkled until well covered.

This is quite an unusual dessert and sure to please family or friends.

Blossoming Pear Dessert
6 - ripe pears - Anjou or Corice
2 - 3-oz. packages cream cheese orange juice
1 cup toasted coconut
Now for another delicious dessert using coconut.
Sweet Cherry Snow Balls
1 quart vanilla Ice Cream
(I love Sealtest)
1 - 3 1/2 can thin flaked coconut
1 - No. 2 can dark sweet cherries
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons sugar
2 T lemon juice
Drain juice from cherries and add enough water to make 1 cup liquid. Prepare sauce from cherry juice, cornstarch, lemon juice and sugar. Combine cornstarch with sugar, add lemon juice to heated cherry juice then sugar and cornstarch. Cook, stirring until thickened and clear. A dash of salt helps too. Pour over pitted cherries and chill.

Scoop ice cream into balls and roll in coconut. Put balls in freezing compartment of your refrigerator until ready to serve, several hours before will make coconut ball nice and firm, so I'd suggest at least 6-8 hours. When ready to serve, spoon some of cherry mixture in serving dishes and place coconut ice cream ball on each serving. Sounds wonderful, doesn't it?

Are you planning a 'bridal shower'? An Orange Blossom Dessert would surely be just perfect to serve. The gelatin dessert is the palest tint of orange and has orange segments for decoration on top. It stands high and fluffy with an encircling "picket fence" of lady figures.

Evaporated milk - chilled and whipped, accounts for the fluffy light texture of orange blossom dessert. And for the orange flavor there's orange gelatin, grated orange rind and orange juice. The new angel flake coconut to use for a delicate added flavor.

The dessert makes 8 generous servings and here's the recipe.
Orange Blossom Dessert
1 dozen lady fingers
1 package orange flavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1/2 cup orange juice plus lemon juice to make 1/2 cup.
1 can angel flake coconut
1 can evaporated milk (chilled & whipped)

Line sides of 9-inch spring form pan with split lady fingers. Mix gelatin and sugar in large mixing bowl, add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add orange and lemon juice and grated rind. Stir in coconut, chill until it is consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Then whip chilled evaporated milk until stiff and holds a peak. Fold lightly but very thoroughly into gelatin mixture. Turn into lined spring-form pan. Chill until set. Garnish with orange segments.

Hope these suggestions please those jaded appetites, or maybe "there aren't so such thing as your house". Bye - Now!

It's speedy to prepare broiled hamburgers if you season the meat and spread it on mustard-buttered split buns and pop into the broiler to cook.

When you're serving a crowd for breakfast, slice ham and cheese to put on a platter. Cook eggs the style folks like, and let them help themselves to the cheese and ham as they wish.

Ground smoked ham and pork can be mixed together with egg crumbs and seasonings as you would for ham loaf, but shape as a ham, then stud with cloves and cherries for a real conversation piece.

Here's a nice treat for an oven meal: mash sweet potatoes (cooked), flavor with butter, salt and orange juice. Blend in drained crushed pineapple, pop in a buttered casserole and top with marshmallows before baking, to heat through.

Owen-Alfriend Rites Take Place In Florida

A wedding of interest here took place last Saturday in Tallahassee, Fla., when Miss Julia Bethall Alfriend, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William Jeffrey Alfriend, of Tallahassee, became the bride of Theron Jay Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Owen of Country Club Estates, Tallahassee.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Samuel Neil, dean of men, Florida State University, at "Palm Pine" the home of the bride's parents. The house was decorated with white flowers, magnolia and pine boughs.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina-length wedding gown of white net over Chantilly lace, scooped neckline, long sleeves and full skirt. She carried a bouquet of white roses and tuberoses.

Loose Talk

These are serious times for Virginia Beach as well as for all other cities, counties and states, and candidates for office should present to the people true facts when asking for their support.

Last week candidates on the Dunn-Heath ticket for city council had a meeting and K. B. Cruser, one of their candidates began to talk about the City of Virginia Beach. According to news reports of this meeting he drew a comparison between the city of Buena Vista and Virginia Beach. Both of these cities have according to the 1950 census about the same population.

As has been pointed out by Mr. Frank A. Dusch and Mr. John W. McCombs candidates for re-election, if we were to follow patterns set by Buena Vista we would have to fire all of our paid city firemen; all but four of our policemen, and immediately reduce the salaries of our school teachers from $550 to $750 annually. Some reductions, we assume, would have to take place with all city employees. If this is the kind of backward steps the Dunn-Heath candidates want Virginia Beach to take, we believe they will be rejected overwhelmingly on election day, June 12.

Without casting any reflection upon Buena Vista, we believe we can point with pride the job our fire and police departments have done and the fine group of competent teachers which our capable school board has employed. We believe that if the school teachers' salaries were reduced by $750 annually, we would be unable to retain their services because they could go to most any of the surrounding area schools and be employed.

The talk of amending the Town Charter so they (Dunn-Heath candidates) can appoint the Electoral Board is almost too ridiculous to answer. No county, city or town in our state has this provision, nor can they have it without an amendment to the state constitution. This would take action by two sessions of the Virginia General Assembly and a vote by all the people of the state. And even if the Constitution could be amended to do this, it would take several years to become effective.

Its this kind of loose talk by candidates for public office to try to stay away from the real issues in a campaign.

The real issues in this councilmanic campaign are whether or not the citizens desire to retain these services of Frank A. Dusch and John W. McCombs who have devoted so much of their time and energy to the advancement of our city or whether or not they want to elect the candidates of the Dunn-Heath-Wheary machine, one of whom does not own a home in the City of Virginia Beach, but who has a home some 10 or 15 miles out in Princess Anne County.

The Lone Dissenter?

At the steak dinner given by the Dunn-Heath-Wheary machine last week, according to news reports, Councilman W. W. McClanahan, Jr., said it was hard to do your best when the cards are stacked against you. And the news story referred to the fact that he was often the lone dissenter.

Speaking of being the lone dissenter, of all the Council meetings that have been held since September 1, 1954, almost two years, Mr. McClanahan has cast six negative votes. Three of these were cast at one meeting when he voted against the re-election of Judge E. V. Gresham, as police justice; Richard G. Brydges, as assistant police justice; and at the same meeting he voted against the Council holding their meetings in the afternoon.

Among other of his naive votes, was when he voted against three members of the present school board, the present city manager and board of viewers for the closing of an alley. None of his nay votes had anything to do with legislation and four dealt only in personalities. The other two were in changing the meeting time of the council and a board of viewers.

The lone dissenter on two or three occasions failed to vote either way on the issue at hand. This is the record of the City Council of Virginia Beach for almost two years, and we believe that the record can more easily speak for itself.

Our Income Tax Rates

Although ten days have passed since the Nation's millions of citizens were required to file their 1955 Federal Income Tax returns and settle up for 1955 with Uncle Sam, or pay the first installment to that gentleman for estimated 1956 income, the squeeze put on every American by our government in taxes becomes more painful with each passing year.

In many cases in order for thousands of taxpayers to ante up their taxes it becomes necessary for them to go out and borrow the money, or to pen an explanation when filing their return which then starts a series of events between the taxpayer and the T-men that most taxpayers would rather do without.

The net result of this income tax business as we have it today is that at the end of the year a person wakes up to find that he has gained nothing and is right back where he started at the beginning of the year. There is nothing humorous in this situation. It gives the whole business of working and trying to make money an air of futility.

Back in 1913 when the income tax came into being there were those who thought it was absurd that the government would ever take more than a few cents out of every dollar the taxpayer earned. The point was brought out then that the day might come that the government would take as much as 25 per cent of a person's income.

Now in 1956 what have we got in the way of income taxes? Instead of a few cents out of each dollar we have a range from 20 per cent to as high as 91 per cent. It has reached the unreasonable stage and probably the majority of taxpayers fail to realize just how much they are paying.

Another feature of the income tax setup as we have it today is the fact that the average person is not capable of understanding the law and must seek professional advice in preparing their returns. This is serious enough but then there is the matter of interpreting the various phases of the law. One accountant will have one view, another accountant will look at the same matter differently, and then in the end the government man will place a third interpretation on it.

The income tax law today in this country is just too complicated for Mr. Average Citizen and the tax rate has risen to an unreasonable level. We wonder if there is any real hope of returning the tax rate to a sensible level. When a man is penalized financially as he is to do the incentive to create and build is badly dampened, or even extinguished.

One man who has served as Uncle Sam's head in the tax department has advocated that the present income tax law be shelved, and that we start all over. He should know something about the matter. However, it is doubtful that anything will be done.

The present setup has put government into everybody's business and pocketbook. It has forced the capable, productive, hard-working executive to stop working because there is no incentive and it has turned natural loafers into wards of the government.

We repeat we doubt there is any hope, but an awakened public might help some by reminding and reminding its representatives in government that something should be done about the exorbitant tax rates in effect today in this country. Write your Congressmen.

Virginia Beach, Va.

Dear Sir:
On June 12, 1956 I shall cast my vote for Frank A. Dusch and John W. McCombs for the office of Councilman for the City of Virginia Beach. I have worked closely with these two men for the past four years and am confident they are more eminently qualified to serve the best interest of all our citizens than any other candidates offering for this office.

After reading a paid political advertisement which appeared in a Norfolk newspaper over the names of the two candidates sponsored by the Dunn-Heath-Malbon-Wheary group, I feel that it is only proper that the cloak of hypocrisy be stripped from the Dunn Machine candidates and let the electorate of Virginia Beach see what this group is attempting to perpetrate. The lead line in this advertisement reads as follows: "Kenneth Cruser has lived in the city for twelve years and has owned business property for twenty years and currently owns real estate property there." The use of the word "there" indicates Mr. Cruser's remoteness from Virginia Beach. The true facts, however, are these. On February 28, 1955 Mr. Cruser obtained a building permit from Princess Anne County to construct a residence on the Lynnhaven river in the Neck section of Princess Anne County. On June 30, 1955 Mr. Cruser sold his Virginia Beach residence and moved to his new home in Princess Anne County approximately fifteen miles from Virginia Beach. On November 10, 1955 he publicly announced his intention to become a candidate for the Virginia Beach City Council and at that time he owned no residential property in Virginia Beach. On November 28, 1955, eighteen days after his announcement, he purchased a vacant lot on Baltic Avenue and to this date this vacant lot is the only residential property Mr. Cruser owns in the City of Virginia Beach. Since this time Mr. Cruser has used 3500 Holly Road as his Virginia Beach address which is the residence of Leslie A. Weary, one of his campaign managers.

I feel certain the people will see that Mr. Cruser has used this type of campaign tactic and that the citizens of this community will give careful consideration to these facts when reaching their decision as to who would be better qualified to represent our local government.

Your very truly,
E. W. Smith

Dear Sir:

Virginia Beach celebrates its Golden Jubilee and in a cozy cottage at 25th Street and Baltic Avenue, a pioneer citizen is celebrating his 42nd year on the Virginia Beach Police Court Bench. If we should give the proper consideration as to the long hours spent, we might say a Golden Jubilee year for the Honorable Judge Eugene Gresham. Judge Gresham has no doubt given to the citizens of Virginia Beach, the best of his life and service that is long to be remembered by all. We are blessed to have a man who is none other than a pioneer citizen.

Virginia Beach has grown in leaps and bounds for the past 42 years. Sparkling sand dunes, a village, a town and now a city, which is the largest summer resort between Atlantic City and Miami, Florida. Surely, we have no better eye witness to the factual proof than Judge Gresham. His job has meant the bearing of burdens of the people, and seeing that justice was administered. We can admit that this position carries a commendation, but a small one for many years. It is service and even now it's not the pay for the service rendered. Judge Gresham is still doing a great job. The citizens should be grateful.

The phase which is heard over and over in the court room is worth remembering (Guilty or not guilty). Like hundreds of thousands of American youth who commit crimes daily, the Judge must still repeat this phrase.

The laws, police, and courts do not make juvenile delinquency. It is just the other way around. They attempt to cope, reform or punish the youth whose parents fail to do so.

Surely you and I can not begin to think of the mental pressure that one has to endeavor in shouldering the other fellows burdens.

I believe it does carry many sleepless nights because the first consideration is to do the things that are right.

A great service is done in progress in 1954, which has played its part in the superlative degree in regards to a greater Virginia Beach.

We should appreciate the many things accomplished as in terms of every grain of sand on the beach and of waves that kiss our shores.

National Little League News

On Wednesday night, 25 April the National Little League player auction was held with Capt. Jim Gregory the player agent of the League presiding. Capt. Jim made the rival managers pay dearly for the players they desired for their teams. Bidding was spirited and there is little in the way of spare purchasing power left among the teams of the League.

The auction was run in this manner—during the trysts which were held on Tuesday nights and Saturday afternoons the managers looked over the boys to determine which ones they desired for their teams. Their preferences had to be given by first the vacancies they had on their fifteen player roster, further these vacancies had to be considered by the age bracket in which they occurred, for instance the Moose Little Giants and the J. C. Hawks had no vacancies in their 12 year old bracket. (Allowance 45 boys) therefore they could not bid on any of the excellent 12 year old prospects, so the Emerald Thunderbirds and the Methodist Pipers were in the bidding over these boys. In the 11 year old bracket all teams had vacancies in their allowance (5 boys) and the auctioneer had a ball. Nor was the bidding light for the 9, 9 and 10 year olds since these boys will form the continuing strength of the teams. Prior to the start of the auction the managers each submitted a preference list to the auctioneer so that these boys were considered first. However each boy who tried out was considered before the evening was over. The teams placed bids in the reverse order of the standing they held in the league last year. The purchasing power available to each team was dependant principally upon the vacancies held on their roster and the points they had left from last year. Such a system insures a balanced league with plenty of competition.

The bidding system of player distribution also protects against consolidation of neighborhood cliques into teams. Only boys of the best ability are thus selected. Those boys who are not selected for teams at this time automatically become members of the Farm Teams. They will be notified when to report for their first Farm Team session. Do not discourage if you were not selected for a league team; turn out for the Farm Team and have plenty of fun while you learn more about baseball and improve your playing ability. Last year each team had to go to the Farm Team for replacement for boys who moved away. The replacements chosen were from those boys who regularly turned out for Farm Team games. Also most of the boys selected this year were from among those who were on Farm Teams last year. These boys stood with it and it paid off this year. Of course it will be the same with everything you try in your life. Determination to improve yourself, whether it be baseball or anything else is one of the traits to be developed in early life.

Virginia Beach. For those who want a real comparison between these two cities, visit Buena Vista and draw a comparison between the facilities being furnished the citizens of Virginia Beach as against those furnished Buena Vista. In addition to this the City of Virginia Beach is furnishing these facilities to thousands and thousands of tourist who visit us annually. Of our present total indebtedness, 70 percent of this amount is for the new high school, southern sewage line extensions and the beach restoration program. This last item does not carry any tax whatsoever on real estate or personal property. The candidates of the Dunn Machine should state publicly whether they are opposed to the high school, sewage line extensions and the beach restoration program as now in effect.

We feel that the citizens of Virginia Beach expect candidates for office to present the true facts, to them and it is because of this we feel obligated to make this statement.

Salk Booster Shots Available From Private Physicians

The Princess Anne - Virginia Beach Health Department has announced that parents of second and third grade children will be asked to make their own arrangements for obtaining the third or "booster" shots of polio vaccine during the month of May. The announcement applies only to some 3000 children who obtained the first and second doses of the vaccine in April and October, through the program sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and carried out here by the local Chapter of NFIP, the schools, and the Health Department. Children in other age groups will not be due for the booster until a later date, since it is scheduled seven months after the second injection.

The Health Department pointed out that the vaccine is now available through all physicians practicing in community, and no group arrangements for administering the third shot will be made since many parents will prefer to take their children to their family physician for the injection.

Parents are reminded that the third inoculation is necessary to complete the series and provide maximum immunity. Although the interval between the first and second shots for this particular group of children was much longer than the currently recommended 4-6 weeks, the difference is not considered significant enough to affect the total immunity by the series. There is no need to start the whole series again in these children.

The Salk vaccine has not been available long enough to know the duration of the protection provided by the initial series of three injections. Children who first received the vaccine in the 1954 field trials still show adequate blood levels of protective antibodies. It appears that the initial series may give protection for several years.

The booster injection, as well as first and second injections for all children from 1 through 16 years of age, will be available from private physicians and be-

4-H CLUB NEWS

On Wednesday April 18 the Princess Anne County 4-H club held their third Annual Share the Fun Program. A wide variety of talent from practically everyone of the fifteen club in the county participated in this program. In all there were forty acts ranging from songs and dance numbers to bird calls.

The program was divided into two divisions. The Senior Division was composed of 4-H club members from the high school while all elementary club members competed in the Junior Division. The top three acts in each division received a complete or partial scholarship to 4-H club camp or the Short Course. These scholarships are given by the Master Auto Service Corporation who represents the U. S. Rubber Company.

Carolyn Charles from the Kempsville Community 4-H club won first place in the Senior Division singing "Perival Algie." An instrumental number by Harry Grimstead and Eddie Cooper from the high school 4-H club placed second. Third place went to the Platons from the Kempsville Community Club who also did an instrumental number. The Platons are Richard Basnight with his drums, Bobby Langhorne with the electric guitar and Alfred Langhorne with a Hawaiian guitar.

Billy Grimstead from the Courthouse 4-H club placed first in the Junior Division singing "Carol in the Morning." Alice McCollum from the Courthouse Club placed second with a musical recital of "Angelina." Third place won by Melvin Anderson from the Little Creek seventh grade club with a Piano selection.

VEPCO Reports On '55 Earnings

Shareholder were told last week at the Annual Meeting that the Virginia Electric and Power Company had a good year in 1955.

Erwin H. Will, president, in his report to shareholders, said that operating revenues exceeded $100,000,000 for the first time and were 10.5 per cent more than in the previous year. He said per share earnings on the 6,600,000 shares of stock outstanding at the end of last year were $2.54, an increase of 34 cents per share as compared with the previous year.

Residential revenues from the sale of electricity amounted to $44,645,000, or about 45 per cent of the total electric revenues. These customers continue to use more electricity, and the annual use per residential customer last year amounted to 3,012 kilowatt-hours, exceeding the national average by about 300 kilowatt-hours.

Last year Vepco added 29,000 new electric customers and 6,000 new gas customers, enough to make a good sized city. In order to meet this rapid growth, shareholders were told, Virginia Electric and Power Company last year spent more than $46,000,000 on its construction program in new plant and property. Will said that such expenditures can only be made provided Vepco continues to increase its net revenues in order to maintain a satisfactory rate of return which in 1955 was just under 8 per cent.

So far 1956 has been a good year, according to Will. First quarter operating revenues amounted to $20,234,000, an increase of $1,518,000 or 13.2 per cent over 1955. Based on these preliminary figures, earnings per share on the Common Stock for the twelve months ending March 31, 1956, amounted to $2.84 as compared with $2.33 for the corresponding period of 1955. New electric customers were reported added at a satisfactory rate during the first quarter of 1956 and business conditions in the territory continue at a high level.

Construction work has already been started on a new 160,000 kw generating station at Yorktown. When this is completed in 1957, it will be the largest single unit on Vepco's system. Also under construction and scheduled for completion in 1958 is a new unit of 160,000 kw in the Bremo Power Station near Charlottesville.

Another major item of construction is the ninety-three mile, 230,000 volt line connecting the Chesterfield Power Station with Vepco's Potomac River Power Station near Dumfries, Virginia, forming the first leg of a stronger backbone transmission system. This is an example of future planning so necessary in the utility business.

Will reported to the shareholders that the Virginia Electric and Power Company is keeping abreast of the developments in the peacetime application of atomic energy. One of its engineers has been selected for nuclear training at Argonne National Laboratories and a number of the staff have been granted security clearances to study confidential information on atomic developments. Vepco is a member of the Atomic Industrial Forum, an organization which collects and distributes to its members information on the industrial usage of atomic energy.

President Will accepted the Annual Meeting award of United Shareholders of America, Inc., from a representative of that organization. The award was presented by Miss Ruth Fischel, assistant to Benjamin A. Javits, president of United Shareholders.

It cited the utility company and its officers for "meritorious achievement" in the field of management-shareholders relationship. It was the second straight year that Vepco, owned by 32,000 shareholders, received the award.

The Company was honored for "encouraging participation in American corporate ownership so essential to strengthening the pillars of our constitutional form of government and upgrading our American way of life."

United Shareholders, Inc., is a unique organization of small investors formed to broaden the base of corporate and promote the interests of shareholders.

The shareholders at the Annual Meeting re-elected the existing board of fifteen directors as follows: Harry H. Augustus, Richmond, Virginia; Donald C. Barnes, Charlottesville, Virginia; Gardner L. Boothe, Alexandria, Virginia; J. C. Carpen'er, Jr., Clifton Forge, Virginia; Wm. M. Ferguson, Newport News, Virginia; John S. Jenkins, Jr., Norfolk, Virginia; Jay W. Johns, Charlottesville, Vir-

Although atomic energy has often been boosted as a rising rival to coal in production of electricity, experts believe that even by 1965 less than two per cent of total commercial power will be generated by the atom.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and fables... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

All there! Have some soup notes from Campbell's Kitchen and just had to share them with you.

Here's a new idea for serving soup that I think will interest you with its novelty, its ease of preparation and its downright goodness.

It's called Hot Buttered Soup, a little surprising to the ear, perhaps but a very delicious treat. Here's how you make it. Just mix your favorite soup, heat it as you ordinarily do, then pour it into mugs or soup cups. The extra flavor touch added just at the last minute is a pat of butter!

Well - I predict you'll like this one, and that you'll be serving hot buttered soup for all sorts of occasions, from breakfast to bedtime. As a breakfast beverage - food, it makes lots of sense - its nourishing, warming and quick to make. It's a nice change, too, from stereotyped early-morning fare. Serve it as a snack anytime of the day or as a soothing bedtime beverage.

Hot buttered soup is a festive drink, therefore it is ideal for a buffet dinner and a special dinner party. For a very sampling, yet easy-to-prepare snack, feature hot buttered consommé with Blue Cheese Dip. Apple slices and assorted crackers placed on platters, with wedges of Danish Blue Cheese and a bowl of assorted relishes complete the snack menu.

Surely it's a new treat! Hot Buttered Soup - try it soon.

This pat of buttered that you add gives you flavor, an extra surge of energy, and pride in this extra gourmet touch.

The whole family will enjoy it, guests will rave over it, neighbors will drop in for more, children will ask for it and party favors will want to make that "one for the road" HOT BUTTERED SOUP.

Some added garnishes would be cloves - whole ones for tomato soup - grated lemon rind for green pea soup - finely minced or shredded fresh vegetables for

Some special extras to serve with hot buttered soup are cheese sticks, Rye toast curls, crisp crackers and wedges of French bread for dunking.

Blue Cheese Dip
1/4 lb. soft butter
3 oz. package cream cheese
3 oz. wedge Danish Blue Cheese
2 lemons, chopped parsley
Just a dash of cayenne

Cream butter and cream cheese, add Danish Blue Cheese, blend until light and fluffy, add parsley and cayenne thoroughly blend and spoon into dish.

Oh! Yes - for a very "dressed-up" butter pat - shape butter into small balls and roll in finely chopped parsley - chives or grated cheese.

Here are some nice combinations for Hot Buttered Soup Mates. Tomato and consommé. Cream of chicken and cream of mushroom. Green pea and tomato. Cream of chicken and chicken with rice. Vegetarian vegetable and bouillon. Chicken with rice and tomato. Scotch broth and cream of mushroom. Black bean and tomato. Cream of asparagus and cream of celery. Vegetable and beef noodle. Onion and tomato. Chicken gumbo and cream of asparagus.

Heat and serve with a generous pat of butter floating on top. With the idea always in mind, "What can I serve to be different?" Here's a new party snack idea that sounds so good - as well as different. "Bite - size fritters". To make, use a popover mix - preparing as directed on the package, then stir in a small can deviled ham. Dip drained pineapple chunks, whole shrimp, large hunks of crab meat or bits of apple into batter - then drop at once into hot fat, let sizzle to golden brown - remove and drain on paper toweling. Delicious. Here's two suggestions for Sardine treats.

BROILED MAINE SARDINE CANAPES

Here's a good canape to prepare in a jiffy. Drain one can Maine sardines. Roll in 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese. Toast bread strips on one side and spread other side with prepared mustard. Place sardines on top and broil till light brown. Serve very hot. Serves 6.

MARINE SARDINE CONVERSATION PIECE

A delightful appetizer to hearty winter meals that will really make conversation is this Maine sardine Mystery Package: cut tops from peppers and fill with a stuffing of Maine sardines mashed with onion juice and mayonnaise. Cover with a swirl of melted American cheese and garnish with a sprinkle of paprika and sprig of parsley. Delectable - and decorative too! Bye - Now!

When children want to play by cutting many things, fasten a large paper bag to the side of a table with cellophane tape. As they cut, they can simply sweep things into the bag and keep their working surface clear. When cutting time is over, no clean-up is needed except to toss the bag with scraps into the waste basket.

If you have many newspapers and magazines in your home, buy a small size clothes dryer and set it up to hold both papers and magazines. Check through them once a week and discard what's been read.

Before doing any peeling or slicing, spread a paper towel on the working surface. When you're finished, simply wrap the parings and toss them away, leaving a clean surface without wiping. Chlorine bleach - in powdered form is easy to use. Add some water to it, place white materials in it for a few minutes to brighten them.

The first attempt to manufacture optical glass in the United States was in 1849 and it wasn't until 1885 that fine optical glass was made here in quantity. But today, the United States ranks at the top of the world in the manufacture of the finest optical and ophthalmic glass.

Death compensation and pension were paid to the dependents of 17,271 deceased veterans in the amount of $14,663,686.

Certain GI insurance and indemnity payments totaling $7,598, 638 were made to veterans or their beneficiaries in Virginia for the year.

An average of 451 disabled veterans of World War II and of the Korean conflict were trained during the year under the vocational rehabilitation act to overcome the handicaps of their disabilities. They received a total of $674,082 in subsistence, tuition, supplies and equipment.

Under the Korea GI Bill, an average of 5,766 veterans trained during the year and they received $3,180,385 in education and training allowance.

The remainder of the cash benefits and services distributed to veterans and their families of Virginia during the year totaled $20, 869,649. These cash benefits and services included hospitalization, VA explained that certain expenditures made during the year cannot be broken down on a State basis because of the nature of the benefits or services. These include certain GI insurance payments and certain administrative expenditures.

Scout News

On April 18, 1956 at 7 P. M. at Princess Anne High School, the Seaboard District held a Scouters' Appreciation dinner and awarded Training Certificates to approximately eighty cub scouts and about 30 boy scouts with basic training certificates.

Fred B. Cooke received the Scoutmaster's Key for 3 years of progressive and outstanding leadership in the Sea Explorer Program. Outside of being Explorer advisor, Mr. Cooke has been a Scoutmaster, Cubmaster, Neighborhood Commissioner and is Institutional Representative, Chairman of a Troop Committee and Assistant District Commissioner.

Mr. Tom Doyle, leadership Training Chairman presented the above awards. Mr. DeGoven King was a very able master of ceremonies and also entertained with his outstanding performance of magic. Mr. Ruben Trant, District Chairman was the speaker of the evening and gave a very interesting talk on the present and future plans of the Seaboard District. Also honored was Mr. Pete Babernits, District Scout Executive for becoming the father of a fine 8 1/4 pound baby girl named Mary. Mr. Kenneth Jard, Activities Chairman should be congratulated for providing us with a splendid evening.

"Anything Goes" Coming To Beach Theatre on May 2

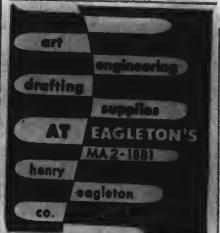

"Anything Goes," Paramount's giant new musical comedy, which has been playing to capacity audiences wherever shown and will open May 2 at the Beach Theatre, has been hailed as the season's most magnificently produced film, as well as the most thoroughly entertaining.

Starring Bing Crosby, Donald O'Connor, Jeanmarie, Mitzl Gaynor and Phil Harris, the Vista-Vision, Technicolor extravaganza has been said to combine sensational performances with a great Cole Porter-Sammy Cahn-Jimmy Van Heusen score, spectacular and elaborate dances, and lavish and colorful sets and costumes.

Beauty, Durability Are Essentials In Floor Coverings

The home owner in selecting the type, style and colors to blend are a very necessary feature to give much thought to in making the selection of flooring. A most important factor is the flooring's durability to insure economy.

J. C. Law & Son, established in 1922 and one of Tidewater's oldest flooring firms - offer a wide variety of flooring of all kinds and are equipped to fill the needs of the home owner or business firm in all phases of this work whether new installations, repairing or refinishing.

Among the recent installations viewed by the public were installation in Bathaven Home. The visitor will be impressed with the uniform beauty of the white oak floors and note how the floors of each room are the perfect start interior decorative planning. Credit for the uniform white oak floors in this group of homes is given by the flooring firm to the "Power-Valter," a recently developed machine that has been used but a few times in this area.

Originally made to perform faster and more even nailing of floors, it was discovered that the machine also made possible more uniform laying of floors which gives greater beauty.

The firm also installed Kenflex Vinyl Tile floors in the kitchen and Kenrubber floors and scion ceramic wall tiles in the bathroom. Buyers of The Bayhaven Homes have a choice of colors and patterns of the kitchen and Bathroom floors to complement the beauty of the oak floors in the other rooms. A spokesman for the firm stated that the Kenflex floors in these installations are so durable that they are guaranteed for

"as long as you live in your home." He also pointed out that the housewife would be especially pleased with these floors as they were "a breeze to keep clean". Each individual tile is rich, solid color, all through, right to the back, and an occasional once-over with a no-rub wax keeps them gleaming and new looking.

The J. C. Law & Son is located at 3515 Colley Ave., Norfolk, Va. They invite you to visit and inspect their display rooms and will be glad to give any assistance in selection and planning of the type of floor desired. Estimates will be furnished at no obligation. Should

Virginia's Hunting And Fishing Licenses Cheaper Than Most

In the sale of hunting licenses Virginia ranked 8th during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955. But it ranked 16th in the amount of revenue derived from the sale of hunting licenses.

In the sale of fishing licenses Virginia ranked 13th during the same period, and 24th in the amount of revenue derived from the sale of fishing licenses.

I. T. Quinn, executive director of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, pointed out that this means that in Virginia the prices of hunting and fishing licenses are generally below the price of similar licenses sold by other states.

More people named Jones own Chevrolets than any other car!

*Of course we haven't actually counted all the Joneses. But it seems a safe guess. Because this year—as they have year after year—more people are buying Chevrolets. And 2 million more people drive Chevrolets than any other car. Maybe you ought to come in and see why this is so.

FORT STORY NEWS

A truck company from Fort Eustis and four Fort Story units aided for operations in the Arctic this summer moved into the field at Story April 18, 19 and 20 to participate in an Army training test in preparation for their task in the Far North.

The five units will work at isolated ports in the Northwest Air Command during Operation SUNEAC (Support Units, Northeast Command).

Units coordinating in the test were the 17th Medium Truck Company from Fort Eustis and Story's 544th Base Platoon, 605th Amphibious Truck Company and the 189th and 565th Terminal Service Companies. The truck company moved cargo to units, which moved cargo from ship to shore over an unimproved beach.

Training tests are an annual requirement for every unit in the Army. The test conducted at Story differed from usual exercise in that several units with a common mission trained together to gain practice for coordinate operations in which they will be involved this summer.

In the field simultaneously with the SUNEAC-bound units was Headquarters Company, 5th Transportation Terminal Command "B," which was undergoing a routine training test.

Nine-year-old Melissa Damer, who is in the third grade at Ballentine School in Norfolk, recently wrote Col. George E. Woods, Jr., Fort Story post-commander:

"We would like to visit Fort Story May 19. We would appreciate it very much if you would give us permission to come."

A call to Melissa's teacher, Mrs. Kathleen Wickers, confirmed that the class wanted to see the Old Cape Henry Lighthouse and the Cape Henry Memorial Cross, both located within Fort Story's boundaries. Col. Woods replied, telling Melissa he would be "most happy" to have her class visit the post.

Melissa's letter was one of many received at the Cape Henry post in recent weeks. Already, upwards of 30 groups — elementary school classes, Cub Scouts, Brownies and garden clubs — have toured the post.

In addition, an estimated 1,000 persons attended the annual Easter sunrise service at the memorial cross. Coming up, April 29, is the annual Cape Henry Day Pilgrimage to the cross. The pilgrimage brought about 2,000 visitors to Story last year is expected to attract the same number this year.

Most of those who came to the small Army post at the tip of Cape Henry want to see the two landmarks — the cross and the lighthouse — which make Fort Story a historical site as well as a military reservation.

The old lighthouse was built in 1791. It was the first lighthouse constructed by the United States government.

English settlers who later established a permanent colony at Jamestown first landed in what is now the United States. The date was April 26, 1607.

Both historical sites are owned and supervised by the Society for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. But military personnel conduct the visits to them.

The influx of Spring traffic has been so great this year that post officials have been prompted to remind the public to request permission to visit at least a week before they wish to come to the post.

Surprise visits have been known to cause quite a bit of consternation. Recently, a teacher from a nearby school appeared at the gate with a large group of children and announced that they would like to see the lighthouse and the cross. The surprised guard asked if arrangements for the visit had been made with post headquarters.

"Oh, I didn't think that was necessary," the teacher replied. "This is to say the least, caused the guard to become somewhat concerned. He was forced to tell the group they wouldn't be able to visit that day."

"But it took three weeks for me to get permission from my school to make this visit," the teacher pleaded. A call to post headquarters sent a guide to the scene. The trip out underway with a request from the perplexed guard to "please let us know when you're coming next time."

Preparation are underway at Fort Story for the annual pilgrimage to the Cape Henry memorial cross, April 29.

The Story Officer's Club is readying for the event by making preparations for the subscription buffet luncheon which will precede the pilgrimage. Ham, turkey and shrimp salad with all the trimmings are being prepared for an expected 250 diners. The luncheon will be at 1 p.m.

Among the countless details which must be considered for the ceremony at the cross is the movement of four huge amphibious Bars from the scene. Bundles of pine needles which will be placed around the cross are now being gathered. Arrangements for seating 500 persons near the cross are being completed, and public address equipment is being readied.

The pilgrimage will take place at 3 p.m. Guest speaker will be Howard Fyle, former governor of Arizona and now deputy administrative assistant to President Eisenhower.

The Cape Henry Memorial Cross, which is within the boundaries of Fort Story, marks the spot where the Jamestown Colonists first landed in North America, April 26, 1607. The annual ceremony commemorates the event.

In case of rain, the service will be held in the nearby post theater.

Capt. John F. Myrdk, who was provost marshal, assistant provost marshal and post safety officer during an 18-month tour at Fort Story, will retire from active duty April 30 after nearly 28 years of service.

Captain Myrdk served overseas in Europe, Africa, Panama and Korea. He wears five battle stars for service in Europe in World War II and three stars from the Korean conflict.

Service in this country took the captain to Illinois, Michigan, Utah, Maine, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Washington, California, Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia.

Of all his assignments, the retiring officer picked one as advisor to a Republic of Korea Military Police Battalion and the I ROK Corps provost marshal as his most interesting.

"We couldn't speak Korean and they couldn't speak English," the captain said. "But," he added, "we managed to get along pretty well together."

A Fort Story officer recently returned from a temporary assignment at Fort Greely, Alaska, where he attended the Arctic Survival School.

Maj. Thomas S. Williamson, assistant S3 (plans and training) officer, described the course as "very interesting and worthwhile" and said it removed any doubts the student may have about being able to survive in the Arctic.

High spot of the course, the major said, was an eight-day bivouac, during which the class built shelters of snow and any thing else that was handy at the scene.

The class also visited Ladd and Ellison Air Force Bases at Fairbanks, the Fairbanks Chamber of Commerce and the University of Alaska.

Another feature of the Alaskan assignment was a demonstration of special Arctic equipment for the group.

The Red Cross will make a special one-day visit to Fort Story April 27. The mobile unit is making the visit as part of a Red Cross drive to obtain certain types of blood which are still in short supply.

Six Story officers are sporting newly acquired first lieutenants bars. The recent promotions went to Charles R. Kendi, 10th Transportation Battalion maintenance officer, Hubert E. Lott, assistant information and education officer, Garland P. Moore, 612 Transportation Company platoon leader, Carl P. Buniva, post athletic and recreation officer, Philip J. Moran, post utilities maintenance officer, and William R. Hill, post public information officer.

A small but important segment of a 3,300-man Army Transportation Corps force slated for operations in the Arctic this summer has begun training at Fort Story.

The group numbers only 211 officers and enlisted men, but from it will come the personnel who will operate and maintain all the amphibious vehicles involved in resupplying isolated radar stations along the "DEW" (Distant Early Warning) Line. The string of radar sites near the Arctic Circle is a joint Canadian-U.S. project designed to provide early warning for the North American continent in case of an enemy air attack over the top of the world.

Most of the training for the resupply job is being conducted at Fort Eustis. Some units at both Eustis and Story are working 24 hours a day. Others are operating both day and night, but not on a 24-hour basis.

While troops at Story are learning amphibious vehicle techniques with DUKW amphibious trucks and LVTs (Landing Vehicle, Tracked), those at Eustis are being trained in the operation of a variety of landing craft. The craft include LCMs (Landing Craft, Mechanized) and the larger LCU (Landing Craft, Utility).

Before twin task forces depart for the Arctic in July, troops trained at Story will be organized into teams of LVT and DUKW operators and mechanics. These teams will be attached to terminal service steredore companies at Fort Eustis to form special Arctic operating units.

The Transportation Corps force will attack the "DEW Line" from both ends. An eastern task force will leave Fort Eustis late in July, headed for the Atlantic Ocean side of the project. At about the same time, another task force will leave Seattle Army Terminal, Seattle, Washington, to work on the western end.

Upon arriving at the remote radar sites, the operating groups will have only a few weeks during August and September to get a little less than 200,000 tons of cargo ashore. When ships of the Navy's Military Sea Transport Service move men and equipment into the open sea late in September, the Arctic winter will be at hand. All troops participating in the operation are expected to return to the U.S. by early October.

The first resupply trip to the "DEW Line" was made last year. Hazardous conditions encountered then, when some 200,000 tons of cargo was moved ashore, will almost certainly threaten operations this year. Icebergs, pack and floe ice, which made the armored LVT useful, are ever-present. Dense fogs and Arctic cyclones are numerous during the Arctic summer.

Beaches range from soggy flats to narrow slits in rocky cliffs. The wheeled DUKW must be used at some sites to get to shore over shoals and sandbars.

Personnel from several branches of the Army performed the resupply task last year. This year, all troops involved will be from the Transportation Corps. They will be organized into two newly formed battalions at Fort Eustis.

Training for another, older, northern resupply operation is being conducted simultaneously with that for the "DEW Line" project. This one is called "SUNEAC" (Support Units, Northeast Command). The Transportation Corps has been participating in it since 1952, to radar stations and Air Force moving supplies and equipment Bases in the Northeast Air Command. This year, 1,378 men from Fort Eustis and 432 from Fort Story are preparing for the mission, which calls for operating units to work at Goose Bay, Labrador, Frobisher Bay, Canada, and Sondersrom, Greenland. The TC's four 98 and one-half-ton wheeled amphibious Bars, based at Fort Story, will be used to haul heavy equipment and general cargo during the operation.

Your bank will order Series H Savings bonds for you, if you want current income on a completely safe investment. They sell for $500, $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000, are redeemable at par after six months on one month's notice, and pay interest twice a year for nine years and eight months.

CONSCIENCE

Running into the house where his mother was working the little fellow cried, "Mother, I want to cast a stone to kill a little frog and something told me not to throw the stone. What was it?" The mother put her arms around the little fellow and said, "Son, some men call it conscience, but I prefer to call it God."

The time had come to advise the child further and so she urged him to guard his life, keep it pure, and thus he would always be able to hear that little voice and it would guide him straight. He was encouraged to listen for that inner voice in order that he might hear it. Other voices would be calling for attention and some times they would not be easy to distinguish but patience on his part would lead to the right one.

The evil one has access to the situations in life and he can make a good case for himself out of man's need and his desire for self advancement. The conscience can be educated to become his tool. How can we distinguish between the voice of God and the voice of the evil one whispering in our ears? We can certainly measure the problem in terms of selfishness. Removing ourselves from the picture will clarify the issue. Is someone else helped by the decision? That plays a part in the answer. Coming in humble faith in prayer and being patient to wait for the answer will help the individual to be more sure of the right decision.

George E. Fee, Jr. Elected President Student Council

George E. Fee, Jr., a junior in the College of Liberal Arts at Tufts University, has been elected president of the Tufts Student Council.

Mr. Fee, son of Capt. and Mrs. G. E. Fee of 219 2nd St., Virginia Beach, has been a member of all of the class honorary societies at Tufts as well as co-captain of the freshman wrestling team, president of the sophomore class and treasurer of the Tufts Student Council. In addition to the Council, he will also be chairman of the Judiciary committee. He holds at Tufts scholarship, a Snyder Foundation Scholarship and a Travell Scholarship.

The pedestrian record reflected the 5th consecutive year of improvement for motor vehicle accidents in 1955.

Sanctuary

The sun makes golden patterns across the tiled floor, and there seems something ageless and of wondrous beauty in the vaulted arches of solid stone. Here there is sanctuary, freedom, at least temporarily, from the worries of the outer world.

In every great life, there have been times of reflection and meditation. There have been moments of solitude to renew a flagging spirit with the infinite power of God, to find an inner peace which comes from another world.

In every life, there are times when sanctuary is needed. There are moments when the quiet witness of the Holy House is more eloquent than all the words in the world.

Often a step into the shadowed quiet of a church brings a resurgence of faith and courage that sets life on a new and greater course. This is the miracle of sanctuary—a miracle that can happen to YOU!

Notes from YOUR COUNTY AGENTBY E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.
PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENTMarketing Research can Help Solve Current Farm Problems

Research in marketing, particularly as it relates to expansion of sales, can help solve many farm problems.

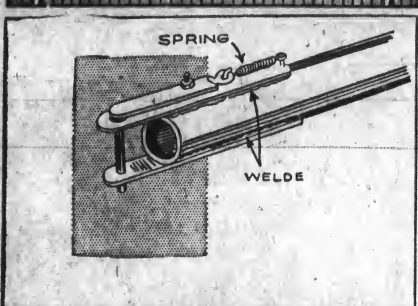

Sales expansion is especially important with current agricultural surpluses.

However, finding ways to increase sales is only one-half the job to be done if sales are actually to be increased. New methods and techniques discovered by market researchers must be sold to the trade. "This is not an easy job because of many reasons."

We have some concrete examples to back our claims that a few tricks of the trade, some of them doubtless undiscovered as yet, will help in the face of mounting production and decreasing or status quo demand.

We cite a demonstration conducted by Cornell University in which apple sales were 43% greater in five test stores where improved display and consumer packaging were used than in five stores which sold apples in the usual manner. The 10 stores had been matched on basis of apple and produce sales. Before the demonstration, officials of the chain were reluctant to go along with the project.

In other study conducted in Virginia and North Carolina, it was found that apple sales were 38 to 40% greater if priced in three-

FENCE LINES

SAFETY LOCK... Clevis pin won't work out, even under heavy load when spring toggle is used as shown. Bolt welded to top clevis bar serves as pivot for toggle, which is short length of flat iron drilled near the end to fit over the bolt loosely. Metal eye is welded to toggle, hook-shaped lug is welded to drawbar.

to four-pound units of 40c to 50c than where they were priced in two-pound units of 20c and 30c. Still another series of tests were conducted in Virginia to determine the relative effectiveness of various advertising and display aids used, independently or in conjunction with each other in promoting apple sales. It is found that none of the promotional devices tested had an appreciable effect on sales when used alone, but when used in conjunction with each other they increased sales from 40 to 50% over those when no advertising or promotion was used.

There are many research findings with a potential of expanding sales of agricultural products to a similar extent. It may be urged that these sales increases are only of a short-term nature. Perhaps, so, the marketing specialist says. "However, our marketing research is also continuous in recording and measuring changes (in consumer taste), and we must do a good selling job of results if they are to be properly used."

Farm Real Estate Values Continue Moderate Rise

Farm real estate values in Virginia continued to rise during the latter part of 1955, according to a report issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

During the four-month period from July 1 to November 1, farm real estate values increased from 2 to 4% in 31 states and remained essentially unchanged in 16 states. In Virginia the increase was 4%.

Continued business prosperity and strong demand by farmers for additional land to enlarge their farms have helped to offset expected effects on land values of lower prices for farm commodities according to USDA report.

Many farmers and non-farmers continue to view farmland as a safe and desirable investment despite current lower returns. Present owners apparently share this view because the number of farms for sale continued at a low level.

Radio or TV Interference May Come From Electric Fence

Some owners of electric fences are in the broadcasting business.

Their programs are limited to buzz, crackles, and static. If you are bothered by these types of noises on your radio or TV set for no known reason, check your community for a defective electric fence.

Electric fences have a place on many farms, but if they are operating improperly or happen to be one of the homemade type, they may be both dangerous to humans and livestock and annoying to radio and television reception.

Here are some of the causes of radio and TV interference by electric fences:

1. Improperly installed wire from the controller to the fence circuit.
2. A loose gate connection or wire splice which causes arcing due to the small area of contact and movement at the point of joining.
3. Poorly made connections anywhere.
4. Copper and aluminum wire used in the same fence. They are practically impossible to join by twisted joints without causing arcing when air and moisture can reach the point of union. Therefore, use fence wire of only one kind and either solder your splice or use a proper type splice connector.

Another important feature of electric fences is to have them properly grounded at the controller. The easiest way to do this is to drive an 8-foot pipe into moist earth and attach the ground connection of the fence controller to the pipe with a No. 12 or larger ground pipe.

If you have radio or TV interference, disconnect your fence and ask your neighbors who have one to do likewise. If the annoying static disappears, the trouble is in one of the fences. Then test them individually until the faulty fence is located.

If you are unable to track down the trouble in a faulty fence, call your power supplier or an electrical contractor.

Awards Offered 4-H'ers Who Improve Health

"Improving Family and Community Living," the 1956 4-H theme, is being put into action by 750,000 club members taking part in the national 4-H health program.

State 4-H officials at VPI, who conduct the program in Virginia through county extension agents, say members are improving individual, family, and community health.

Although the health project in Virginia is relatively new, 16,000 members received training last year in health, nursing, and first aid. In the project Rubenett Miller, Bedford, was the 1955 state winner. Bent Mountain 4-H club in Roanoke county, and Baywood club in Grayson county, were recognized for outstanding health programs on a club basis.

This year, four winners in each participating county will receive medals; the state winner will receive a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago; and six national winners will receive $300 college scholarships.

A new donor of awards in the 4-H programs, Ell Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, Ind., is sponsor for the health program this year.

Certificates will be presented to each of two local clubs in a county conducting a health program worthy of a blue award rating. A maximum of 10 certificates are provided for the clubs reporting the most outstanding programs in the state.

Health activities carried on by 4-H'ers include physical and dental check-ups; studies of home and community health and sanitation needs; practice of basic first-aid and emergency procedures; proper health habits; and participating in community health programs.

More than 700,000 persons were injured in weekend traffic accidents last year.

Pvt. Wesley Stallings Receiving Training At Camp Carson

Pvt. Wesley R. Stallings, Jr., whose parents live on Route 1, Bayside, Va., is receiving basic combat training with the 8th Infantry Division at Fort Carson, Colo.

Stallings is training with Tank Company of the division's 81st Regiment. The 8th is preparing for its move to Europe next fall as part of Operation Gyroscope. Stallings entered the Army last February. He is a 1955 graduate of St. Joseph High School.

Approximately 15,730 persons were killed in weekend traffic accidents last year.
